I do my thing, and you do your thing.

I am not in this world to live up to your expectations

And you are not in this world to live up to mine.

You are you and I am I,

And if by chance we find each other, it's beautiful.

An Open Letter Of Thanks To The SGA

With the first semester of this school year nearly over, as a concerned L.C. student, I would like to take the time to stop and thank each and every member of the reigning SGA officials. (I would like to do it in person rather than by open letter, but for some reason, no doubt my own fault, I can never seem to find you when you're working. I see you often when you're playing around on front campus but never in your office.)

Your achievements so far this year are too numerous for me to mention (besides, I forget most of them). I will, however, attempt, humbly, to highlight them.

1. At Homecoming the student body will be treated to the soothing, blue-eyed soul of "Bill Deal and the Rondells" (If their name is spelt wrong, forgive me, but I've never heard of them before.)

2. Shortly, refrigerators will be placed in the dorm rooms. (If the students can afford them.)

3. Telephones are being offered to the students. (Again for a nominal fee.)

4. Lastly and most importantly, after the rapid flood of new (more liberal) rules pushed through by the last administration, you have adopted (wisely, no doubt) a type of setback-Fabian campaign by which you are achieving (slowly and again wisely) your own goals. (Whatever they are.)

Again I say to you the SGA (from the bottom of my heart), "thanks and God bless you, each and every one."

In Germany They First Came...

"In Germany they first came for the Communists and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a Communist. Then they came for the Jews, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a Jew. Then they came for the trade unionists and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a trade unionist. Then they came for the Catholics, and I didn't speak up because I was a Protestant. Then they came for me and by that time no one was left to speak up."
