On Aug. 27, 2011, Natalie Stovall and her band came to Brevard College to deliver an amazing performance in the Porter Center. This concert, hosted by the Campus Activity Board (CAB), served as the official kick-off to the fall activities calendar. Stovall's band was scheduled to play in the Porter Centers Amphitheatre, a beautiful outside stage with lawn seating.

The threat of inclement weather caused by hurricane Irene interrupted the original plans and caused a change in venue. "She can rock out with the best of them," says senior Maggie Whitman who has seen Natalie and her band perform "plugged in" on two different occasions.

"I'm disappointed the rest of the BC didn't get to see her in her full glory, but this was still the best concert played at Brevard because of her undeniable talent. Natalie moved into the Porter Center Scott Concert Hall, and performed an acoustic show that blew people away. A record number of 152 students showed up to this awesome performance.

All in all, it was a great kick off for the year, and the grand finale of Welcome Week. This terrific performance shows the new CAB has worked hard to plan some awesome activities and there is much more to do in the weeks to come.

The video game "Rock band" could be heard playing from Dunham auditorium on Saturday night, August 27, 2011. CAB hosted a "Rock Band Night" where students could come on a quiet Saturday evening and test their guitar, drum, or singing skills. While the turnout was low, the excitement was high. Free refreshments, a CAB staple, were provided to all participants. "My favorite part was beating on the drums and just hanging with people that also like the game," says sophomore Dustin Haithcox. For those who missed the fun, you also missed out on seeing yours truly singing a fantastic rendition of Joan Jett's "I Love Rock and Roll". Come out to Dunham on October 7th at 8pm for CAB's next "Rock band Night".

Don't miss trivia night in the Coltrane Underground at 8:00 Friday, September 2. Win some awesome prizes and meet some great people in an easy going and fun environment. We ask some good questions so bring your smart friends, and your thinking cap.

Due to a faulty disc, CAB's movie night for August 28th was cancelled. Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides reveals Jack Sparrows search for the Fountain of Youth.

This film will show at a later date. The rescheduled time will be announced soon. To get your free movie fix, however, check out FAST FIVE, the fifth installment of Fast and the Furious, this Sunday, September 4 at 9pm. In this film, a former cop, Brian O'Conner, who partners with ex-con Dom Toretto has to once again play fate and the wrong side of the law.

O'Conner and Mia Toretto must break Toretto out of jail and escape the authorities where they reside in Rio de Janeiro. The gang has to accomplish one final job to be free. A team of elite racers and even some unlikely friends join together to help. Enough with the plot - just come to see the awesome cars and legit action scenes.

For more information, check out their table at the Club Expo on Monday, September 5 from 7pm - 9pm on the Residential Quad.

This week in history

September 2, 31 BCE

Mark Antony and Cleopatra VII are defeated at the Battle of Actium by the forces of Octavian. According to legend, Cleopatra proceeded to kill herself using the venom of a snake. Octavian would go on to give himself the name he is better recognized by, Augustus Caesar, and is considered to be the first Roman Emperor.

September 3, 1189

Richard I of England (a.k.a. Richard "the Lionheart") is crowned at Westminster. Fun facts about this heroic King of England—he spoke only French, and spent most of his life living in Southern France.

September 4, 1998

Larry Page and Sergey Brin, found Google while working towards their PhDs at Stanford University. The original form was that of a research project the two men were working on together.

September 5, 1969

Lt. William Calley is charged with premeditated murder, for the death of 109 Vietnamese civilians. The My Lai Massacre marked one of the lowest points of the Vietnam War, with somewhere between 347 and 504 unarmed citizens murdered, raped, beaten, and tortured by "Charlie" company, 1st battalion, 20th infantry, 11th infantry brigade, of the American I Division, United States Army.

September 6, 1620

The Pilgrims sail from Plymouth, England, on the Mayflower. Upon arriving in what would become Massachusetts, they decide to name it Plymouth, presumably because they were just that creative.

September 7, 1996

Tupac "2Pac" Shakur is fatally shot four times on the Las Vegas strip. He is still one of the best-selling music artists in the world, and his murder is still unsolved.
