STUDENT PRIVILEGES

Why can't the girls in school have more privileges? Why can't they enjoy the college life to the fullest extent instead of making it seem like a prison camp? Youth must respond to its impulses. It must have its fling. The flower of youth which we look for most in the fairer sex, if imprisoned must die. In this school the girls must go to their room at the sound of the 7 o'clock bell while at other schools they have until 10 o'clock. If they should like to go to a picture show, why can't they go without being chaperoned by some teacher. Boys in this school can do almost anything, but let the girls ride down town with the President without permission and right then and there they are camped. For seeing five minutes pleasure they must pay with three weeks campus or restriction. Why can't the faculty be more considerate of such cases?

HELP KEEP THE FIVE CENT DOPE

Now that the price of Coca Cola is back at the old price of 5 cents per. Let's all try to do our part in keeping the price at this level. In the sale of bottled drinks, the retailer is required to deposit 50 cts on each case of 24 bottles. If the bottles are returned the deposit is refunded, but if the bottles are lost then the dealer is losing money on the sales. We cannot expect to secure a drink if it is causing the dealer to lose money. for no business firm can remain open if the said business firm checks up short of expenses at the end of the month. Let's all show the "Old Louisburg Spirit" and aid in keeping the price range in reach of all who care for a bottle of pop.

LOUISBURG, LET'S GO PUGILISTIC

Can we let it be said that Louisburg is without one of the best sports in scholastic circles. We have material, equipment and a place to stage fights. What are we waiting for? Tom Hoskins, Eastern High School Champion of North Carolina, and Mutt Nelson, heavy weight champ at Fort Bragg, are listed among the best in their class, and we have a wealth of material in the lesser weight. "Tiny" Taylor versus "Midget" Shelton should be one of our best attractions. All we are asking is the support of the student body. Let it be known by talking it about the Campus if you want a Boxing team. Give us your support. when football is gone.

Shake-up In The College Library

The Library has gotten off to a good start, (after so long a time). No longer do we find it hard to get service or to have silence. However, it seems that the Library officials have gone one up on other colleges and universities and have dropped the honor system from Library attendance. A special representative of Lo' Co', by careful observation one day last week, saw the new "we-search-you" system tried out.

In every instance the students were shocked to find this idea of "we can't trust you" being tried out. Several campus leaders have expressed the idea that this is very bad psychology. students will react in no unbecoming way.

"You trust me and I play fair with you. If not—O. K."

Please be reminded readers, The Lo' Co' stands 100 per cent for the Library and its work, especially the silence and service of the present. But don't go too far with the service.

Chapel Chats

Dr. A. D. Wilcox gave his weekly address to the students of Louisburg College Monday Oct. 2. He spoke on the lack of intelligence and knowledge in college students. He bewailed the fact that this was partly the fault of the college and teachers. He spoke of the meeting of college presidents and professors recently where a paper was read about a series of tests given to college students. Figures show, he stated, that the average freshman is smarter than the average senior, junior or soph. Why this is so, he said, cannot be explained, but it is the truth.

In four years the senior learns around five new words which words were bought and paid for at a great price. Then he went on to point out the opposite extreme; the increase in intelligence of man followed by a corresponding decrease in the moral standard of men.

Chapel, Thursday, Nov. 15, was conducted by Miss Stipes who made a talk on Friendship. Then Miss Bruns sang "The Publican."

K. E. A. Holds Weekly Meeting

The meeting was called to order by Pledgemaster Bullock. Roll was called by Bill Clark with Doc Bray presiding. This meeting consisted chiefly of learning the rules and tests afterwards. Pledges who failed were massaged gently with a paddle. Each pledge was given at least three chances to say the rules and requirements, if he failed he had to spend an hour from two to three o'clock with Doc Bray to learn the rules. Those present were Pledgemaster Bullock, Bray presiding officer, Belanga, Smith, Hodges, Bracy, Hoskins, Early, Tucker, Clarke, Jenkins, Steptoe, West, Taylor, Shelton. The meeting closed with more massaging of the pledges.

In expecting a Republican triumph, Harpo must have been as optimistic as the woman who opened a gift shop in Scotland.

The class motto of a recent graduation class at Harvard was: "Each generation achieves it's own damnation."

And Another Thing Organization Of The Y. W. C. A.

Another thing I can't understand is why everybody's imagination runs wild when a couple comes out from some secluded place—of course, I admit they always have that guilty look, but is that a cause to condemn them of anything the imagination happens to include????? Certainly not!! Always give the couple the well-known "benefit of the doubt". "No, no, a thousand times no! There must be a little gossip by the fem. parties and the poor girl of the condemned couple must put up a fight with every boy she dates from that time until way in the far-off future and then a lone one straggles up, having never forgotten the horrible crime committed in the pre-historic times, and Little gal again goes to war. Now my critical public, what do you think of this daring editorial????? One can see that this naturally makes the younger generation down on the world—Tain't no Justice—Boys, remember this and please use discretion on an after-date. And you catty gals keep your mouths shut tighter than you ever thought you could. If there is any wrong in decent dancing, I want to know what it is? Why was dancing ever started, and in the best of families too. —Nertz.

The Y. W. C. A. was late in getting a start this year due to the fact that there were several vacancies in the Cabinet because two of the officers elected last year failed to return. A house-meeting of the old girls was called Thursday night, Nov. 8, to fill these vacancies. The meeting was presided over by Virginia Pope, Vice-President of the Student Council, who explained the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. of Louisburg College. The 1934-35 cabinet is composed of the following members:

- President ..... Mary Ethel Winn
- Vice-President ..... Mary Virginia Shearon
- Treasurer ..... Virginia Pope

The girls will be called together soon to complete the organization and to discuss the plans for the coming year. All girls are invited to join in order to make the Y. W. an important factor in the life of the school.

The election of Agnes Godfrey as Senior representative to the Student Council completed the business before the meeting.

Many of the students of Louisburg College were pleased with the Liquid Air demonstration at the high school last week. I don't know whether they went to see the demonstration or to get out of classes but it was well worth the money invested by each person present.

It Is Said That—

The "other boys" will have a chance after W. T. has tired of the available "dates" in school. Here's hoping.

That the love bug is working on "Red on the Head" since his trip to Buie's Creek. Look out girls he's a Don Juan in disguise.

That Steptoe got sucked in at Campbell too. And after the warning that Miss Stipe gave us about the country girls too.

That Max has played every position that the Louisburg football team has to offer including left end on the bench. May we suggest that he try Princeton for a larger field.

That Early is the guy who is making all those funny noises every nite up in Miss Bruns studio. Cut it out Floyd. It's killing us.

THREE ROADS

Three roads there are to paradise That hidden lie from human eyes; The road of Faith that runs afar From failing vision's guiding star; The road of Hope, broad and fair That anyone may journey there; The road of Love, whate'er befall, The surest thoroughfare of all. These roads are never far apart, And each is in the human heart. —Anon.

What the average girl wants is a strong, inflexible man who can be wrapped around her finger.

CHEERFULNESS IS CATCHING

On a declining day in November a man came down the steps of his house discouraged, dreading to go to his business. From the street a voice called out, "Hello, neighbor! It's a great day!"

The man looked up, observed that the sun was shining brightly and there were flowers blooming in the gardens along the street. "Yes," he answered, a little more cheerfully, "it is a great day."

The man entered his office and said to his stenographer, "It's a great day." She looked up and smiled. He went to lunch, then back to his office, later to his home. There he said to his wife, "This has been a great day. Things I thought were against me have turned for the better." And her face beamed with happiness.

"Ne'er again such bliss, As love's first kiss."
