FBLA SPONSORS LEAP YEAR DANCE

An informal leap year dance, sponsored by the FBLA chapter at Louisburg College on Saturday evening, March 10, gave opportunity for fun and frolic to all students of the college.

Amid spring flowers and appropriate leap year mobiles hung from overhead in the social hall, the dance committee members, under the direction of Peggy Holt and Myrna Kay Bell, co-chairmen, assisted by Elizabeth Swindell, vice-president and Bill Faucette, president of the chapter, conducted contests of various kinds.

The gentlemen wore lovely corsages, made by the ladies who escorted them. Wearing the winning corsage was Swayn Hamlet, escorted by Betty Jean Coile. Swayn's corsage was made up of trophies of all sorts collected by Betty Jean — a ticket to the state fair, movie stubs, a Christmas candy cane in a tiny stocking, and other items of varying denominations.

Winners of the dance contest were Noah Sadler and Jean Jackson, who were crowned "Mr. and Miss Leap Year."

Cold drinks and cookies were served. For those with a sweeter tooth, candy was sold.

Others who helped with arrangements and serving were: Annette Hart, Mary Leigh Hart, Nancy Flow, Mona Harris, Janice Fisher, Mrs. Parks and Miss Russell.

Judges for the contests were Mrs. Parks, Miss Russell, and Mrs. Pleasants.

As another of its projects, the chapter recently presented a chapel program, the climax of which was a play entitled "Help Wanted" based on the play "Wanted," written by Mrs. L. S. Larabee, Central High School, Nashville, Tennessee.

Using "The Typewriter Song" as background, the following chapter members gave a good presentation of the improper and proper ways of applying for a job: Bobby Gris-

Six LC Students Attend Methodist Vocations Conference

Six Louisburg Students, Connie Taylor, Joyce Parrish, Peggy Holt, Pat Carlton, Joe Laden and Francis Rhody, attended the Church Vocations Conference conducted February 18-19 at the University Methodist Church in Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

The conference was attended by over 100 students from colleges and universities in the state. The purpose of this conference was to give guidance to the college students who are planning to enter full-time Christian work. The major Christian vocations were discussed in the following six interest groups: hospitals, homes, and social agencies; ministry and chaplaincy; missions—home and foreign; publications and communications; teaching, counseling, student work, administration of educational institutions; and Christian education and deaconess work.

Other inspirational services besides the interest groups were the Saturday evening worship service led by Dr. W. L. Clegg, District Superintendent, Durham District; the Sunday morning devotional service led by Rev. Paul Yount, Secretary in Missionary Personnel; and the Sunday morning worship service led by Rev. Charles Hubbard, pastor of the University Methodist Church.

The Junior Class of Louisburg College held its annual Valentine's Dance on February 11, 1956, in the Main Building of the college.

Upon entering the dance hall, one beheld the beauty of the Queen of Hearts Throne at the far end of the hall. A white throne sprinkled with red hearts rested upon a green carpet. The French doors, at the entrance of the hall, were encased with a beautiful white trellis entwined with green ivy. The lamp shades were covered with red crepe paper which gave a Japanese Lantern effect.

During intermission the candidates for Queen of Hearts were presented as follows: Charlene Fox escorted by Craig Reid, Rose Manning with Bill Varker, Mary Leigh Hart with Ed Woodhouse, Jean Jackson with Merle Harris, Vera Wright with Gary Lloyd. Rose Manning was crowned Queen by Dr. Robbins, president of Louisburg College. After the crowning of the Queen, a closed dance was held in honor of the Queen in which only the candidates participated. Refreshments of lime punch, cheese straws and candy hearts were served during intermission.

The girls in their party dresses and the boys in their dress suits danced to the orchestras of Benny Goodman, Stan Kenton, Ralph Marterie and Billy Mays—all on wax.

SIX TOWNS WANT LOUISBURG COLLEGE; OFFER MONEY, LAND

Committee Appointed To Inspect Towns

On Tuesday, March 13, 1956, a meeting was held in Durham with the Bishop of the North Carolina Methodist Conference and representatives of the six towns that desire to have Louisburg College located in their respective towns. The six towns represented at the meeting were Fayetteville, Lumberton, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Wilmington, and Louisburg. All except Louisburg offered from one million to almost three million dollars plus land grants to locate a four-year coed college in their town.

The Louisburg delegation, made up of Judge Hamilton Hobgood, Lawyers Lumpkin, and Jolly, and Hill Yarborough and Ed Yarborough spoke in favor of making Louisburg College, which is located in Louisburg, North Carolina, a four year school on the present site and pledged that Franklin County would back the school one hundred percent. A Franklin County Committee has been set up for obtaining additional land and financial support from this area.

A committee was appointed to inspect the six towns making bids on Louisburg College, in regards to what each town has to offer as tentative college sites. One town has offered as much as 200 acres, plus town facilities, it was reported.

This committee is to make a report to the conference Long Range Planning Committee on March 27, 1956. They in turn will make a recommendation to the North Carolina Methodist Conference in regards to the findings.

No decision has been made yet, and probably will not be made in the immediate future.

Jean Jackson Is Elected Queen of May

The May Court for 1956 was elected by the Louisburg College student body on March 7, and was announced that evening by the election committee.

The Queen is Jean Jackson, Popular Branch; Maid of Honor is Rose Manning, Middlesex; members of the court are Mary Leigh Hart, Oxford; Charlene Fox, Cary; Annette Hart, Oxford; Elizabeth Swindell, Elizabeth City; Nancy Flow, Louisburg, Sherlon Harrell, Raleigh; Barbara Bunn, Louisburg and Sara Faucette, Oxford.

These girls are to choose their escorts who will be presented with them during the May Day Dance.

Rabbi F. I. Rypins Visits LC Campus

February 28 and 29 were two very significant days at Louisburg College for many of the students who had the privilege of meeting and talking to Rabbi Frederick I. Rypins. This gracious gentleman who is the Rabbi of the Temple Emmanuel in Greensboro represented the Jewish Chautauqua Society at the college on these two days.

Rabbi Rypins' activities during his visit consisted of a talk in chapel Tuesday, February 28, on American Brotherhood and many informal discussions in the classrooms. The meaning of the present day Jewish religion was the topic of discussion in Old Testament classes. The Rabbi presented the students in the New Testament classes a great deal of helpful information on the Jewish background for New Testament study. Other inspiring discussions were led by Rabbi Rypins in the European and American History classes and in the American Government class.

Twenty-Four Hour Prayer Vigil Held

The World Day of Prayer is traditionally observed by a twenty-four hour prayer vigil.

The students silently and reverently slipped into the Little Chapel at midnight on Thursday, February 16, to begin an around-the-clock prayer vigil with the partaking of the Lord's Supper. Rev. Geo. W. Blount, pastor of Louisburg Methodist Church and college chaplain, directed the service. Dr. C. W. Robbins, president of the college, assisted.

To keep the chain from being broken, students volunteered to pray in the chapel at a certain time for one half an hour.

Rev. Wade Goldston closed the vigil on Friday at 11:30 p.m. with an inspiring message on "Three Ways of Co-operating with Christ."

Patient: $5 is an awful lot of money for pulling a tooth — two seconds work.

Dentist: Well, if you wish, I can pull it slowly.
