“My art mirrors my life: everything about my life when looked at all together is so random.... I plan to explore a subject I believe defines a lot about myself, my life; who I am and how I am here today.”

J. Andrew Davis,

“Artwork is universal in both its creation and its experience.”

“I believe a personal creativity is developed in part through life experience. The source of my creativity is generated from eventful periods that have occurred or are occurring in my life or to someone close to me. These events can involve sports, technology and politics.”

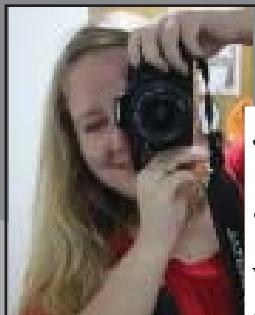

Maranda Ashe,
