

Women Battle It Out

In the only football game of last week Jones III blanked Jones I & Day 24-0. Jones III came up with a strong offensive to score a record number of points and touchdowns in the newly formed Football League. Janice Degelman and Cathy O'Brien scored two touchdowns each and were the outstanding players of the game. Jessica Newman was the outstanding player for the losing team.

Neither team scored in the first quarter, but in the second Cathy O'Brien intercepted a pass by Pat Storrs and raced 40 yards for a touchdown. Late in the first half Cathy O'Brien intercepted another pass by Pat Storrs on the 30 yard line of Jones I. On the very next play, Janice Degelman ran for a 20 yard touchdown, making the score 12-0.

Early in the third quarter O'Brien received the ball on a hand-off from Carol Butler at mid-field and raced for a long 40 yard touchdown. Jones I & Day also threatened to score in the third quarter. Starting on their own 20 yard line, Jones I picked up 18 yards on a tremendous run by Nancy Robinson; and on the next play Jessica Newman ran for 15 yards and a first down. Lou Christley caught a pass for a ten yard gain, and the running of Nancy Robinson and Jessica Newman brought the ball to the 5 yard line. Judy Sigmon, on a fine defensive play, stopped Jessica Newman on the 3 yard line. Finally, in the last quarter, Jones III went in for another score. Janice Degelman took a hand-off from Carol Butler and with her tremendous speed outraced all the defensive players for a 30 yard touchdown. Not counting short rushing gains, Janice Degelman gained 102 yards on rushing on 6 carries and completed 2 out of 4 passes. Cathy O'Brien intercepted two passes, caught a pass for a ten yard gain, and scored two times on 40 yard runs.

The Football League championship is still up for grabs. Jones III, as well as Jones II, could win first place on a victory on the condition that Jones I & Day upset Jones Basement & Ross.

We invited and urged the Day Students to participate in the intramural program. One chief reason for the big loss last Friday to Jones III was because only 7 players showed up for the game, and were handicapped by playing against 9 players. Only one Day Student showed up, and the intramural program is set up for Day Students as well as Campus Students. We also encouraged more participation from sophomores on the first floor in the intramural program.

After all, we hope the intramural program for girls doesn't turn out to be a flop before it really gets off the ground. If you don't know how to play football go on out anyway, just for fun or to help your teammates out; and you will learn the game fast while participating.

Jones III assured itself at least second place in the football league by trouncing Jones II 18-6 this past Monday. It could also claim the league title should Jones I & Day defeat

Jones Basement & Ross Friday. Jones III scored all of its points in the second half.

Minutes after Jones III received the kickoff they scored their first TD. On the second play from scrimmage, Janice Degelman ran for 50 yards inside the opponents 10 yard line. On the next play Carol Butler raced into the end zone for the first score. Jones III did not permit the Jones II team to settle down and pressed constantly on defense. As a result of the aggressive defensive tactics Gilda Codispoli intercepted a pass by Sheri Mulligan on the 35 yard line of Jones II. On a beautifully executed reverse play, Carol Butler received a hand-off from Janice Degelman and ran the 35 yards for a touchdown.

Near the end of the second quarter, Cathy O'Brien received the ball from Carol Butler and raced for a 60 yard touchdown, tying the record held by Rosey Williams from Ross Hall for the longest touchdown run. In the second half Jones II came to life. The running of Louise Causey, Wanda James, Linda Haynie and Sheri Mulligan brought the ball to the 10 yard line. Wanda James then went into the end-zone for Jones II's only TD.

Jones III had its back against the wall again in the last quarter. Louise Causey ran for 15 yards across mid-field to the 40 yard line and first down. Sheri Mulligan then gained 20 yards, followed by a run of 10 yards by Wanda James. Judy Sigmon of Jones III made a fine defensive play by stopping speedy Louise Causey several yards behind the line of scrimmage. On the last down Wanda James picked up only 5 yards and was stopped by Janice Degelman.

The outstanding player of the game was Carol Butler, the speedy little quarterback of Jones III, who scored two touchdowns. Her teammates Cathy O'Brien and Janice Degelman also played excellently on offense. Wanda James and Louise Causey ran well for the losers.

