

COLUMNS

VOL. XXXIII

LOUISBURG COLLEGE, LOUISBURG, N. C.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1973 No. 3

Pure Prairie League

Pure Prairie League Kicks Off Homecoming

Homecoming festivities at Louisburg College take place November 16, 17, and 18 this year with a full schedule of events planned.

The activities begin with Pure Prairie League in concert Friday, November 18, 8:00 p. m. in the College Auditorium. The group, from Ontario, features George Powell, composer, singer, and guitar man; Craig Fuller, composer and guitar man; and Billy Hinds, drummer. Pure Prairie League was formed by Powell and Fuller several years ago. They made their debut album on RCA Records. The group's second album, "Bustin' Out", is an excellent example of their musical talents—a country band, with the sophistication of electronics and abilities in an un-circumscribed range of music.

The concert, sponsored by the SGA, is free to all Louisburg College students with their ID's; all others will be admitted at $1.50.

Saturday, November 17, will be packed full of action. The Louisburg "Blue Goose" rugby club will meet the rugby team of UNC Saturday afternoon at the Louisburg High School football field. Such stars as Wally Ashburn, Winn Graham, Willy Wise, Tim Machia, and Mike Leonard will be displaying their talents. The traditional after-party will follow the game.

The Alumni Association has planned special reunions for the classes of 1968 and 1963. Upon arrival, the alumni will register in the Main Building and will be assigned meeting places according to their class. Lunch in the cafeteria will follow. All alumni are invited to the basketball game Saturday night at 7:30 in Holton Gymnasium.

The highlight of Homecoming weekend will be the contest between the Louisburg College Hurricanes and the basketball team of Mitchell College. The Canes boast such talent as Honorable Mention All-American Russell Davis, along with returning sophomores Howard Ray, Dean Reavis, Danny Davis, and Mike Dement, coupled with the abilities of an exceptionally strong freshman squad.

During the half-time of the game, the announcement of the 1973 Homecoming Queen will be made. Last year's queen, Miss Jeanne Turnage, will crown the new queen.

Following the game, the action will move to the cafeteria for the SGA sponsored Homecoming dance. The "Mainmen" will provide the music for the dance, which will begin promptly at 9:30 p. m.

The final phase of the weekend will be the presentation of the movie Woodstock in the College Auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Sunday night. Louisburg students will be admitted free with their ID cards.

Board Votes to Restore Academy

The Louisburg College Board of Visitors, at its Fall Meeting held on October 17, voted to proceed with the restoration of the Franklin Academy Building as soon as possible. The building, which stands behind the present AC building, was erected in 1804. The exterior was restored several years ago.

With over $17,000 in cash and pledges on the $28,000 project, a special committee of the Board was authorized to push this project forward.

Members of this special committee are J. R. Moore, Jr. of Raleigh, chairman; Jackson Dean of Louisburg, Paul Barringer of Weldon, William C. Vick of Raleigh, Joe Newsome of Littleton, and Charles Davis of Louisburg.

In a meeting presided over by Paul Barringer, the group heard reports from President Cecil Robbins and Becky Burnette and Glenn Card, sophomore students.

In his report Dr. Robbins stated that construction on the Student Center is well under way, that plans have been completed for a music wing to the Fine Arts Building made possible from the wills of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cockrell of Nashville, and that construction is now under way on six new tennis courts.

MAINMEN

Nov. 17

9:30 p.m.

Area Student Leaders Urge Impeachment

Student body presidents from Duke, UNC-CH, UNC-G, and State announced plans to make a "statewide coordinated student effort" for N. C. congressmen to urge that impeachment proceedings against President Nixon begin immediately.

In a statement endorsed by all four student body presidents, Paul Price, coordinator for the movement, gave two reasons for the student campaign.

"One, we believe that Richard Nixon should resign because he can no longer govern effectively," Price said. "Two, we believe there are more than sufficient grounds to impeach the President should he refuse to resign."

Price listed 12 reasons why impeachment proceedings should begin: (1) the President's authorizing the bombing in Cambodia and the subsequent cover-up, (2) the President's authorizing the burglary, wiretapping and surveillance of political dissidents, (3) the President's "plumbers" group as a secret police corps, (4) the "suspicious settlement" of the ITT case, (5) the grain sale to the Soviet Union (6) the dairy industry's campaign contributions followed by an increase in dairy products, (7) financing of the President's California and Florida residences, (8) impounding of congressional appropriations, (9) offering of the FBI directorship to the judge presiding over the Daniel Ellsberg case, (10) the "question of impropriety" concerning Bebe Rebozo and Howard Hughes, (11) the President's dismissal of Archibald Cox as special Watergate prosecutor, and (12) the President's "interference in the pursuit of justice" in the above allegations.

"North Carolina's representatives must make a definite positive stand on this impeachment issue," Price said. "Failure to do so will give us, as student body presidents, no recourse but to consider action in the up-coming congressional elections."

Price said that in addition to the student body presidents assembled, support had also come from Wake Forest, UNC-Asheville, and Western Carolina University. Plans for a state-wide rally were also discussed, with Sen. John Tunney (D-Calif.) and Ramsay Clark mentioned as possible speakers.

Duke Chronicle

Tricks & Treats at Lou. U.

Halloween night arrived at Louisburg College, and with all the ghosts and goblins that terrorized the campus, it is a night that will not soon be forgotten, at least not for those poor unfortunate souls with 8 o'clock classes on Thursday.

The fun began in mid-afternoon at a little gathering behind Pete's Pizzeria. Several unidentified flying (?) objects were sighted in the area, and several members of the Brady Bunch were reported to be in the vicinity.

Now, back to the campus for a delicious meal, so delicious that several students decided to share their food with their friends. Result: Hamburgers, French Fries, desserts, and even some plates begin to fly across the room. End Result: Dean Settle pays a late visit to the cafeteria...

While most students return to the same activities they filled their afternoon with, the more civilized ones journey to the theatre to watch the Players put on Our Town (which was excellent).

As an end (???) to an invigorating evening, most students gathered in the cafeteria to dance away their hostilities to the music of St. Elmo's Fire. After that, even some of the girls who had an extended curfew for the night were too pooped to stay out until 12:30, and retired for the evening.

Things were held down to a dull roar afterwards, allowing most students to get to bed at a decent hour, and another Halloween night had passed without any serious damage to the campus. However, I'm sure the janitors didn't enjoy Thursday morning very much, either.

★ ★ ★ Homecoming '73 ★ ★ ★