

Arts & Entertainment

Earth Day Sculptures On Display

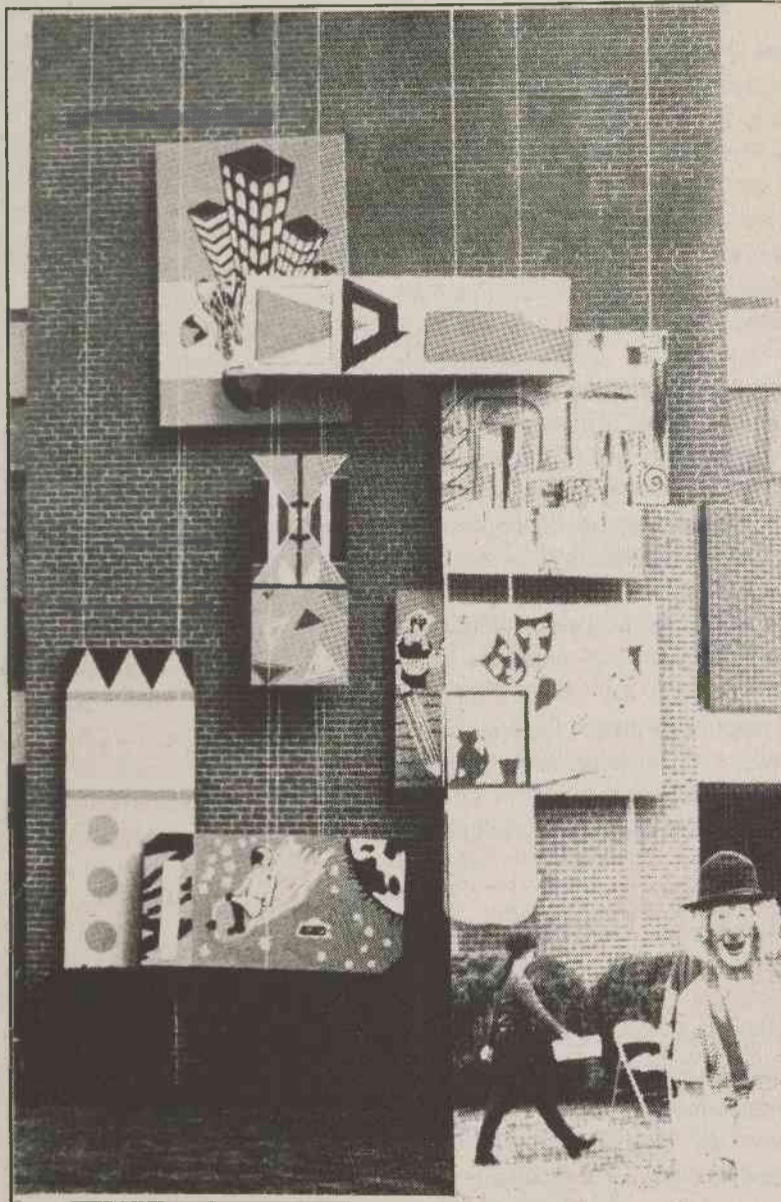

Angie Clark
Art Editor

The students in Mr. Murray's sculpture 302 class went all out for earth day this year. By installing environmental pieces around the art building, they showed that sculpture can be produced in conjunction with the environment.

Although not all of the sculptures have been installed yet, some of the more visible ones are already up. For example, Parker Platt's multi-canvas piece is located on the side of the art building facing North Broad Street.

Kristin Caswell has installed a medicine wheel out of stone down by the creek, and many other students are placing their work in and around the art building.

While most of the sculptures are not permanent, they can currently be seen on display.

A dancing clown performs in front of Sims Art Center. (Photo by Kris Caswell)

Bread and Puppet Schedule Tour

Angie Clark
Art Editor

In August of 1990, in a small field in Vermont, the advent of a new form of theater emerged. The new troupe that was formed was known as Bread and Puppet, and what they created was an annual Domestic Resurrection Circus.

Bread and Puppet is one of the oldest non-profit theater companies in the country. If fantastical puppets, outdoor performances, and left wing socio-political satire are right up your alley, it is a great way to spend an afternoon.

The puppets, created by Peter Schumman, reflect almost every human mood or behavior. They dance, sing, laugh, weep, entertain, and distribute homemade garlic bread, which is a tradition Schumman set up.

The eight member troupe will be performing an Appalachian Tour. They will be making stops in Burnsville, Knoxville, Tennessee, Virginia, and Kentucky. They will also be stopping in Georgia as well. For details on specific dates call 298-3325.

GATSBY'S
13 WALNUT STREET • DOWNTOWN ASHEVILLE • 254-4248

EVERY SUNDAY GAMEROOM OPEN from NOON until 2:00am	EVERY TUESDAY J.P. Delanoye & the MOJO Workers Acoustic - Electric Blues and Rock	EVERY SUNDAY BAT CAVE PHILHARMONIC Unplugged Mania
FRIDAY 3 THE SHADOW CASIE Danceable Rock with WISH FOR FISH	SATURDAY 4 CRYSTAL ZOO & SEA of SOULS	