Lyceum To Be Presented On April 1, 2

Hypnotism Featured In Psychology Seminar

Immediately after returning from spring vacation, the Brevard Mutual Concert Association will present the final lyceum program of the 1967-68 series.

From the music department of Duke University, the nationally famous touring duet, Ciompi and Withers, will perform in concert in Dunham Fine Arts Auditorium, April 1 and 2.

Giorgio Ciompi joined the Duke University music faculty in 1964 as Visiting Artist Violinist. He was born in Florence, Italy, and received the Prix du Conservatoire in Paris studying under Boucherit. He later did advanced work under George Enesco and Diran Alexanian. Following this study he taught at the Conservatorio Benedetto Marcello in Venice under its Director, Malipiero. Before coming to the United States in 1948 for a concert tour and Carnegie Hall debut, Mr. Ciompi concertized extensively in Europe.

Since 1948 he has made his home in this country, having been asked in that year by Arturo Toscanini to join the NBC Orchestra. For several years he was also a member of the Saitenburgh Little Symphony in New York City. From 1949 to 1964, he was a member of the Alberner Trio, and in that capacity toured extensively in this country and four times in Europe. During this association, he made numerous recordings under both the Mercury and Music Guild Labels.

From 1954 to 1964, Mr. Ciompi was Head of the Violin Department at the Cleveland Institute of Music and first violin-

A most interesting topic, considered vague by many people, was the subject of the Psychology Seminar held March 15, in the East Beam study parlor. The topic was "Hypnotism" and was discussed most thoroughly by Mr. Harrison Tawney of the Brevard College psychology department.

Mr. Tawney presented a short talk on the history and the development of hypnotism. He pointed out that today, hypnotism plays a vital role in medical research. It is most beneficial in childbirth, dentistry, and several other areas of medicine.

After discussion of the topic, Mr. Tawney utilized four student in its String Quarter. He now heads the Ciompi Quartet of Duke University. In 1954 Mr. Ciompi became a citizen of this country. During the summers of 1950 and 1951 he was a member of the faculty and performing artist at the Aspen Music Festival. During the past several seasons he has been assistant concertmaster of the Casals Festival Orchestra in Puerto Rico, and he is the Director of the Summer School in Siena, Italy, for the North Carolina School for the Performing Arts.

Loren Withers has been head of piano instruction at Duke University since 1949. Missouri born, he took a degree in music at the University of Kansas before pursuing further academic work at New York University. After World War II, he was a scholarship student at the Juilliard School ents in demonstrations of hypnotism. Sue Anderson, Sue Pilarski, Jim McCombs, and Anita Thrower all became subjects and thus demonstrated hypnotism in action.

One of the subjects, Anita Thrower, described her experience with hypnotism in this way; "When I was placed under, I could hear only Mr. Tawney's voice and tiny noises around the room. The noises may have been someone else talking or something, but they only came to me as tiny noises."

"Mr. Tawney asked me to hold my arm straight out by my side. He said that it was feather - light, and it was. It felt as if someone was holding it. Then he pinched me three times on the hand, and I could not feel it."

"When I was brought out of the trance, I awoke very gradually. I had a misconception about hypnotism, thinking that at the snap of the fingers, you were out of the trance right away. But it was more like waking up, say in the morning."

"The seminar was intended to educate students in hypnosis, rather than entertain them. The day of the stage hypnotist is certainly gone," commented Mr. Tawney.

Mr. Tawney received his training in hypnosis at the International Institute of Hypnosis. He states that he has obtained a kit with tape from McGraw-Hill Company for use in his psychology classes.

Mr. Tawney also stated that due to interest in the seminar, another one of the same topic is being planned for this semester.
