

Bertrand travels to S. Africa for elections

Special to the Clarion
from the BC News Bureau

Brevard College President J. Thomas Bertrand will travel to South Africa this month to observe the elections there as a Fellow of the National Peace Foundation and as Visiting Scholar to the University of the Western Cape at Capetown. Bertrand hopes to complete work he began two years ago in South Africa, when he helped to formulate the role of higher education in the troubled country's new society.

"I hope to observe the elections in South Africa through the prism of the University of the Western Cape at Capetown, a key institution in the formation of this new society," Bertrand said. Much of the intellectual work of writing a new constitution and the long-range planning for a new educational system for the nation has taken place on the university's campus.

Bertrand will also travel to Zimbabwe to participate in the official opening and inauguration at Africa University, a new United Methodist university, by invitation of the

BC freshman may compete on TV's 'Family Feud'

Many of us dream of being on a television game show. For one Brevard College student, that dream may become a reality.

Leonard Jackson (LJ), a freshman from Greensboro, N.C. and his family are doing just that! They have auditioned twice for the Family Feud. The auditions took place in New York, N.Y., where LJ is originally from. LJ and his family went to New York to audition on November 4 of last year. His family won that round and was asked to come back in April.

The other family members who are involved are: two cousins, LJ's mother, and his grandmother. The second audition was held on April 9. LJ's family split two rounds of the feud with another family. LJ's family is expecting a call at any time to find out when they will be on. It may be from anywhere from two months to two years before they get to go on the show.

If LJ and his family go, then they will have an all expense paid trip to Hollywood, Calif., including airfare, meals, rental car, and twenty five dollars a day allowance. At the first audition there is a 10% chance for families to move on to the second audition. From there, there is a 50% chance of making it on to the show.

Chancellor of Africa University and Dr. Roger Ireson, General Secretary of the United Methodist Board of Higher Education and Ministry. Two years ago Bertrand was an official guest of the trustees of Africa University when its first classes were organized.

In addition to his work in Africa, Bertrand will visit Westminster College in Oxford, England, to finalize an exchange agreement between Westminster College and Brevard College. Westminster College is the only Methodist higher education institution in England.
