

GRADUATE OF BREVARD

Apollo Scientist Speaks Tonight

Dr. James M. Schreyer, a native North Carolinian who played an important role in preparing equipment for the Apollo moon landing missions, will speak at Brevard College (Brevard, N. C.), April 10th.

Dr. Schreyer was born in Fletcher and is an alumnus of Brevard College and the University of North Carolina. He heads the Chemistry Development Department at Oak Ridge Y-12 Plant, an installation operated by Union Carbide Corporation's Nuclear Division for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

In his talk, "Cleaner Than Clean," Dr. Schreyer will describe an ultra-clean room facility at the Y-12 Plant used by personnel of his department to sterilize equipment used in the Apollo missions. He also will propose the application of such clean room systems for use in homes, offices, institutions and industries as one answer to the problem of environmental pollution.

Dr. Schreyer graduated from Brevard College in 1936. He graduated from the University of North Carolina with an "AB" degree in Chemistry in 1938 and taught chemistry at Asheboro High School, Asheboro, North Carolina, until 1941. From 1941 to 1945, he was employed with the War Department in explosive fabrication research. He received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Oregon State University, Corvallis, Oregon in 1948. From 1948 to 1951 he was professor of chemistry at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky. From 1951 to present, he has been employed by Union Carbide Corporation. He is listed in American Men of Science, Leaders of American Science, Who's Who in the South and Southeast, and International Biographies. He is a member of the American Chemical Society and Sigma XI, and is the author of some 50 scientific publications.

On September 17, 1934, when Brevard College opened its doors, the first student to enter was James Marlin Schreyer of Fletcher, North Carolina.

Jackie Lester Wins Miss Clover Title

Miss Jacqueline Lester, a Brevard Freshman, took away the crown and honors in winning the Miss Clover Pageant in South Carolina.

The very modest Miss Clover is now looking forward to reigning over the town of Clover for the duration of 1970.

Miss Lester is a 5'1", brown-eyed lass who is a freshman at Brevard College, N. C. For her talent presentation she sang "Didn't We?"

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Lester, she will compete in the Miss South Carolina Beauty Pageant in Greenville, S. C. in 1971.

In this year's state beauty pageant she will attend as an observer while Miss Caroline Wylie, "Miss Clover 1969," competes.

First runner-up was Miss Dianne Dolin, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Bolin. Miss Bolin will take over the duties of "Miss Clover 1970" should for any reason Miss Lester be unable to complete her reign.

Miss Lester has had training in voice seven years training on the flute. Her hobbies are horseback riding, sewing and designing clothes.

She and her parents make their home at Clover Springs Farm. She was Miss York County Farm Bureau of 1968.

Along with the title, Miss Lester was awarded a crown, a trophy and a $200 scholarship presented by the American Thread Co.

Jaycee Joe Lee McCarter was pageant chairman.

NOTICE

A representative of Averett College in Danville, Virginia, would like to come to the Brevard College Campus if there are students who think they might be interested in applying for admission. If there are any interested students, they should contact Dean Whicker.

Big Sisters

Have Auction

The Big Sisters are sponsoring an auction which will be held April 21, 1970, at 4:00, in front of Dunham Auditorium. The items to be auctioned are being donated by members of the faculty and administration. There will be everything from cookies to a Damascan skull cap. The money will go for the tapping ceremony of new members and for activities next year.

showed a Carswell victory on the hard-fought Supreme Court nomination. There were 49 senators opposing a motion to recommit and kill the nomination to the Judiciary Committee, 39 for and 10 uncommitted.

AIR TRAFFIC CONTROLLERS ignored a plea to return to their jobs and end their 11-day rebellion. Attorney F. Lee Bailey said the deadlock could be steered in 24 hours or less if amnesty were granted and President Nixon would appoint a Mediator.

Recitals Are Announced

The Reverend Nelson F. Adams, Chairman of the Brevard College Division of Fine Arts, has announced that three informal recitals featuring freshmen and sophomore music majors will be held at 4:00 p. m. on April 14, 21, and 28 in the Auditorium of the Dunham Music Center. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Prejudice

survive, we must awaken from our individual dream worlds and admit to ourselves that these United States aren't all they could and should be.

Sure, things aren't as bad as they were fifty years ago and I realize this. But I also realize that things still could be a lot better than they are today. The conclusion of racial prejudices must end and must end quickly. For these and all other such attitudes only threaten our chances of being a strong and powerful nation in the years ahead. Discriminations, not only to Blacks, but Indians and all other minorities must be put to a close. Simply because there are more peaches than plums doesn't make his way of life right. Each of us must learn to accept each for what he is and learn to appreciate his cultural attitudes no matter how different they may seem.

As for Blacks, we've come a long way but we must continue to proceed forward. And this continuation of progress must be conducted in a constructive manner so that harm isn't brought to anyone or anything. We must prevent from taking the road to the left of us which will lead us into an atmosphere of what we have known so well: hate, hate, and hate. We must continue to be aware of what past history tells us, but we mustn't let such evils seclude us into our own unidealistic worlds. We must still be willing to come to the middle of the road. And as for the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King's achievements and dreams, we must not let them die in vain.

As for Whites, there must be a great deal of deep understandings. I realize that many will say that this is just and her approach to saying "give them everything for nothing," or "I'm tired of hearing their same old complaints." But you really can't imagine of what being tired of hearing the same old stories must be like until you sit down and listen to your parents tell of their turn-downs and let-downs simply because they were black. And although I've never experienced many of the ordeals they have, it still hurts to think of what has happened to your own Mom and Dad.

I say if a man is born in America — let him be an American and let him be proud of it! White Americans must discover themselves and find what they really stand for. Many must toss aside the theory that black is bad and white is all good. They must learn how to possess only one personality and must learn to practice the same liberal actions in the absence of their "black friends". While many argue that they don't care what society thinks or says about them, they remain to be insincere to Blacks for fear of what society will do to them. Being black and trusting a White to be your true friend, who later turns out to be nothing you've built him to be, HURTS. I know.

In conclusion, if we as Americans are able to put the first foot forward just once more, perhaps this will be the start of a new era. And if it turns out to be anything less, at least one of the major problems of the world will be solved.
