

Basement Gets Spring Coat

What's new in the basement of the classroom building? A new coat of paint — pastel green — on the walls of the Day Student lounge.

After a little scraping and pulling, the dreary gray paint, most of which was already off, left the wall to make way for the spring-time fresh grassy green.

The only disagreements among the occupants of the room are over the fruity colors of the curtains — olive or tangerines — and the card games to be played.

The "gamblers" invite everyone down to their "home-away-from-home" to play cards and have a coke, as soon as the machine comes.

McLarty's Welcome

In the 1965 Pertelote one can read of the President: "To the graduate he is a never-to-be-forgotten inspiration; to the returning student he is a familiar face with a cheerful greeting; to the new student he is an immediate friend with an amiable smile and a warm sense of humor."

The students at Brevard are fortunate in that each one of them has the opportunity to meet informally with the president of the college, Dr. Emmett K. McLarty, Jr., and his gracious wife. For the last two years freshmen and new students have been invited in small groups to the McLarty home for coffee, tea, or a buffet. The hospitality at the social gatherings, evidence of their interest and concern for the students as individuals, is more than a tribute to the hosts. It is also a tribute to

'Sharks' Enjoy New Tables

An air of silence, contemplation, concentration hangs over the table. The conference table? No, the new pool table in the Student Lounge. It was installed nearly two weeks ago under the sponsorship of the Student Government Association. The profits will go into S.A.G.'s treasury and at the present time the juke box seems to be falling behind in the race for the coins of the students.

A pool table has also been placed in the basement of Green Hall. The profits will also go into the treasury of the dormitory.

Jones Hall has a pool table on order by decree of the Women's House Council. It will be situated in the basement of Jones and profits will go into the dormitory fund.

'Hustler' Coming

THE HUSTLER, starring Paul Newman, Jackie Gleason, Piper Laurie, and George C. Scott, will be shown on February 26.

It is the bitter story of pool sharks and the gamblers who live off of them. Eddie Felson (Paul Newman) deliberately loses at pool until the stakes are high enough. He wins the money but loses his self respect. Jackie Gleason's portrayal of the champ in two exciting battles of skill and nerve is superb.

The movie begins at 7:30 p. m. and lasts for two hours and fifteen minutes.

"HE GOOFED"—There are no sharks like the guys waiting for the table. Dave Bradfield and Bill Patton carry on a running commentary about the skills of the players, much to the annoyance of same. But when the watchers become the players, the players will get their revenge.

Competition?

A house that stands on rock or sand will it crumble when the wind of competition blows hard against it?

On the third floor bulletin board, prepared by Kathy Kanipe, Joyce Parrish, and Mary Rickards of the Secretarial

Practice class, the rock and sand of the business and secretarial world are pictorially demonstrated. If one builds his work on rudeness and disloyalty and lack of effort, the first gust of competition will blow it over while that built on tact and loyalty and effort will, like the brick house built by the story-book pig, last against anything.

These girls, with their unusual bulletin board, ask the question to every student at Brevard College — "Will my work stand up under competition?"

Brevard College.

Students will be invited to about six or eight such events this year, and are sincerely urged to respond enthusiastically in accepting their invitation. Here Southern hospitality is at its best.
