"I was very surprised. I had no idea. It was so much fun," said Kim Caudle. The Wilmington sophomore was named Louisburg College Homecoming Queen for the 1987-88 year, Saturday, November 21, during half-time of the Canes vs. Spartanburg basketball game.

Immediately following the game, the Homecoming Dance took place in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Jordan Student Center. As in the past, the dress was semi-formal. The theme for this year's dance was "Dancing in the Moonlight." Mike Long's Sound, Light, and Video Productions provided videos, pop, rap and funk music.

While Caudle was surprised at her being crowned, some of the other girls in the court were not. "She's a sweet girl," said Robynne French, sophomore and second runner up, representing Wright dormitory. "All of us had an equal chance," said Tracey Cunningham, representing Hillman. Last year's Homecoming Queen, Leigh Coble, presently attending Elon College, returned to crown the Queen.

Teresa Atkinson, a freshman for Wilson, represented Merritt dormitory, and was voted first runner up. Robynne French, from Winston-Salem was second runner up, and Tracey Cunningham, a freshman from Hillsborough, finished third runner up.

Other girls in the court included Linda Smith - representing Patten; Linda Brown - Student Affairs; Teresa Atkinson - Merritt; Lisa Sykes - Main and Davis; Jennifer Wolfe - Eller House; Michelle Moody - Franklin; and Cathy Carter - Commuter.

The girls agreed that representing their dorms and the College was exciting and an honor. "I could not believe I was chosen as a member of the court, since I am a freshman and didn't know that many people," said Jennifer Wolfe, from Winston-Salem. "I hope that I will meet more interesting people because of it," she added.
