Mr. Ives Is New Addition To Brevard College Faculty

The most recent addition to the Brevard College faculty is the new swimming instructor and student activities coordinator, Mr. Toby Ives.

Mr. Ives is not exactly new to Brevard College. He attended college here from 1964 to 1966 and went on to Guilford College in Greensboro to obtain a B.A. in economics.

Mr. Ives then returned to Brevard and worked in the Admissions office from 1969 through 1970. In June, 1970, he left Brevard College and went on a tour of Europe with his wife who is a Brevard College alumna.

About the middle of November, 1970, Mr. Ives returned to Brevard and became the new swimming instructor and coordinator of student activities. His office is in the student union where you will find him during his scheduled hours.

Mr. Ives seems to enjoy the outdoors. A few of his hobbies are aquatics, aquatic sports, boating, scuba diving, and camping.

The country around Brevard College seems ideal for many of these hobbies, so perhaps he will stay a while.

Peace Corps College Seeks New Students

Brockport, N. Y. — The State University of New York, College at Brockport is looking for students who want to earn college credit while preparing to teach mathematics and science as Peace Corps volunteers in Latin America.

Peace Corps and college officials announced recently that the unique Peace Corps College Degree program at Brockport will be extended with the admission of a fifth group of candidates in June, 1971.

The decision by the Peace Corps to extend the four-year-old program, was made after a comprehensive evaluation in which graduates of the program serving as Peace Corps volunteers in Peru, Colombia, El Salvador, Honduras and the Dominican Republic were interviewed along with their host country counterparts and overseas Peace Corps staff.

The program is open to students who are in good standing at any accredited college or university and who will have completed their sophomore or junior year by June, 1971.

Applications must be made to the Peace Corps/College Degree Program; State University College at Brockport; Brockport, New York 14420 by March 1.

The program is designed to fill the need for mathematics and science teachers in developing Latin American countries. It includes one academic year flanked by two summers of fully subsidized and integrated academic courses and Peace Corps training.

Graduates receive either an A.B. or B.S. degree, secondary school teacher certification and an assignment overseas to a bi-national educational team as a Peace Corps volunteer. While they are serving overseas, volunteers may earn up to 12 hours of graduate credit.

Unique features of the program include Academic credit for Peace Corps training; two fully - subsidized summer sessions totaling 30 semester credit hours; in - depth Peace Corps training which is fully synchronized with a liberal arts education; specialized professional preparation; individualized programs; intensive audi - lingual Spanish training in small classes; opportunity for double majors, and supervised overseas graduate work.

According to Peace Corps officials, the Brockport program is the only one in the country to grant full academic credit for Peace Corps training.

Hutchinson Plans Unusual Sermons

The Rev. Orion N. Hutchinson, Jr., Minister of First United Methodist Church, across from the College campus is giving a series of unusual sermons. He is exploring a series of subjects centered on the theme: "Questions Sincere Seekers Ask."

The schedule for the upcoming sermons is as follows: Feb. 7, Is There Any Word from the Lord? Feb. 14, What Is Man? Feb. 21, Who Needs Religion? Feb. 28, Why Did This Happen To Me? March 7, Why Is the Church Forsaken? April 11, If a Man Dies, Shall He Live Again?

Mr. Hutchinson invites suggestions as to other questions that might be explored together in the future.

RECORD REVIEW

Bee Gees Release Album: 2 Years On

By Mark Todd
2 Years On, the latest album by the Bee Gees, was released in early January and features the return of vocalist Robin Gibb to the group. Rejoining his brothers, Barry and Maurice, after a short stand on his own, he once again adds his unique vocal talents to the beautifully arranged ballads of pensive emotion.

The group, which writes and arranges all of its own materials, also is dependent on the outstanding piano of Maurice Gibb in many of the selections. Also important is the 30-piece orchestra which provides the mellow background that has contributed greatly in the Bee Gees great success since 1967, when they first burst forth on the American scene with "New York Mining Disaster 1941."

However, the Australian group has successfully varied its style since its early days of prominence in Pop Music. Occasional and moderately light rock, country and western, and beautiful instrumentation all are becoming more influential ingredients in the Bee Gees latest releases.

Of particular note in the new album are the hit tune "Lonely Days," "Alone Again," "Sincere Relation," "Portrait of Louise," and the title song, if any few songs can be singled out. Group leader Barry Gibbs also is significant on guitar and with his vocals.

The title "Portrait of Louise" is symbolic of the group's hit studded repertoire, in that the group attempts, and succeeds with unusual success, in painting a portrait of the melancholy and subtle things in life.

It is quite easy for one's own emotional experiences to come to the fore in reaction to the emotional, all out performance of the Bee Gees.

Brevard Student Mike Faggart Races Sports Cars

By Rod Jones

I could not reach forward to the dashboard as the force of the acceleration pressed my body into the seat. One glance at the speedometer told me we were leaving the track behind us at 110 mph as the engine propelled us still faster.

This was my first high speed experience as my friend Mike Faggart tested a new racing part on his 1969 Datsun 2000. Mike has been racing for almost a year now and has won several awards. He explained to me that his field of racing (slalom), requires much more maneuvering skill than speed. The driver is required to thread his precision racing machine through series of pylons. Mike also emphasized the importance of safety in competition. Each racer is required to pass an extensive safety check before the car is allowed to compete.

Mike's favorite racer is Jackie Stuart and his ambition in racing is to compete in Sports Car Club of America races.

Remember, any sports car driver will tell you that speed can be fun and exciting on the track when safety controls are observed.

Confetti Contributions Requested

Confetti is the student body's 1971 creative writing magazine. Confetti organizers urge students to submit essays, short stories, poetry, art work, or any of their own writing creations, to fill an anticipated 100 page magazine to be published this semester.

Confetti 1971 will not be the first publication. In past years the magazine was a traditional part of the creative writing department. The department put it out, until several years ago. Now Confetti has been revived by the students solely through contributions, as an extracurricular publication.

The staff is anxious to have more submissions so the publication of this student magazine can be possible. The Confetti staff will meet every Monday night in the McLarty Goodson Building, Room 116 at 7:00 p.m. with an open invitation.

Writings submitted will be voted on by the staff without knowledge of the writer, and without editing they will be included in Confetti. Any contributions can be left in P. O. Box 486 or given to an English teacher.

Student Apathy Is Hindering The SGA

vice - presidency, I accepted a job, unimportant to some, but more. So in the eyes of some, the SGA may be a failure, but it is better to give one hundred percent effort in a worthwhile cause than to give twenty-five percent to a cause of lesser value. This year we tried, but the importance of student support and participation in nonetheless, a job. I feel as though I gave a hundred percent, and no one could ask for student government cannot be overemphasized. Therefore, if you think we failed this year, then work twice as hard next year to make student government what you want it to be. And remember, "The surest way not to fail is to determine to succeed."
