

The Only Difference Between Harvard And

The Clarion

Brevard Is The First Three Letters.

BREVARD COLLEGE, BREVARD, N. C., MAY 12, 1967

Number 28

Sheila Gossett Reigns Over Spring At B. C.

Marshals Announced For 1967-'68

The six freshmen with the highest grade point average each year are selected as the marshals for Brevard College.

This year the annual honor goes to John Tinsley, Chief; Susan Jinette, Patti Page, Lynn Henry, Richard Marvin, and David Mullis.

These students will lead the graduates in at Commencement as their first official duty, with Chaplain C. E. Roy, the College Marshal. Their sophomore year the marshals will usher at lyceums and any other official meetings at the College.

John, the chief, is from Brevard and is a day student. He is a member of Alpha Beta Gamma and Phi Theta Kappa. In high school he also received the highest honors.

The incoming marshals will succeed Linda Davis, Chief; Jenny Munro, Janet New, Julie Rutledge, Cindy Senn, and Wendy Sheridan. The last duty of these students was to usher at the dedication of the James Addison Jones library on May 11.

Folk Mass Is Success

One of the most impressive chapel services of the semester was the Folk Mass Wednesday, May 3. The Anglo-Cats and other interested students participated in the service which Mr. Fred Valentine, pastor of the Episcopal Church, led.

The singing of the Negro Spiritual, "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," opened the service as the students came down the aisle clapping their hands in rhythm to the music. The audience joined in, and the auditorium resounded with the singing of the students and the music of the guitars.

Throughout the ceremony Mr. Valentine alternated with the group by reading the ritual to which they responded with folk music.

In one of the most beautiful parts of the ceremony, Teena Windham, Peggy Killian, Bernie Badiali, and George Patterson sang "All My Trials."

The processional was the lively "Old Time Religion," which the audience joined in freely. This meaningful service closed with the group singing "Jacob's Ladder" very softly.

SHEILA GOSSETT, smiling brilliantly, reigned over the Spring Dance on May 6. Escorted by John Snow, she looked every inch a queen with her tiara and lovely long-stemmed red roses.

Crown Was A Surprise

Sheila Gossett is darling! She is 5' 1", blonde and blue-eyed. She is also Brevard College's 1967 May Queen. Sammy Robinson, the President of the Freshmen class, crowned the students' choice at 10:00 Saturday night at the Spring Dance. He also took the opportunity to plant a kiss on the young lady's cheek, which immediately changed the expression on the face of her escort, Mr. John Snow.

Mr. Snow presently attends Wake Forest, where Sheila plans to enter next fall along with her current roommate, Suzy Smith.

Sheila is a member of the Euterpean Society and the Phi Theta Kappa. She is also on the Honor Roll making a shining example as a Big Sister.

The fact that Sheila was going to receive the crown was a complete surprise to both her and her date. Later, the proud escort of the queen said that he would have sent Sheila a dozen roses even if she had not received the crown with a note attached, "You're my Queen anyway!"

This girl from Murphy, North Carolina, received earlier this year the title of Brevard's Best Dressed Girl in the CLARION-sponsored contest.

Talent Show Wins Applause

Last Friday evening the Business club presented a talent show in Dunham. The proceeds of the show went to the Build-A-School program.

Although the audience attendance was not up to expectations, the acts were well-received, and a profit was made.

A wide variety of acts were featured, with Judy Armen-rout as MC for the evening. Tom Murphy crooned selections from "My Fair Lady," as Jack Peacock supplied accompaniment on the piano.

A dance, "Three Blind Mice," was performed by Gilda Code-spoti, Carol Butler, and Laura Lee Shawhan.

The sophomore girls from second floor Beam went through a snappy dance routine. They called themselves the Beam Saloon Girls.

Janice Degleman did a hilarious pantomime of "I Feel Pretty" from "West Side Story." Tina Windham, Ann Sessions, —Turn to Page Two

Projects Are Nearing End

The two principal projects pushed by B.C. students are nearing completion.

Save-A-Child, which is an annual event, has raised money by pledges, baby-sitting, contributions, and "Campus Ladies." The most appreciated mode of raising money (by the students) was that of allowing the girls an hour's grace for only 60c — a penny a minute. Another of the money raising projects for SAC was the Sophomore Carnival. Some of the clubs contributed their profits. The total amount raised by this time is $312.

