Hoyle Is Senior Class President

HODGES HEADS JUNIORS

At a recent meeting the various classes organized and selected officers. The Senior Class was very fortunate in securing such an able leader as they selected. The honor and responsibility of leading his class through its last year in school went to the president of last year's Junior Class, Mr. Fred Hoyle. His ability plus his experience of last year makes him a leader of which his class can justly be proud.

Ruth Jenkins was elected vice-president, Virginia Siler Sec.-Treas. and B. B. Bray Faculty Advisor.

In a hot election Al Hodges, the man with the big bass voice, was elected vice-president of the Junior Class. Mamie Beam and Elizabeth Shaw were elected vice-pres. and Secretary. Miss Bruns Class sponsor.

George Womble and Tom Hoskins were elected President and Vice-President of the High School department. Jack Lane Sec. Miss Peyatt class sponsor.

The Business Department will hold its election at a later date.

Sing Sing Star Ends His Career

Edward Collins Pitts, the greatest athlete ever turned out by this exclusive academy, sat on the senior fence tonight and pondered over the future.

Edward—who is known to the world outside as Alabama Pitts—played his last foot-ball game for his alma mater today. Next June 4, he will be graduated summa cum laude, with a ten dollar suit and with five bucks in cash.

He will come out the most famous jail bird athlete in America. In the cool quiet of the institution, surrounded by its tall spiked walls he reflected rather sadly upon the reputation he had acquired.

"I'd kinda like to shuck off this Alabama name," he admitted. "I'd like to be just plain Edward Collins."

It was no outpouring of modesty. Alabama Pitts is a shy young man, tall and blondish, with steady gray eyes. He is Sing Sing's model job-all-time, all-round, all-American, all-everything. He will leave here with a reputation but he'd much rather leave the reputation.

Said one little chick with
A funny little squirm
"I wish I could find a nice
Little worm."
Said another little chick
With a queer little shrug
"I wish I could find a nice Little bug."

"Look here," said the mother
From a green garden patch,
"If you want any breakfast,
Get busy and scratch."

"Adam and Eve" FIRST PLAYERS' PRESENTN

On the night of November 23 the Louisburg Players of 1934 made their debut. The comedy "Adam and Eve" was presented as the first of a series planned by the club for this year. The entire cast, Miss Peyatt, and all those connected with the play worked in such a manner that this may be said to be by far the best production given in the school in the past four years.

While the entire cast performed creditably, the orchids must go to Louise Browne for her splendid portrayal of the character "Eve", the sweet, lovable, but none the less level-headed and business-like niece of the Armstrongs. Miss Browne played the part to perfection and had the audience on her side from the start. We are anxious to see that little girl in another play real soon.

Buck Holder as the dashing young author, and the object of two girls' matrimonial plans, was fine. He truly made the character of Adam part of himself.

Ned was better as the earnest young business man than as the idle son of wealth. Nell was spoiled Agneen as haughty and Stuart as grouchy as you would expect the Armstrongs to be. Wilmina was right as the secretary that married the boss' son, and no one would want a better maid than Lucille.

Miss Peyatt deserves much credit for the work she did in making his truly a good production.

Who best serves the devil doesn't

Scratch people where they itch."

Who's Who

Folks, the girl who gets the call for this week, is none other than that star of the stage, Louise Browne. Just nineteen years ago the 26th of last month Miss Browne was born in the thriving business metropolis of Hollister, N. C. By the way, that happened to be on Thanksgiving day. I should say we are! Aurelian Springs High School was the scene of her early triumphs, for it was there that she developed those dramatic talents. She graduated in 1933 and the fall of that year found her a student at dear old L. C. She appeared in several dramatic productions last year and at the close of the term was elected president of the Players for this year.

Miss Browne's winning personality has won her a host of friends who will never forget that charming smile or sweet disposition. Louise is a pledge to the Sigma Iota Chi sorority.

Students Stage Scavenger Hunt

In one of the most delightful social activities of the fall, the students of L. C. Staged a "Scavenger Hunt" on the night of Nov. 17. It was not announced officially but many of the students had been led to believe that it was staged to celebrate Harpo's 18th (?) (?) (?) birthday.

The hunt led to all parts of the campus, and to all nooks of the buildings and Jeff and a few other guys took trips to the water fountain to see what they could find. Others found business in the history room and other dark spots of the basement. It was the first time of the year that such trips have been legal at night and the students enjoyed them very much.

John K. Davis and his group were the lucky ones and as a reward they were presented with a nice box of Whitman's chocolates which Major Boddie was kind enough to give.

Miss Stipe deserves a lot of credit for her work in arranging the social activities for the students and we must not fail to thank Miss Carolyn Whitley, who did a lot of hard work in making out the list of articles that were to be found by the various groups. Miss Whitley made the statement that Harpo railroaded her into the job but I think she was very happy during the entire festivities.

Alumni Notes

Robert Whitley '33, is a student at Duke. This is his second year there.

