

Students hold slide

By CINDY MEDLEY

Weather has a strange effect on people especially those from Merritt Dorm. It had been raining all day and the girls just couldn't stay away any more. They had to explore that mud puddle. So, one afternoon a group of girls got together and went mud slaying in front of the dorm. How does one mud slay? Everyone jumps in at the same time and just plays in the mud.

The girls were dripping with water, and mud was all over their clothes. They played for awhile, but later went dripping inside. If that's the way to get a mud pack... oh, well, some people are different, and the Merritt girls are certainly different.