Water Is Topic For Seminar

Water was the topic of the first panel-type Science Seminar. Students representing the biology, chemistry, physics, and math departments spoke on different aspects of water.

Students representing Dr. Jeffrey's and Mrs. Alexander's biology classes spoke on the topic "Reduction of Transpiration in Plants."

"Contents of Sea Water" and "De-Salination of Sea Water" were the topics of the chemistry department.

The physics department spoke of the physical properties of water. The math department took the topic "Quantitative View of Water."

Monday, October 22, there will be a speaker from Oak Ridge Laboratories to speak about the effects of nuclear radiation.

Virginian Is Chosen Student Of The Week

The phenomenon from Virginia, Robbie La Verne Crouch, is the sophomore SGA Representative, Secretary Treasurer of Women's House Council, a member of the Euterps, a Big Sister, a member of the Perletole staff, and Intramural Manager of the WAA. Besides all this, she also has a work grant in the English Department. Needless to say, she has very little free time.

Robbie's pride and joy is her accent, which she wouldn't lose for the world. In fact, one of her favorite pastimes is shouting the praises of "God's Country." (Known to mortals as Virginia.) She still claims Lynchburg, Virginia, as her home town, although her family recently moved to Washington.

Robbie likes a great many things, including boys. What qualities does she like in a boy? Well, first and foremost, he has to be able to dance, because she adores all kinds of popular music! Secondly, he should be friendly and courteous. Good looks are fine, but not imperative. It would help if he were tall (but then, short boys are nice too . . .).

Among Robbie's other pastimes are riding in cars, sleeping late, and fixing her hair (25 minutes every morning!). She hates to stay inside, likes to be doing something every minute. She used to like to eat, but not any more ("I'll die if I gain a pound.")

Robbie plans to be a high school teacher, probably in the field of history. After Brevard, she wants to go either to William and Mary or to Madison, an all-girls school (?) in Harrisburg, Virginia. She is a serious student, but finds it impossible to study in a cluttered place. Whenever she studies, there must be absolute quiet. Her study hours are enlivened by the fact that she talks to herself while working math problems, and shouts with joy when she works one. She usually chooses to do her math around midnight, a fact which endears her to her neighbors.

She likes to have fun — to joke around, but Robbie also has her serious side. She likes to make other people feel good, to help them with their problems. Robbie Crouch is "everybody's friend."

Euterps Hold Induction

The Euterpian Society held its formal induction November 1, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the student lounge. The tables were decorated in the Euterpian colors of red and white with red and white candles. The speakers' table was decorated with a floral arrangement.

Dinner was served buffet style by candle light. After dinner an inspiring devotion was given by Mary Helen Clement and a poem, "Climb Until Your Dreams Come True," was read by Lynn Gold. At this time, the sophomore Euterpian members were introduced and recognized by Janet Seigler. Red roses, the flower of the Euterpian society, were presented to Mrs. Thelma Young and Mrs. Geraldine Keaton by Dianne Ross, vice-president.

The formal induction began when Kathy Washam, secretary, called each girl forward to receive the Euterpian booklet and flower. Each girl carried a white candle, which was then lit by Louise Causey, president, signifying that the girl was now formally inducted. After the candles were lit, the newly inducted members recited the Euterpian creed and the meeting was adjourned.

Kennedy Movie To Be Shown

At 6:30 Friday night in the Dunham Music Auditorium, the film North Carolina's Tribute to President John F. Kennedy will be shown sponsored by the History Department.

This film records the special ceremonies of May 17, 1964, at Kenan Stadium, University of North Carolina, in which the Old North State paid tribute to President John F. Kennedy. Thousands of Tar Heels turned out for the memorial program. Their gate receipts largely achieved the $230,000 goal embodying the contribution of the State toward the Kennedy Library national objective of $10,000,000. The film features an address by Dr. Billy Graham. Other participants: Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's mother; Senator Edward Kennedy, his brother; Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges; Governor Terry Sanford, chairman of the tribute; Hugh Morton, treasurer; and television's Arthur Smith, master of ceremonies. A copy of this color motion picture has been presented to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, the President's wife.

ROBBIE CROUCH, Virginia - sent prophet to Brevard, is cornered in the Book Nook. It took the photographer two weeks to trap her.
