

From student to admissions counselor

By Carolina Siliceo-Perez
Staff Writer

Innovation is definitely part of admissions with the distinct and fresh perspective of a Brevard College graduate. Marcus Roberson graduated from Brevard College this past summer and now forms part of our outstanding Admissions staff. As a Student Ambassador, Marcus was given the opportunity to work with admissions and this opened the door to becoming a perfect candidate for an opening position in Admissions.

While at Brevard, Marcus was a Resident Hall Advisor for 3 years, and participated in Voice of the Rivers in 2010. He recalls this experience as one of the highlights of his college career. He was also the student director of the annual Phone-a-thon and was able to create a growth in pledges and scholarship money for Brevard. The spring semester of his junior year he took advantage of our study abroad program and spent time in Costa Rica perfecting his Spanish and enjoying the cultural immersion.

With a degree in Religious studies and a minor in Spanish, Marcus is the fresh product of an experiential education. He proves to be an essential addition to admissions by providing personal insight in many areas. He enjoys the opportunity he is given to travel and meet other counselors while participating at College Fairs. He is able to provide personalized tours and delights in sharing his positive experiences while attending Brevard as a student.

Marcus Roberson, with diploma in hand (left) now is a BC Admissions staff member.

Marcus enjoys working with prospective students and enjoys being able to help them in their admissions process. As an undergraduate student he had hoped to have a job where he would have the opportunity to work with young adults and after graduation it all fell perfectly into place. Marcus looks forward to continue working in Admissions and making Brevard College an outstanding option for all prospective students.

by Andrew Gunnin

T-Pain(s)

Weather Update

Today Nov 9		65°F
Sat Nov 10		68°
Sun Nov 11		66°

Sunny
Sunny
Partly Cloudy