

UNCW Greeks to live on campus

Three UNCW Greek organizations will reside on campus beginning fall 1986. Sixty students from Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, Alpha Delta Pi and Delta Zeta sororities will have 30 rooms in Residence Hall '85, UNCW's newest residence facility which opened October 1985.

Special-interest group housing is a first for UNCW and resulted from recommendations from residence life and Greek life task forces. All UNCW student organizations, including the 15 Greek groups, were offered the opportunity for on-campus housing. Each organization had to guarantee occupancy of the allocated space and agree to be active in residence life.

"We feel these students will benefit from and be a benefit to residence life activities. The Greeks can be positive role models for other students," said Gail Young, coordinator for residence life.

The experimental program will provide on-campus housing for two years, with an evaluation after the first year. There are no plans to offer housing to additional groups.

"If this program is successful and we have adequate space, we would like to offer housing to more groups, and make available housing options such as a non-smoking floor," said Dr. Richard Mullenbore, dean of students.

Kim Williams of Delta Zeta Sorority says that her group looks forward to on-campus living and can enrich student life by sharing some of the values and experiences of Greek life.

UNCW in retrospect: the Wilmington College campus, 1962

One can appreciate the growth of the UNCW campus by taking a step back in time to 1962 when this photo pictured a campus of three buildings: (clockwise) Alderman Hall, which housed administrative offices, 10 classrooms, and the library; Hoggard Hall, which housed classrooms, an art studio and science labs; and James Hall, which housed student /faculty lounges, an assembly room, music/lecture studios and a snackbar. Brogden Hall on Market Street served as the gym and auditorium. The 1962 enrollment was 781 students. Today the campus has 42 buildings and an enrollment of approximately 5778 students. UNCW moved to its present site in 1961 and became a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina in 1969.

Business students and leaders meet for Business Week '86

The fourth annual observance of Business Week will be March 10-14 at UNCW. The event is sponsored by the Cameron School of Business Administration and offers the unique opportunity for students to interact with local, state and national business, industry and governmental leaders. The activity is part of the school's continuing efforts to provide students with real world learning, said Dr. Lee Sherman, Business Week chairman.

The event will begin with the Commerce Cup Challenge at 3:30 p.m. on Monday, March 10 in King Auditorium. Patterned after the College Bowl competition, student teams answer questions about all areas of business.

Students can learn more about career opportunities from business representatives at Career Day, held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Tuesday, March 11 in University Union room 100.

Forty-three business, industry and governmental leaders will discuss the aspects of their professions in concurrent sessions held from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Wednesday, March 12, and from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Thursday, March 13. Most sessions will be in Bear Hall.

Although geared to business majors, all UNCW students and the general public are invited on a space available basis.

Among the speakers attending are Donald McGuire, public relations vice president, Piedmont Airlines; Gary M. Truitt, vice president of international marketing and business development, Adolf Coors Co.; Alfred Michaud, vice president of CONRAIL; and Gerald J. McQuaid, manager, Corning Glass.

The keynote address will be at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 12 in Kenan Auditorium.

Business Week '86 concludes with a business faculty-student softball game at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, March 14 at Empie Park.

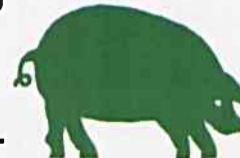

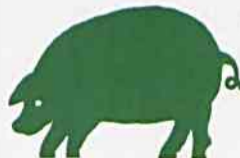

M. Cunningham

UNCW student receives top Red Cross award

Patrick Henagan (r) receives congratulations from UNCW Chancellor William H. Wagoner following receipt of the Red Cross certificate of merit, the highest award presented by the Red Cross. Patrick, a Red Cross volunteer trained in first aid and CPR, prevented a woman from suffocating on choked food at a Wilmington restaurant. Patrick is a UNCW chemistry major and a member of Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity.

UNCW ALUMNI ANNUAL SOCIAL AND PIG PICKIN'

Friday, April 4, 7 p.m.
Wilmington Elks Lodge

Tickets: $14/single, $25/couple
Advance tickets required.

Reserve your tickets by March 24.

In Wilmington, call:
UNCW Alumni Office, 395-3616
Bob Page, 763-1604
Carl Dempsey, 395-3151

In Jacksonville, call:
Ron Choate, 455-0210
In Lumberton, call:
Buddy Livingston, 738-1253

HOPE TO SEE YOU THERE!