

Weeklong fall break has arrived

Last week, rumors circulated that residents apart from fall athletes were required to leave campus for fall break. The athletes were concerned that the dining hall would close, while other students believed that they would be charged a steep daily fine if they chose not to travel for the week.

These rumors were false. "Students can stay. We just need to know who is staying," said Debbie D'Anna, Dean of Students. "We know the fall athletes will be here, but if other students stay we need to know that, and that's just to know who is in the buildings. It's not to assess a fine."

For those who plan to stay, brunch will be served in the caf from 10:30 a.m. until 2 p.m., and dinner will be served from 5 p.m.

until 7 p.m.

However, most residents are choosing to travel, because this fall break will last a full week instead of last year's two days. "I think we wanted to make the semesters as even as possible. We have a week-long spring break, so we have a week-long fall break," D'Anna said. "It also provides some opportunities for other learning experiences if faculty choose to do a trip over fall break. It helps people plan for those."

Students with questions or concerns are invited to visit campus life. "Just ask. That way you'll know the real answer," D'Anna said. "And have a good fall break!"

President Bush's daughter interviews McMahon

TODAY Show correspondent Jenna Bush Hager was on campus Thursday to interview Bree McMahon and her soccer teammates Lindsay Pritchard, Brittany Webster and Megan Jenkins. Hager originally interviewed Bree just after the accident four years ago in which she lost her leg.

The segment is scheduled to air on NBC's "Today" show on Thursday, Oct. 24 during the 8:30 a.m. half hour of the morning news show. The local NBC affiliate, WYFF-TV Channel 4, is carried by Comporium Cable TV, and the segment is likely to be available on the NBC News website as well.
