

Cross Country Team Is Entered In National Meet, To Be Held Tomorrow

By Mike E. Thrope
On November 14, in Vincennes, Indiana, the National Cross Country Championship will be held. And Brevard College will be well represented. Coach Norm Witek stated some time ago that Reggie McAfee has a very good chance at the national meet this year and Coach Witek still holds firm to this statement. Witek is backed on this by the press of Vincennes who name Reggie as top man at the on-coming meet.

Coach Witek stated "Brevard's biggest problem thus far is injuries and a strong 5th man." Mike Smith's addition to the team as 5th man will play a very important role at the Nationals. Mike was injured at the 1st of the season and ran at only one meet.

Mike stated that, "I hope to do my best at the Nationals and represent the team well there."

Reggie McAfee, number one man at the Nationals, and the holder of the best chance at the individual title will have very good competition from three very outstanding runners. Jim Euell from Mesa Junior College holds honors such as New England's cross country champ and he was sixth in the Golden West Invitational Meet with a 4:10 mile. Rob Cool, who was third last year, from Grand Rapids will also give McAfee a run for his money. Two mile champ in track, Junior College levels, 11th last year in cross country, Galen Xachkler, from Manatee Junior College, will also give Reggie a hard time at the Nationals.

Twenty - three teams have entered the Nationals and some 230 - 250 boys will be running there, so it will definitely be an exciting event. Co-Captain Lennox Stewart stated, "The cross country team of Brevard College has a great chance of making our college known nation wide. Most of the students do not realize this, and haven't all year."

The record shows that we stand a pretty good chance in receiving individual honors and as a team to be in the top ten in the nation. I believe our team has the ability. To the other members of the team; McAfee, Captain; Rex Gladeaux, Jordan, Smith, and Pugh. I wish good luck in the Nationals and to our coach, Norm Witek, thanks for a good job of building such a team and getting us in the form we are now in.

New Business Manager Has Extensive Background

Mr. Brunner Hunt has been at Brevard College since July 1st. He is the "man behind the scenes," filling the complex position of Brevard's Business Manager, responsible for the functioning of all the physical aspects of the campus.

Mr. Hunt has brought to Brevard an extensive educational background and business experience. A native Mississippian, he began in the business field at Emory University, receiving his Masters later, from the Harvard Business School. He has held positions with the Methodist Publishing House at Nashville, Tennessee, and managed the Cokesbury Book Store in Los Angeles, for six years.

Mr. Hunt is an essential person in the functioning of the college. As he puts it, "The Deans are responsible for the students, and I am responsible for the services on the campus available to the college community." He spends most of his time with purchasing activities, and the college finances, and he enjoys working with the Business Administration of Brevard.

Mr. Hunt also expresses pleasure over the campus setting, especially mountain drives along the Blue Ridge Parkway and No. 276. He, his wife Patricia, and their two sons reside in the new faculty houses behind the track.

Brevard Develops Answer To ROTC

By Mike Jones
Brevard's answer to ROTC is in the form of a fast-growing spectator sport here on campus. The contestants are divided into two or more teams or armies, and the only legal weapons are homemade cannons made from several tin cans, which are taped together end to end. These makeshift weapons use old tennis balls for ammunition.

A can on one end of the cannon is used as the compression chamber. It contains a piece of cloth, which is soaked with lighter fluid before each firing. The cloth is then ignited. Many of the weapons are accurate up to about fifty yards.

Sunday's cannonading was heavy, but casualties were light. Wattie Mungall was grazed by a stray tennis ball, and Joe Hinkle suffered a minor cut on his finger when a malfunction caused his weapon to backfire. "War is heck," stated Hinkle after the mishap.

Some of the armies, standing in their ranks and firing at their opponents, employ the Revolutionary War approach, while others choose to scatter about in the Viet Nam guerilla fashion.

It is doubtful that the new sport will have any future in intercollegiate competition, and at Brevard College it's now illegal.

Intramural Football Finals Are Slated To Begin

By Rowe Haden
The single elimination I M Football Tournament got under way Monday afternoon. The winner of the tournament will be named campus champion and will go on to meet a team comprised of faculty members. This week's game will be played on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday with the finals to be played next week.

Monday afternoon saw Defending Champion Green III beat Taylor I and II by a score of 20-7. Wednesday Green Basement and II will play Beam, and Thursday afternoon the Day Students will meet undefeated Taylor I and III. Taylor I and III finished in first place at the end of the regular season.

In Monday's game III scored on field goals by Jim Holmes the first two times it got the ball and went on to beat Taylor Basement and II, 20-7. A 20 yard touchdown run by Bob Propst gave Green a 13-0 halftime lead. The second half saw the two teams trade touchdowns and Green hung on to get the win.

The intramural basketball season will begin late in November and the team setup will remain as it has been for football. Each team will play up to twenty games and the season will carry on into early March when the intramural program will be rounded out with softball.

Soccer Team Beats Wingate, Will Go To The Sectional Tourney

The Brevard College soccer team, fighting hard in a tight defensive battle, scored a 1-0 victory over arch rival Wingate College to take the Region 5 championship at Belmont Abbey, N. C. Due to Wingate's recent win over Montreat - Anderson College, Brevard and Wingate were tied for the lead. Next Brevard will go on to the sectional tournament in Gainesville, Florida, tomorrow.
