

that of this, will show that the number of subscriptions gotten last year exceed those of this. Are we going to let it be said that the girls of 1909 were better workers than those of 1910? If not, let each member of the Society make an effort to procure at least one subscriber to our College paper. "Where there's a will there's a way."

In and About Town

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Sallie Allen to Mr. A. W. Perry on the evening of February 8th was a surprise to their friends here.

Miss Mary Pescud, of Brazil, spent several days in Louisburg recently as guest of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society of the Methodist Church.

Polk Miller, the well-known expressionist, and his quartette, gave a delightfully humorous entertainment in Louisburg Saturday evening, February 26th.

Mrs. T. W. Watson and Eugenia, her bright little daughter, left last week for Jacksonville, N. C., where Mr. Watson has accepted a position as cashier in the Bank of Jacksonville.

We are glad to state that Rev. L. W. Swope, pastor of the Baptist church, who has recently undergone an operation for appendicitis at St. Luke's Hospital, Richmond, Va., is improving rapidly.

Mr. David Pearce and family have moved to the old Medlin place on the Franklinton road. We are informed that Mr. J. M. Person has purchased the residence formerly occupied by Mr. Pearce.

The following officers were elected at the recent meeting of the directors of the Farmers and Merchants Bank: Mr. C. B. Cheatam, President; Mr. F. N. Egerton, Vice-President; Mr. R. Y. McAden, Cashier, and Mrs. M. S. Clifton, Book-keeper.

The Woman's Home Mission Society held a "Valentine Birthday Reception" at the Methodist parsonage. The occasion was very enjoyable, and as they very judiciously invited those supposed to have had a large number of birthdays, the proceeds were very gratifying.

According to the Trinity Chronicle, the Ben Greet players are to be in Durham, May 19th. They will give two performances on Trinity campus—"Midsummer Night's Dream" and "As You Like It." They have chosen a beautiful place to play, and they are well worth seeing even by those not interested in Shakespeare.

The announcement of the death of Dr. Frederick Kingsbury Cooke on the morning of February 8th brought sorrow to every home in Louisburg. He was a talented physician and a graduate of Tulane University, New Orleans. After his graduation he was made Dean of the Medical Department of Wake Forest College, which position he filled several years. He never practiced his profession in Louisburg, but his memory will be cherished here, because this was his home. He was tenderly laid to rest by the side of his only sister, whose sad death, just as she entered into womanhood, occurred three years ago.

Alumnae Department

Mrs. T. A. Cooper, of Rocky Mount, spent several days recently with her sister, Mrs. Burt.

Miss Lucy Jones, who is teaching at Stem, renewed her subscription to the Echoes, and also sent $1.00 for the Building Fund.

Mrs. F. A. Mooring (Ida Ellis) has given the name, Thomas Mooring, Jr., to her infant. Have not heard what name Mrs. Cecil Guthrie (Bettie Midgett) has given hers.

Miss Mattie Young (class of '01), and an elocution teacher for a short while here, spent several days at the College recently. She was here to aid the North Carolina Conference Quartette, and we enjoyed very much having her with us again.

BUILDING NOTES.

Miss Siddle B. Green, of Franklinton, N. C., of the class of —, sent $1.50 to the Building Fund a few days ago and renewed her subscription to Echoes.

Mrs. Eliza Green Joyner has also asked that Echoes be sent her another year.

Waco, Texas, Jan. 28, 1910.

Miss Cora D. Bagley, Louisburg, N. C.

My Dear Miss Bagley:—Please accept this small donation to the M. S. Davis Memorial Building, and I regret exceedingly that I cannot feel justified in doing more, as my love for the memory of Mr. Davis and the high esteem in which I hold Louisburg and her people prompts me to do.

Wishing you the greatest success, I am,
Yours truly,
M. R. CLIFTON.

THE COLLEGE WORLD.

It is announced that Harvard will have a chair for play-writing.

The name of the Woman's College at Baltimore has recently been changed to Goucher College—named after its founder and former President.

A bequest of $10,000 for educating young men for the ministry was left by J. C. Roberts, who died recently at Kernersville.

One million dollars has been set aside by the trustees of the Peabody Fund for the establishment of the George Peabody College for teachers at Nashville, Tenn.

The rule of nearly two hundred years has been broken by selecting Mrs. Williamina Faton Fleming as one of the Harvard instructors. She appears in the catalogue as Curator of Astronomical Photographs.

The report of the President of Wake Forest College to the Baptist State Convention in December showed that collections on the Endowment Fund of Wake Forest during the Conventional year amounted to $14,145.25.

The trustees of the Rhodes scholarships have issued a statement showing that one hundred and seventy-nine men were recipients of Rhodes' honors last year. Of this number, ninety were from the United States.

No text-books are used in economics at Dartmouth this year. Instead, the class has been asked to subscribe for the New York Post, and to read the paper thoroughly in order to discuss economic questions in class.

In reply to a request for a characterization, the following, which is a tribute to a former teacher, was handed in by Nora McSwain:

One bright afternoon last spring, while passing the door of the back parlor, I heard the sound of low, sweet music. Tapping on the door, I was answered by a gentle voice, saying, "Come in." On entering, I saw a motherly, white-haired woman, dressed in black, seated at the piano. Behind her was a window filled with flowers; she loved them as she did her music, and devoted all her leisure time to her garden and her potted plants.

She was also very fond of children, and did all that was in her power to make everything interesting and amusing while they were near her. Every one she met was greeted with a smile and a pleasant word, and so I knew I was welcome when I heard the cheery, "Come in!"

M. B. K., while practicing the senior play, insisted upon pronouncing the "h" in herb. Miss D. corrected her and gave the correct pronounciation, whereupon M. B. K. remarked: "Oh, I copied it down wrong, I guess; I took down h-e-r-b."
