

Encouraging Words from One Friend to Another

Hold your head high.

Look to the stars.

Never be ashamed of who you are,
Or who you hope to become someday
and the person you are along the way.

Know that God is in control.

Things always happen for a reason.

There's always a time, a designated season,
A purpose for our failure and for our success,
but during the storm and the sunshine, remember you're blessed.

So stay encouraged.

Remain strong and steadfast throughout it all.

Inspired though you may stumble and fall,
Look for an angel disguised as your sister or brother and at these encouraging words from one friend to another.
