

Jazz Ensemble will present an evening of Glenn Miller and more

The Brevard College Jazz Ensembles will present an unforgettable evening of music made famous by Glenn Miller and other big band greats on Tuesday, April 1 in the College's Porter Center for Performing Arts. The 7:30 p.m. concert is free and open to the public.

The 18-piece student ensemble will present nostalgic performances of classic swing dance tunes such as: In The Mood, Moonlight Serenade, Pennsylvania 6-5000, Little Brown Jug, among many others with a sprinkling of Sarah Vaughn, Sammy Nestico, Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Ella Fitzgerald and even Ray Charles.

Joyce mentioned in his speech that Brevard College is currently doing many different environmental friendly actions such as recycling, banning Styrofoam, and determining the school's carbon footprint. His future plans include reducing our carbon footprint, making campus more pedestrian friendly, and making both old and new dorms energy efficient. Dr. Joyce also mentioned starting a biking program, just like he started at his previous college, to reduce the amount of driving on campus.
