Felix checks out; Hurricanes check in!

Felix stayed away from Louisa, but the Hurricanes blew into town over the weekend of Aug. 19.

Approximately 450 resident students, with the help of nearly 1000 friends and family members, checked in, moved in and tried to settle into the residence halls before the first day of classes. As a result of the enrollment increase some of the men found themselves checking into the basement of Hillman Hall for the first time in two years and into the basement of Kenan Hall for the first time in several years.

A full slate of orientation activities were in place for the first-year students to become comfortable with the college campus. Those activities ranged from tours of classroom buildings to discussions with second-year students and an intramural fun-fest. About 100 students attended the Blizzard of Bucks game show that evening. Welcome back!

First-year students Billy Dunlap and Jeremy Freckleton compete in the Blizzard of Bucks game show on Saturday, August 19th.

This issue of Columns is dedicated to the memory of Lois Strickland. Mrs. Strickland was taken from us in a traffic accident Friday, August 18. She served as the infirmary's overnight nurse and was loved by all students that came into contact with her. She will be greatly missed.

This is only the beginning
