

To Those Who Feel, Life Is A Tragedy

The Clarion

But For Those Who Think,
It Is A Comedy

Volume XXXIV

BREVARD COLLEGE, BREVARD, N. C., OCTOBER 21, 1966

Number 4

Brevard And A. B. Exchange Cultural Exhibits

Brevard Music Department Under Consideration, NASM

The Brevard College Music Department is currently under consideration for admittance into The National Association for Schools of Music. The NASM is the only accrediting agency for music schools in the U. S.

To be an accredited member, a music school must meet several requirements as prescribed by the NASM. The purpose of the music department must be shown to comply with the regulations of the association. The NASM is especially interested in the quality of music education and the permanence of the music department at the junior college level. The administration of the program and the effect of its teachings must be in accordance with the over all music program. The quality of the department should be high so the student can transfer to a senior college without difficulty.

The NASM is not only interested in accreditation of schools, but also in uplifting and improving the quality of schools who become members.

The benefits of accreditation are important to both the student and the college. Accreditation means a higher standing and prestige for the school. It is also an insurance to the student of receiving a quality education in music.

During October 18 and 19, Mr.

NO ODES on these urns — part of the art exchange program between faculty members of Brevard and Asheville - Biltmore, they are for sale. (Otterness Photo)

Eugene Bonelli of the NASM visited the Music Department of Brevard College in order to evaluate it in accordance with the standards of the NASM.

After Mr. Bonelli rates the music department, the association will decide by his report if Brevard is qualified for membership. The decision should be known by the end of November.

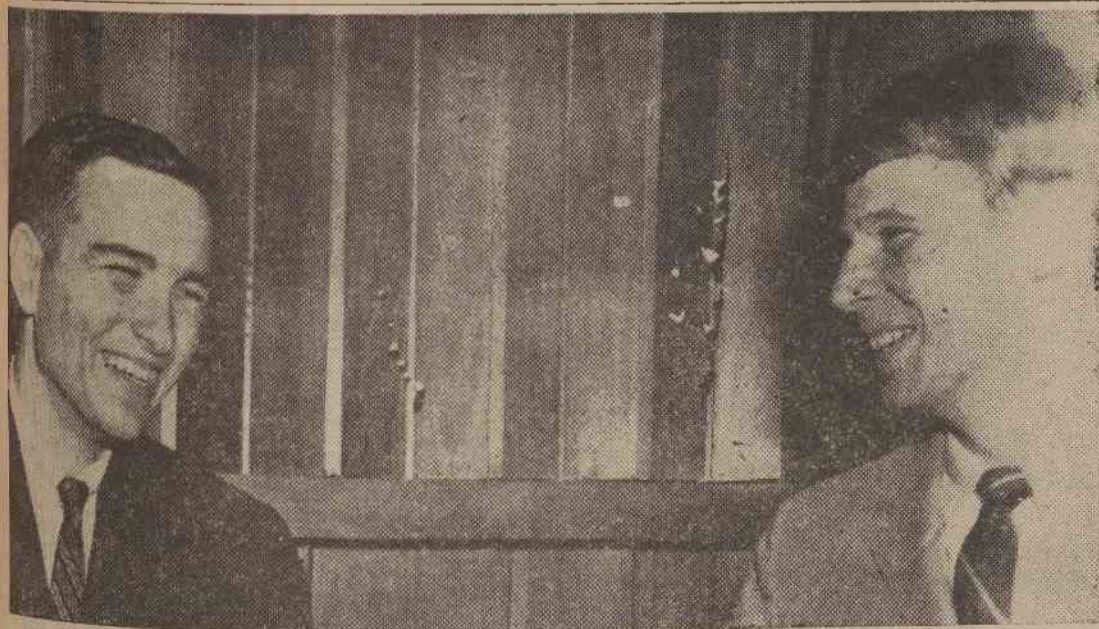

Spanish American Club Offers Goal To Students

The Spanish American Club held their first meeting last Monday night. The meeting was opened by acting president Marshall Trammell. Marshall then turned the meeting over to Mr. Perez, co-sponsor, who expounded on the purpose and goals of the club.

The purpose of the club, stated Mrs. Perez, is to offer motivation to Spanish students and to supplement their classroom studies. Cynthia Senn then gave a speech prepared by Mrs. Perez, co-sponsor, entitled "Every Man a Prince" which portrayed the dignity of all Spanish speaking peoples.

So members of the club may get to know one another, the election of officers will not be held until the latter part of —Turn to Page Four

BARRY WHEELER

SAMMY ROBINSON

A NEW BODY of officers were elected to represent the students in various aspects of the college government. These new officers are Barry Wheeler, President of the sophomore class; John Woodson, Vice-President of the sophomore class; Linda Jones, Secretary-Treasurer of the sophomore class; Jim

Craver, sophomore SGA representative; Sammy Robinson, President of the freshman class; Rex Taylor, Vice-President of the freshman class; Kay Welsh, Secretary-Treasurer of the freshman class; and Steve Hall, freshman SGA representative. (Otterness Photo)

Cooke And Bunker Exhibit Work At B.C.

A representation of art work done by Mr. S. Tucker Cooke and a display of ceramics by Gene Bunker is presently being displayed in the Dunham Music Building.

All of Mr. Cooke's art is figurative, done with several different styles, from crayon to oils, on various surfaces. Most of his colors are muted, dominated by grays and blues. Mr. Cooke sets a distinctly different and unique mood with each work of art.

He makes extensive use of the texture of his medium, building up the surface of the canvas to almost relief proportions.

He is a recent graduate of the University of Georgia and his works have just been completed.

Mr. Bunker's works of art are ceramics except for one piece of porcelain. His works have an oriental air radiating from their smooth, shining surfaces. Mr. Bunker uses browns, blues, grays, greens, and reds to create the colors used for the bigger part of his collection. The entire collection was completed in two weeks.

The display is on a trade basis with Asheville - Biltmore College, where both Mr. Bunker and Mr. Cooke teach.

At present Mr. Murray of Brevard has on display his collection of art work at Asheville Biltmore. Mr. Murray's display will be brought back to Brevard for our own enjoyment when the present display here is taken back.

Both collections are for sale and will be on display for a month.

"The works are for the enjoyment of the students, and it is hoped they are given the appreciation they deserve." Mr. Murray says they are a good "example of what the students could expect from themselves."

Mineral Collection Donated To Brevard Area By Chelfs

On the ground floor of the Science Building is one of the most extensive mineral collections in North Carolina. In four display cases, the collection comprises many separate pieces from 31 countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Chelf, formerly of Peoria, Illinois, donated the collection to the people of the Brevard area.

Each stone in the collection was included because of its perfection as a representative of its type. To emphasize certain characteristics, some of the stones have been cut and polished. Most, however, are left in their natural state.

Notable in the collection are the "Growing Crystals," that have attached themselves to another rock formation. Several "perfect" or unbroken, crystal formations are included. Crystal formations always form —Turn to Page Four

The CLARION staff wishes to extend its sympathy to Debby Peterson on the death of her grandmother and Wendy Sheridan on the death of her grandfather.