

BC women off to regionals

by Bonnie Davis

The BC women's tennis team heads for the Region X tournament tomorrow, Friday, April 24, at Anderson College, SC.

Coach Jane Long said, "I'm really excited about Regionals without Peace College being there because we've got a good chance of winning since we've beaten the other two teams."

The tournament will be held over Friday and Saturday, and the competition will consist of Lees-McRae College, Anderson, and Brevard.

The ladies finished their regular season of play last Wednesday as they pulled out a 5-4 win over Anderson. BC went into the match with two forfeits of the number two singles and number one doubles positions due to an ankle injury of Amy Mullins, the number two seed.

Number one player Amy Lister lost her match to the top-ranked Brazilian player of Anderson. Lisa Taylor, Bonnie Davis, and Adrienne Elliott, seeded three, four and five, won their matches tying up the score at 3-3. In the number six seed, Anne Kavanaugh struggled through a two and a half-hour match. She finally pulled out a win in the third set which put BC ahead at 4-3 going into the tie-breaker.

In doubles action, Davis and Elliott lost in two sets and again the score was tied at 4-4. The deciding match was up to the number three doubles team of Kavanaugh and Taylor who won their match in two sets making the final score 5-4.

The overall season record stands at 5-2 for Brevard.

Unfortunately, the men's team hasn't fared so well. Their overall season record stands at 3-10. The men ran into a lot of trouble this season due to bad weather, tough competition, and injuries.

Though the season has been a disappointing one, Coach Alexander could find nothing but praise for his team members for putting forth the effort and sticking with the season. He said, "I had people like Jim Knapp playing well, and Tim Theuer has come along way and has steadily improved. And considering the lack of experience, Jim Ardavany, Jeff Cabot, and Vic Muriel learned a lot about tennis along the way and played tough."

The final ladder for the team stands as follows: Number one seed, Jim Knapp; number two, Oliver De la Ronciere; number three, Kent Bird; number four Jeff Cabot; number five, Tim Theuer; number six, Vic Muriel; and number seven, Jim Ardavany.

BC recruits drop 4-0 decision

by Buck Rowlee

The Maryville Scots beat the Brevard College recruit team 4-0 to win the BC soccer tournament held the Springfest weekend of April 11-12.

Brevard College had a frustrating tournament by losing two out of their three matches. The Tornados failed to find their scoring punch and they were defeated by West Palm Beach in overtime 2-1, and beaten by the Whirlwinds 1-0.

David Taylor, tournament coordinator, said the tournament "was good for the recruits and good for the Brevard team because it gave them a chance to play together." Coach Don Scarborough said, "The tournament was competitive and more even." He added, "The small field gave the weaker teams a advantage."

Several BC players expressed their disappointment after the game. R.T. Myers said, "The way we played was disappointing because we were the best skilled team out there, but we just couldn't put it together."

The tournament concluded the men's soccer spring season. But everyone can look forward to watching them next fall as they defend their Region X title.

Brevard College golfers get first win

The Brevard College Golf Team won their opening match against North Greenville earlier this month, 401-326.

Brevard was paced by Derek Calhoun's 74, followed by John Farquhar with 78, Chip York with 84, and Scott Madaus and Jason Miele with scores of 90 each.

East Beam wins title

by Kim Belanger

Indoor soccer intramurals officially ended on April 9, when the Nads from third floor East Beam defeated G.D.B.D., also known as Green Basement, 5 to 4.

Coached by Keith Young, the Nads team members are Amy Cearley, George Demopoulos, Raul Diez, Oliver De la Ronciere, Karen Ellis, Crae Galloway, Marcello Gutierrez, Tom Johnson, captain Jim Knapp, and Amy Lister.

The basement team consisted of Carol Ellison, Greg Gambrel, Paige Jackson, William Johnson, Kevin Kampmeyer, Tim Nelson, Tom Overstreet, Darrand Richards, Brian Sewell and Chris Schryver. The G.D.B.D.'s were coached by Louis Rosen.

Commenting on the game, Brian Sewell said, "Our team could have been more competitive and most likely could have dominated the game. But overall it was a good time for all involved."

Springfest weekend goes over big at BC

by Mark Brom

Yes, the phenomenon of the ever popular Springfest at Brevard College has come and gone on the weekend of April 10-12.

Springfest is an annual occurrence that primarily allows the college students to unwind and to have a good time. Activities such as a cook-out behind the gym and several soccer games provided faculty, students, and prospective students with plenty of entertainment.

More "reserved" activities off campus, several forest parties were attended by hundreds of people, and were in progress throughout most of the weekend. There were many alumni and old friends who attended.

According to most BC students, Springfest is really a great event, and they feel that it will continue to be successful in the future.

Eric Batson wins state singing honors

Eric Batson, a Greenville, S.C. sophomore voice student, placed third in the state competition of the NATS (National Association of Teachers of Singing).

The Greenville, S.C. tenor is a student of Professor Harvey Miller of Brevard College. Batson won at the April 3 competition held at Meredith College in Raleigh, and he was also selected to sing in the Honors Recital there.

BC singers have been consistent winners at NATS competition, and according to Miller, "Eric did quite well, and I was quite proud that Brevard College was so well represented. He has good stage presence and he got probably the biggest applause."
