

The Clarion

but I will defend to the death
your right to say it.
—Voltaire

BREVARD COLLEGE, BREVARD, N. C., JANUARY 20, 1967

Number 13

Volume XXXIV

Lyceum Features Nelson And Neal

S. Gossett Wins B. C. Best Dressed

Sheila Gossett was selected by the student body to represent B. C. in the national contest with Glamour magazine. She was announced at half-time in the Brevard - Furman Freshman game as one of the five finalists. The others were Susan Collins, Pat McCorkle, Patti Page, and Diane Ritchie. Jenny Munro, editor of the CLARION, introduced Sheila as the Best Dressed girl on the B. C. campus at the half-time of Brevard - North Greenville game. Surrounded by friends hugging her, Sheila left her seat to receive her gift — a silver charm bracelet. A sophomore, Sheila is a liberal arts student who plans to go to _____ next year.

Kathy Wayant Heads W. Beam

On December 12, 1966, elections were held in the freshmen wing of Beam dormitory. Kathy Wayant came out victorious. She will assume responsibility of the office at the beginning of second semester. Kathy is from Greensboro, North Carolina, and enjoys the

Two Recitals Held At B.C.

Recently the Brevard College Music Department held two recitals. The first, held on January 13 at 8:30, was the second in series of formal student recitals for the semester. It featured sophomore Julie Rutledge at the piano, with Tim Bryson on tuba, Charles Vernon on trombone, and Evelyn Oberhoitzer assisted vocally. Mrs. Marvey Miller presented the first organ recital at the Brevard Methodist Church January 15, at 3:00 p. m. When Mr. and Mrs. Miller moved to Brevard in 1960, Mrs. Miller taught piano at the college until this year. Mrs. Miller also taught organ here in 1962-63. She served for two years as Secretary to the Music Department. She attended Woman's College in Greensboro, and Indiana University, where she majored in piano and music. She is presently organist at Brevard Methodist Church and accompanies the Brevard Civic Chorus.

PLANNING TO PLAY PRETTY, pretty soon, are the piano team of Nelson and Neal. They will be at Brevard January 30 and 31.

McBride Presents $750 To BC

An unrestricted grant in the amount of $750.00 was presented to Brevard College recently by local Sears store manager, Bob McBride, representing the Sears - Roebuck Foundation.

The check was accepted by Brevard College President Emmett K. McLarty, Jr., who indicated that the funds would be used in the college's Student Aid program.

"We handle such contributions as this with utmost care, and feel that only needy and worthy students participate in our financial aid program," Dr. McLarty stated.

He expressed the college's grateful appreciation to the Sears - Roebuck Foundation for the substantial contribution.

The check to the local institution was part of $1,000,000 in grants being distributed by the Foundation to private colleges and universities across the nation. 20 other colleges in North Carolina are also receiving grants.

"Altogether, more than 600 colleges and universities from coast to coast will participate in the program this year," Mr. McBride said.

The monies allocated under the program are not restricted as to use.

The CLARION staff would like to congratulate Dean and Mrs. Harris on their new arrival. They are planning on the future B. C. basketball team with their new boy.

Family Duo To Play BC

The Lyceum Committee and the Brevard Mutual Concert Association will present the duo— pianists Nelson and Neal — on January 30, 31, 1967.

Allison Nelson (Mrs. Harry Neal) and Harry Neal are two of America's most famed concert pianists. They have toured all over the world and have the distinct honor of having performed over one thousand concerts.

Miss Nelson is a native Australian who received her early training there and later came to the United States to study. Here she met Harry Lee Neal, also a pianist, and they were married.

Nelson and Neal have been acclaimed for their musical interpretation of romantic composition of the 19th century. They are also well-known for dedication to research and education.

Clarks Honored At McLarty Dinner

A dinner honoring Mr. and Mrs. William Clark of Brevard was given by the McLartys on Saturday, January 14.

The history faculty and several students from that department were also at the dinner. After eating, Mr. Clark of Brevard, who is an author of naval history, talked informally to the group. He told several of his more exciting experiences and methods of research.

