

"I saw the best minds of my generation destroyed by madness"

The Clarion

Welcome back,
Sophomores!
(Thanks, Ginsburg)

Volume XXXIV

BREVARD COLLEGE, BREVARD, N. C., OCTOBER 7, 1966

NUMBER 2

Where Is The Missing One?

Almost 600

There was a deafening, continuous roar Tuesday, October 27, as the sophomores returned to the campus in the highlands. Faded curtains, broken lamps and wrapped bulletin boards were slowly carried back into the dorms for their second year of college life.

The reunion ended early Wednesday morning, and the hectic business of registration began. Freshmen started the tedious task at 8:00, and many remained late in the day still writing their almost forgotten name over and over. Sophomores entered the Dunham Music Center at 1:00 and immediately lost their confidence at finding at least a third of the underclassmen still busy and most of the choice classes filled. As the faculty registered the 599 enrolled students, they grew increasingly weary, and by 3:30 were so numb they were unable to leave their seats for a cup of coffee.

By 5:00 the seemingly endless day was finished, and so was everyone who had taken part in it.

The sentiments of the freshman class were stated by one tired girl as she left the Music Center Building. "It's over. But a sophomore smiled and set her straight by replying, "No, it's only started."

Administration Greets Freshmen

The first formal reception of the new students here at Brevard College was given by President and Mrs. Emmett K. McLarty last Friday night in the Beam Administration Building.

The Dean of Students, Mr. Eston Roberts, and Mrs. Roberts, and the Dean of Women, Miss Willoughby Jarrell, were with the President and Mrs. McLarty to greet the new students.

The reception gave the students a chance to meet the new Dean of Men and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lawing; and also the opportunity to talk with faculty members and staff.

Buy A Painting

Mr. Bunker, who gave a lecture on colors at Brevard last year, and Mr. Cook of Asheville-Biltmore College are to sponsor an art exhibit here October 9, featuring pottery and paintings.

A reception for the two professors will be held Sunday, October 16, from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m., in the Music Building Lounge.

At the same time, Mr. Tim Murray, art professor at Brevard, will have an exhibit of prints and paintings in the figurative vein at Asheville-Biltmore. This exhibit will later be brought to Brevard.

MARCH OF THE FREAK GROPPERS — Lost lonely, confused, harried, whipped, nervous and near tears, students que up to finalize their registration.

(Otterness Photo)

Churches Entertain Students

On Sunday, October 2, all Brevard College students were invited to a supper at their respective churches.

The Canterbury Club, headed by Ann Hamerschleg, held its supper at the home of Mr. Harrison Tawney. The group had an informal meal, within a meeting afterwards. Dean Jarrell played the dulcimer and sang native folk songs.

A complete meal of fried chicken with all the trimmings was served to the Methodist students. After the meal, student talent (4 guitars and 1 banjo) led the group in the singing of popular folksongs.

The Westminster Fellowship, Presbyterian college students, had "sloppy Joes" for supper, served with the aid of the Senior Youth Fellowship. The students were welcomed by The Rev. Dan McCall and Mrs. Grace Munro, their sponsor. Then the entire group sang several of the favorite songs and ballads, led by Mr. Tom Munro and Meridel Ryan.

The Baptist Student Union had pork chops for their supper. Mr. Ray Childers led the meeting which was held later.

Hardesty Leaves BC

Brevard College regrets the loss of its Director of Admissions to Western Carolina College at Cullowhee. Mr. W. Glenn Hardesty has accepted the task of Financial Aid Officer at Cullowhee for the coming academic year. Mr. Hardesty was Director of Admissions at Brevard for nine years. The task of finding his replacement will be a difficult one. Mr. Hardesty, along with his charming wife and

—Turn to Page Three

Shorthand Lab Is First Used In WNC Area

Brevard College is once again leading this area in educational firsts.

The Lanier Learning Laboratory, supplementary equipment for teaching shorthand, has recently been installed in the business department of Brevard College by Mr. William Harrison, General Sales Manager of the Educational Division of the Lanier Company. This lab, made possible by the Vocational Act of 1963 in which federal funds were made available to the business educational classrooms, will increase the individual help each student can receive and will allow each to go at his own speed.

The lab, which was constructed following the suggestions made by various teachers in the vocational technical schools of Georgia, is not a "teaching machine" but merely helps the teacher by providing separate programs for the students.

According to Mrs. Munro, the head of the business department, "Allowing students to go at their own pace should help shorthand become a more profitable course. This individual assistance is the primary reason for obtaining the new lab."

Teachers Honored

The formal convocation of Brevard College took place Thursday, September 28, at 7:30 P.M., in the Dunham Music Auditorium with Chaplain Roy presiding.

The Academic Procession started the ceremonies accompanied by Jeremiah Clarke's "Trumpet Voluntary" played by Mr. Larry Whatley.

Rev. Louis Miles gave the Invocation, followed by Dvorak's "If God Be With Us, Who Can Be Against Us" sung by soprano, Mrs. Marion Whatley.

After a brief introduction of new faculty members by Dean J. Braxton Harris, Mr. Miles presented the speaker, President Emmett K. McLarty, Jr. Dr. McLarty spoke about the College and the students purpose, and their relationship to one another, an inspiring address for the student body.

The faculty joined the students in singing the Brevard College Hymn, "Immortal, Invisible," after which the Benediction was given by Chaplain Roy.

—Turn to Page Three

Varied Activities Begin New Year

Freshmen of Brevard College arrived on Sunday, September 25, 1966, to find a week of activities planned for them.

The Faculty - Student Workshop beginning on September 21, consisted of faculty meetings, committees, and student meetings to plan for the school year and the incoming freshmen. The Rev. Henry Justice led the teachers and student leaders in the devotional moments of this period.

Dr. E. K. McLarty's welcoming speech for the freshmen at the Brevard Methodist Church on September 25 officially began the 1966-67 academic year. Dr. McLarty spoke on "Breaking Home Ties," learning to deal with the past while still going forward. He told the freshmen they would face a real crisis in

—Turn to Page Four

The Clarion Staff wishes to extend its sympathy to Miss Tillotson in the loss of her father.