Miss Virginia Norman '34, stopped by Wednesday, Nov. 29, to visit awhile.

Mary Wheelless '32, is now working for the Imperial Theater in Rocky Mount.

We hear that Bruce Cubbreth and Brog Spence are doing their part in the Carolina Band this year.

Elbert Burgess '34, brought Marjorie back after the holidays and stayed a short time to see old friends.

Herbert West '32, spent a part of the Thanksgiving holidays here with some of the boys who didn't go home.

David Lewis is taking advantage of that government institution, the C C C, to make some money this year.

One of the fair co-eds reports that she saw Kenneth Edwards in Durham the other day. "Old Lady" Waverly and the two Edwards boys are true Carolina fans now.

Thanksgiving Banquet Enjoyed By Students

The most enjoyable occasion of the season was the Thanksgiving banquet which was held on last Tuesday evening in the College dining hall. The room was beautifully decorated, and an appropriate color scheme was carried out which gave a very effective background.

During the evening the guests were entertained by various members of the student body and faculty. A toast to the students and faculty members was given by Fred Hoyle, president of the Junior class, which was very unique and original in style. Following this the "Harmony Boys," assisted by the student body, rendered two numbers, namely: "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," and "In the Evening by the Moonlight." After this Al Hodges rendered two vocal numbers. He was accompanied by Mr. Hart on the piano.

Perhaps the most enjoyable form of entertainment for the evening were the readings that were presented by Miss Virginia Peyatt. After the readings a song by the students was rendered to Dr. Wilcox, after which he said a few words to the students.

The banquet was then adjourned to the social hall where many forms of entertainment were carried out. The acts included: songs, by Al Hodges; A reading by Nell Davis; and torch singing by Kitty Bucham.

The festivities lasted until 10:30 when the bell announced an end to the fun making.

The banquet was enjoyed by all present and those few who missed it have our sympathy for you know such things only happen once a year and its a real treat for all.

Y's Meet Jointly

A joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. was held Monday, November 26. The purpose of this meeting was to show each organization how the other was run. It was also to bring the two associations closer together in their relationship with one another. This was the first meeting held this year as the Y. W. C. A. was only recently organized.

The meeting was opened by the president of the Y. M. C. A. who was acting as host. Devotional was held and several songs were sung. Edith Edmondson was the pianist. The president of the Y. W. C. A. made a short address welcoming the Y. W. C. A. and expressed the hope that the two organizations would have close and friendly relations with each other. The Vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., Virginia Seaton acting in place of the president, responded telling of the work of the Y. W. C. A. Then Fitzgerald made a short talk on the work of the two organizations and what could be accomplished by the two.

Boland and Gibson Important Factors

A well-coached, fast but light, Elizabeth City today and entered the field as the underdog in their struggle with the Elizabeth City Cardinals, but before the first period was over all fans present had decided that the Cardinals were the underdogs and before the game was over the Cardinals had been crushed by a score of 37 to 0. The largest score handed the Cardinals since they were organized three years ago.

The only threat that the Cardinals presented during the opening minutes of play was when they carried the ball to the Trojans' 20 yard stripe where they were held for downs. From this point the Trojans carried the ball 80 yards to the first score of the day. Every man did his part and on every play the Cardinals' line was gapping with holes big enough to drive an ox-cart through. On the line there were no outstanding stars as every man tried to out-play the other. In the backfield, Boland, Gibson, and Weldon ran wild. Through the line, around ends and receiving passes. This though was innumerable. Led by perfect interference two touchdowns was the quota for each.

First Quarter

The Cardinals kicked off to the Trojans and it was run out to the 20. The Trojans began a determined drive that advanced the ball 80 yards for a touchdown without losing the ball. Gibson carried it over for a touchdown. Score—6-0. The second six pointer came after 6 line smashes had advanced the ball the length of the field. Weldon scoring the point. The extra point was wide of the mark. Score—12-0. The rest of the quarter was spent in an exchange of punts with the Trojans having the advantage. The quarter ended with the ball on the Cardinal 15 yard line in Trojan possession.

Second Quarter

A penalty on The Cardinals advanced the ball to the ten yard line to open the second quarter. On four line bucks Gibson carried it over for a touchdown. Making the score 18-0. Hughes returned Weldon's kickoff to the 50 yard line. Two line plays failed to gain and two passes were batted down by the Trojans and they took the ball. Weldon passed to MacFayden who made a wonderful catch of it for a total gain of 25 yards. On the second play Weldon carried it over the last stripe. Weldon added the extra point making the score 25-0. Cardinals returned the Trojan's kickoff to their own 25. Welch picked up 5 through the line and Wakefield ran through the Trojan team for 35 yards and a first down. This was the Cardinals' first down. This ended the first half with the Trojans leading 25-0.

Third Quarter

The Cardinals returned Weldon's kickoff to their 30. After failing to gain in 3 tries Welch