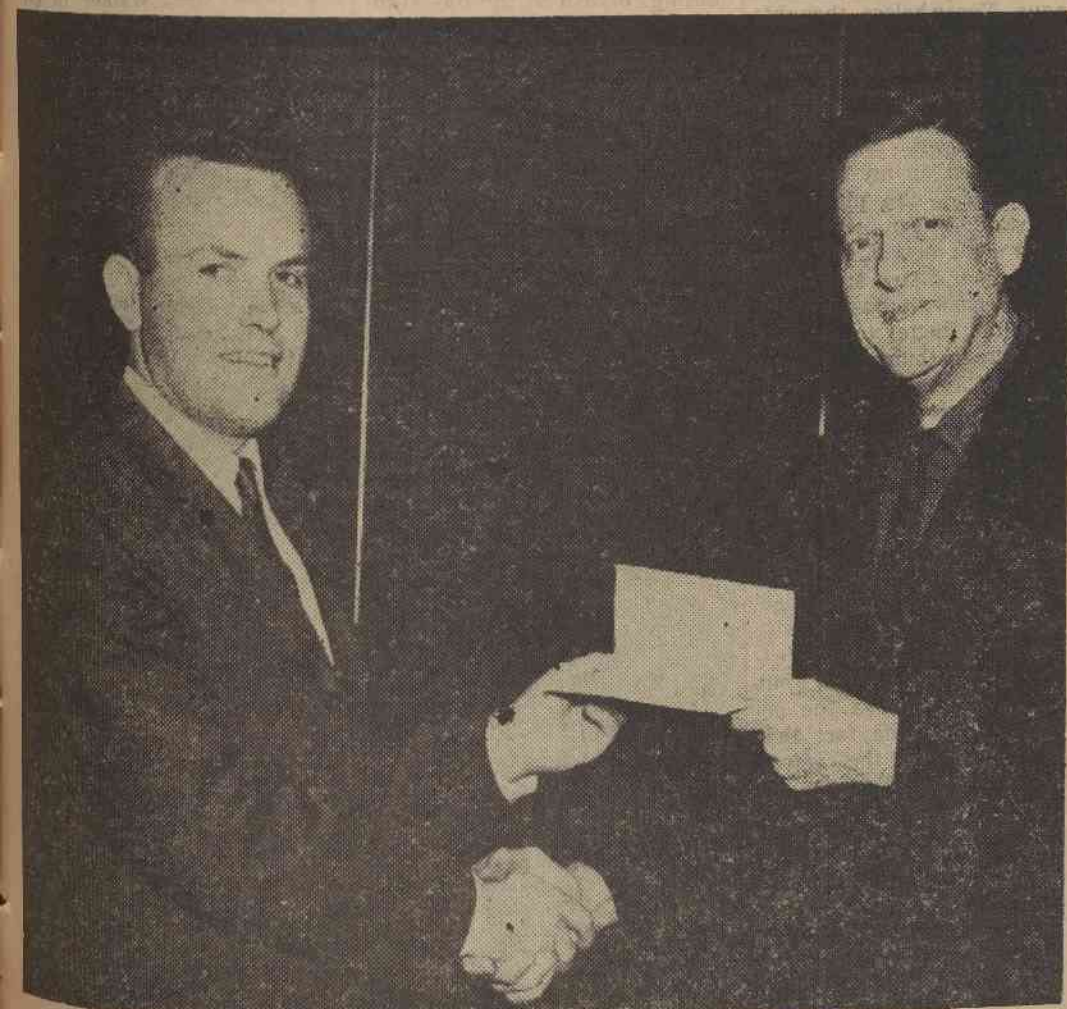

One of the students said, "It was really fun. I just love to hear people talk about history."

McLarty Welcomes New Year

The student body was officially welcomed back to Brevard College by Dr. E. K. McLarty at the first Chapel program.

The President took as the theme of his talk "Cognosce ut Prosis," the motto of the college. He discussed the reasons a student learns in relation to this saying, "We learn in order to do good."

He advised the students to take advantage of their opportunities in college in order to be prepared for the larger world outside.

FOR THE STUDENTS. Mr. Robert McBride gives a 750 dollar grant to

B. C. President Emmett McLarty for the Student Aid Program.