Double Standard Abolished At LC

Cries of joy and excitement filled the College air Tuesday, November 15, when a women's council meeting was held and the sophomore girls found out that they could have cars on campus. This privilege starts when we return from Thanksgiving. Dean Patterson made the announcement at the meeting. "This is something new we're going to try for a while," said the Dean.

The girls will have to keep the same rules they have always had, and they will also have to follow the same rules that the boys do about keeping the cars here. The girls must have a "C" average and may not permit anyone to drive the car except themselves unless the other person is the sole passenger. The girls have to have permission from their parents to bring the car to Louisburg and must pay the fee the same as the boys do when they register the car.

Dr. Herring Scholarship Established

The Louisburg College Board of Trustees meeting recently set up a scholarship in memory of Dr. Herbert J. Herring of Durham, who had served as a member of the Board since 1952.

The scholarship will be known as the Herbert James Herring Memorial Scholarship and will cover full tuition. It was established in appreciation of Dr. Herring's service both as a Trustee and as a General Consultant to the College.

John W. Scott, Professor in the Law School at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was elected a Trustee of the College.

The Board authorized the appointment of a special committee to implement long-range plans already made by the College.

Winter Dance Tops Social Life

The annual Winter Dance was held on December 10, one week prior to the start of Christmas vacation. Dress was semi-formal.

The combo playing for the occasion was supposed to be the Sultans Seven from Johnson City, Tennessee. This group, which is not well known in the Louisburg area, specializes in exotic costumes rather than in music. However, at the last minute The Magnificents, who emphasize music, were substituted.

Jim Barnes, president of the Sophomore Class, formed five committees to aid in preparations. The committees and the head of each committee are as follows:

Decorations - Stewart Hobbs
Band - Jim Simmons
Publicity - Scot Cameron
Refreshments - Bonnie Turn-

age
Tickets - Vic Creech
Dr. and Mrs. Smith were advisors to these committees. A large turnout was expected for the Winter Dance, one of the main social events of the year. Cars could be brought from home, according to Dean Patterson.

No More Purple!

The changing of the colors of Louisburg College from lavender and white to navy blue and white was made official by the unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees, which followed the approval of the student body. The change had been mentioned from time to time in the past, but nothing concrete was done until the fall of this year.

During the summer it was decided to offer school blazers to the students. Naturally a purple blazer with a white school emblem, in accord with the stipulated school colors, would not go over very well with the student body. Thus, it was decided the blazers would be navy blue and white. Following this, Dean Patterson was informed by Coach Frazier that the new baseball uniforms from last year were also blue and white. At this, the drive began to change the school colors.

Coach Frazier checked the official colors of the other schools in our Conference and found that the colors of navy blue and white were not being
