

B. C. Tornadoes Twist Through Basketball Tournament

The Brevard College Tornadoes opened heir 1973-74 basketball season November 14 under new head Coach John Meyerhoff. The Tornadoes traveled to Greenville, South Carolina to take on North Greenville Junior College in the first round of the Seratoma Jr. College Tip-off tournament. Anderson Jr. College and Spartanburg Jr. College played in the second game.

The opening game was a very close and exciting see-saw battle between two very skilled teams. North Greenville, 6th in last year's NJCAA championships, out rebounded the taller Tornadoes in the first half and used this advantage to hold a 30-28 lead at intermission.

Play remained much the same in the early minutes of the second half but substitute forward Tony Creekmore combined efforts to turn the game in Brevard's favor. Tony Creekmore made many big steals to turn the ball over to the offense. Bryan Jones scored to make the score 52-54 with just under five minutes left. Then Creekmore tied the score at 54. Jones scored again in the game to put Brevard in the lead for the first time in the second half at 58 - 56. Brevard fell behind one more time, 60-58, but both Skip Miller and Bryan Jones scored to put their team in the lead 62-60. Creekmore added two foul shots to make the final score 64-61.

The win over North Greenville advanced Brevard to the final game, facing Anderson Jr. College, November 15. Anderson defeated Spartanburg Jr. College 78-77 in another thriller.

Brevard was unable to generate an offensive attack against their opponents and fell behind early in the game. Anderson led at half time 43-35.

Before the Tornadoes could get started in the second period the Trojans jumped to a 59-40 lead. Brevard was able to cut the deficit to 63-50 but could get no closer. Anderson slowly pulled away again and with five minutes remaining in the game both teams substituting players from the bench. The final score was 93-69.

The Tornadoes placed Skip Miller, 6'2" guard, on the All-Tournament team. Miller led all scorers with 26 points in the first game and 13 in the second.

Brevard's Mighty Women Tornadoes

Much attention has been paid this year to the men's soccer, cross - country and basketball teams. All of this has been rightly deserved, for all of these teams are of championship caliber; however, there is another team at Brevard College who deserves equal attention. This is the women's basketball team.

This team includes some fine players such as, Holly Choate, from Sparta, North Carolina. Miss Choate is one of the team's better ballhandlers and shooters. An aggressor under the board, Janie Hare from Long Creek, South Carolina, will fake out her opponents with her unbeatable hook-shots. Lint Sharpe from Pinetops, North Carolina will bear watching from her opponents as she has a fast and unique way of handling the ball. Alice Vernon from Piedmont, South Carolina, brought with her a deadly corner shot. A former All Western North Carolina player, Cathey Daniels, from Brevard, North Carolina will show her experience on the court. Also a demon under the board is Sharon Boring from Turtle Creek, North Carolina who will probably see much action this year. Two products from Douglas, Georgia and Carol Sears and Elaine Lewis. Both played for Douglas last year and are an unbeatable duo. Johanna (Go-Go) Dewees in an experienced player from Sylva, North Carolina. Beth Graves will help put the opponents in their places with her fine passing and shooting ability. Last, but not least, is Lynn Garren from Hendersonville, North Carolina, who is a Jack-of-all-trades and can play any position adequately.

The women's team coached by Miss Gail Anderson and trained by Miss Jan Scarborough from Charlotte, North Carolina started the season last Friday night against a talented Furman team and fought gamely before succumbing by a close 41-36 score. Brevard was led in scoring by Daniels and Lewis both with 11 point and Sears with 14 points.

Last Saturday the women had their home opener against Warren Wilson. Brevard's passing, shooting, and defense was superb as they outclassed the Flying Owls by a 60-19 score. Eleven of Brevard players scored in the game, led by Daniels 13, Hare's 11, Boring 8, and Lewis's 8.

Legislature Takes Stand

The Student Union Legislature took a stand Tuesday to keep student rights and principles intact. The following proposal was passed unamously Tuesday night at the regular SUL meeting followed a long discussion filled with numerous cases for justification of the move that was made.

Proposal: That in view of the breach of confidence made by certain members of the Self-Study Program with regard to the confidentiality of answers on the faculty questionnaire administered by the SUL, the members of the SUL will administer no further questionnaires under the Self Study Program.

Furthermore, the SUL encourages the members of the Student Union to refuse to fill out any more Self Study questionnaires.

This proposal will remain in effect until a satisfactory reason of the breach of trust has been made by those responsible.

An explanation is needed to explain this and what consequences were confronted Wednesday morning. The situation involves a case of misunderstanding between a few people.

Seemingly many students have missed the point. We are concerned with enlightening the people involved that the questionnaire was handled improperly according to the original instructions causing harm to the student. We are not saying that the teachers will use this form for the wrong purpose but the possibility is there for this to happen. It needs to be understood that something needs to be done to call the hand of those responsible.

We the students feel a grave mistake and a breach of confidence has been committed. But the important factor is this problem is the learning experience that has been provided. We the Student Government feel that although the damage has been done relations can be salvaged from this experience if the students respond in a mature attitude allowing the Brevard College Community to function up to its potential.

As Students we have rights and a power that if we allow our toes to get stepped on now we are only asking for more. We want this to be cleared up so that other questionnaires will be unbiased so the overall impact of the SACS can once again gain respect.
