The young Brevard Baseball Team started their second season on fire, with 7-1 record.

In the first two games against Young Harris, Brevard lost 4-3 and won 3-2. Since that first game against Young Harris, Brevard has been on a roll, winning their last seven games.

The team just finished up a six game weekend, winning all six games. On Friday, Feb. 23, Brevard swept USC-Salkehache. The first game was a close one, but Brevard still came out on top 4-3. The second game Brevard came out with a vengeance and destroyed USC-Salkehache 13-1.

The next day Brevard barely continued their winning streak by squeaking by Truett-McConnell 2-1 in the first game, but like the day before the team came out of the second game winning 11-5.

On Sunday, Brevard finished their weekend with two more wins against Montreat-Anderson. The first game was still a close one, 4-2. The second game Brevard easily won 7-5.

Cross Country Looks Toward the Future

Looking towards the future is what Brevard's Track and Cross Country team has been doing. Brevard College has been known to produce high quality running athletes. This reputation has made it hard for these athletes to choose a new institution.

In the past two years, Brevard's Track and Cross Country team has developed talented athletes that exceed the junior college level.

Certain individuals have already chosen their next college. John McMillian has verbally committed with Clemson University. When asked what he liked most about Clemson, John stated, "There are a lot more people and it is closer to home."

Roger Clark has picked East Tennessee State University. Roger is a native from Tennessee, and he thinks that being closer to friends and family will improve grades and better his running.

John Johnson is going north to West Kentucky. John took a visit last month and absolutely loved it. When asked why he liked Kentucky so much, John exclaimed, "The training facilities were wonderful and food was better than average."

Going east to North Carolina State University is Chris Pluchos. Being a high quality athlete, Chris has had the time of his life choosing a school to fit his needs. Chris says training at State is very similar to Brevard. He thinks this will continue his success and further him towards the Olympics. Chris has always dreamed of going to a Division I school, and now his dream has come true.

Bill Baldwin has already signed a full scholarship with Western Carolina University. Bill has proven himself competing against Division I schools; moreover, he thinks Western will continue his success and set him closer to his Olympic dream.

Girls Indoor Soccer Explodes

In

Championship Tournament

The Brevard College Girls Indoor Soccer Team has really gotten off to an explosive start this season with an undefeated record and two tournament championships under their belts. Their tournament was held at Warren Wilson College, where the girls breezed through with an easy victory.

Sophomore Michelle Theirault said, "The competition wasn't all that great; it was a pretty easy win."

Brevard hosted their second tournament right here at the college on February 17 and 18. Brevard had an impressive tournament victory going undefeated all the way through. The competition was pretty intense, but the girls found ways to keep winning. There were twenty girls' teams from all different colleges, some of which were four-year schools and other junior colleges around the nation.