Build-A-School, the project for the 1966-67 school year, has earned $762.75. Various money raising projects have brought the money nearer the $1000 goal.

Among these enjoyable projects were the Business Club talent show, the Faculty talent show, the auction, a Faculty all-stars volleyball game, selling refreshments in the dorms, and the dorm-sponsored dance. Individual contributions helped —Turn to Page Two

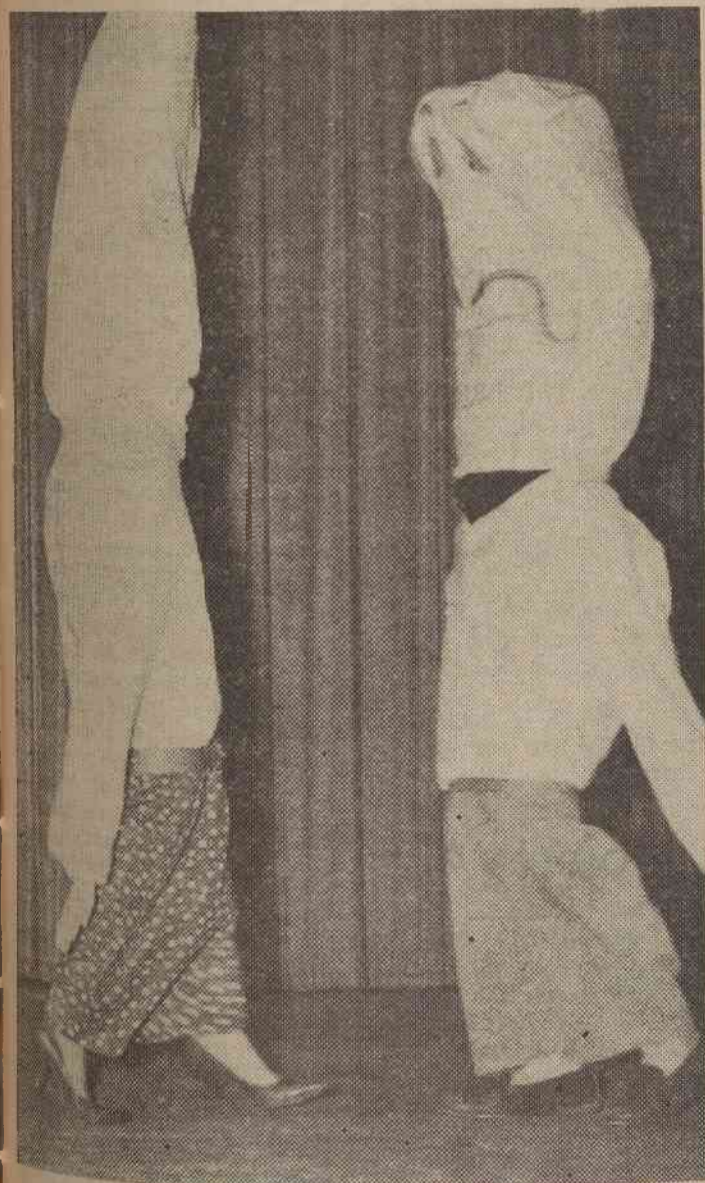

Music Recital On Agenda

Sunday, May 14, the Methodist Church will play host to the last formal student organ recital to be held at B.C. this year.

The program will feature two sophomores: Jerry Jones and Becky Rabb. Jerry, who comes to us from Winston-Salem, has been accepted at High Point and will continue his studies there in a few weeks after leaving B. C. His repertoire will include works by Bach, Dupre, and Brahms.

Becky, who makes her home in Marion, N. C., will be leaving Brevard after graduation for Mars Hill to continue her career in music. Miss Rabb's program features three works by Bach and one by Richard Purvis.

The recital will also include performances by Miss Marie Thomas, a town student, who will play a Chorale Prelude by Bach; Miss Martha Poole, Julie Rutledge, and Diane Ritchie will perform numbers by Dupre, Bach, and Frescobaldi.

TALENT OF ALL SORTS was displayed at the Business Talent Show. Shown are Alice Faison and Cheryl Anders doing a Pillow Dance.