Tennis Team Loses; Golfers Finish Third

The tennis team travels to Gardner - Webb this weekend to play in the WNCJCC Conference tournament. The singles tournament will be held Friday, the double Saturday. Brevard who is winless so far, needs only to get through the first round to finish in good shape. Several players are question marks as to their eligibility to play. Pete Skarinka, Jerry Sexton, and Bill Means have reached their limit in class cuts and may not make the trip. This would leave Richard Marvin, Tom Andrews, and Greg Nelson, numbers 1, 5, and 6 men on the team.

The tournament will have all number one men against each other and so on down the line. Number one team Anderson has South Carolina - ranked Pregnell leading their team. Second place Wingate with Tom Prousalis will be another tough battle, Marvin may have to play either of these Friday.

Meanwhile, Brevard's golf team finished third in the conference Monday in their conference meet. They trailed Wingate (the winner) and Gardner Webb.

Brevard College whipped Spartanburg Junior College in baseball, 3-1, and ran over Wingate, 95-50 in track and field, here Tuesday afternoon.

Asheville native Steve Whitaker, a righthander, struck out a dozen batters as he went the distance on the mound for Brevard's fourth Western Carolinas Junior College Conference victory. He walked two and gave up four hits.

Ron Smith and Vic Sutherland each had two singles for Brevard while Ron Morgan batted in two runs.

MERRILL WINS Sen. McCarthy CLIO RALLY States Views

"It says turn right at the next stop and proceed at 35 miles an hour. Then, it says to look for an old barn, and turn left, averaging 20 miles an hour."

"Okay. Be sure and count four seconds for the stop again. And keep a watch out for the barn."

"Step on the gas a little. I figure we're about a minute off the pace."

It was definitely The Happenings last Sunday, as the Clio - sponsored road rally got under way. Nine autos, all shapes and sizes, competed.

The course was a grueling 100 miles jaunt through some of the most scenic (and often most isolated) areas in the surrounding hills. The contest lasted about three hours.

Ben Merrill won the event, piloting a Triumph. Ben's wife performed the navigating duties, as the couple finished way ahead of their competition.

The rally ended at Mills River Recreation Area, where the entries were treated with a picnic.

"In addition to the traditional and constitutionally guaranteed civil rights, we must move on to establish a whole new set of civil rights that I consider to be the rights of every American citizen. Basic among these must be the right to a decent job — a job which becomes the dignity of man, which returns him satisfaction as an intelligent and creative person, and which allows him at the same time to support his family decently and respectfully.

We must also secure the right of every American, adult and young alike, to the quality and amount of education which is necessary to develop his potential. A massive federal program to upgrade education should include an increased commitment to on-the-job training, special vocational programs, adult literacy courses, and increased efforts in the programs already available in this area.

With adequate jobs and adequate income we would begin at long last to eliminate many of the barriers and inequities of our society. All Americans have the right to a decent house, not a house in isolation, not a house in the ghetto, but a house in a neighborhood which is part of a community, which is a part of America."
