PAUL ANKA

Paul Anka To Appear

On October 21, Paul Anka will appear at the Louisburg College Auditorium. The students will be privileged to hear Paul Anka, as he will only appear at one other junior college in North Carolina this year.

Mr. Anka's career began with his first recording, "Diana," which sold over eleven million copies in the United States and similar fame in more than twenty foreign countries. This was the beginning of his more famous career. Among Anka's fifteen Gold Records are "Lonely Boy," "Put your Head on My Shoulder," "Time to Cry," and "Crazy Love." These songs were written by Mr. Anka and he has recorded in French, Italian, German, Spanish, as well as in English.

Mr. Anka has composed music for such major television programs as Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show" and "International Showtime." He has appeared on The Red Skelton Show, The Dean Martin Show, Hollywood Palace, and Spotlight.

Paul Anka's supperclub dates include the Fontainebleau Hotel in Miami Beach, the Cocoanut Grove in Los Angeles, and the Cave in Vancouver, British Columbia. He has appeared often in New York's famed Copacabana, for which he composed a complete musical production. He has continued to provide the Copa with original music.

Critics compare Paul Anka favorably with such great entertainers as Frank Sinatra and Sammy Davis.

Between his commitments, Anka records for RCA Victor here and abroad.

Vacation Anyone?

Well, kids, here we go for our first vacation. Excited? Me, too! I can't wait to get home and see my cat! Just think---a long weekend. Sounds heavenly, huh? The 17th of October sure will come slowly, I bet. Wonder how many classes will be cut that Thursday? You can bet your bottom dollar it'll be most of 'em. From what I understand we're having a big meeting on campus that weekend, and considering the number of students we have, there's

On October 28-29, by way of the $1,800 grant received from the S & H Foundation, Louisburg College will present its second lecture in a series of four. Dr. George D. Kelsey, Professor of Christian Ethics in the Theological School and Graduate School of Drew University, Madison, New Jersey, will be the visiting lecturer. Dr. Kelsey has earned three degrees: a B.A. from Morehouse College, a B. D. from Andover Newton Theological School, and a Ph. D. from Yale University. In addition to the institutions already named, he has also studied at Harvard University and the London School of Economics and Political Science.

Dr. Kelsey was ordained as a Baptist minister in Atlanta, Georgia, and began his teaching career in that same city as a faculty member of Morehouse College. There he served as Professor of Religion and Philosophy from 1938 to 1945 and as Director of the School of Religion from 1945 to 1948. It was during this time that he also served as visiting professor in the Gammon Theological Seminary. Prior to becoming a member of the faculty of Drew University, he was Associate Secretary in the field department of the Federal

Council of Churches and held the same position in the National Council of Churches. The author of Racism and the Christian Understanding of Man, Dr. Kelsey is a member of the senior panel of the Board of the Morris County Urban League in New Jersey, the Committee of Southern Churchmen, the Society of Religion in Higher Education, the Association of Professors of Christian Ethics, and the Alumni Council of the Yale Divinity School.

The topics of the two lectures which Dr. Kelsey will present in the Louisburg College Auditorium will be "Christians as Citizens" and "The College's Role in Promoting Harmony in Human Relations." Louisburg College is indeed fortunate to host such an outstanding man as Dr. Kelsey.

just no way to accommodate everybody, especially at mealtime.

And, too, it's the semester break, so make those final test grades good, kids. Most of the professors will try to get a few more grades in, so be prepared by all means! Just think---you can even bring your winter clothes back with you and be warm for a change! Those ole' radiators won't get the best of you then, will they?

So, go home and enjoy your vacation and hurry back on Sunday so you can start counting the days before Thanksgiving Holidays.
