WE STILL DON'T HAVE A NAME

Maybe it's because the staff wants this paper to be the best Gardner-Webb has ever had but we couldn't decide on a name before this issue. Yes, there were some very good ones submitted but some how they didn't measure up to our expectations. We've decided that there wasn't enough time for you to get a "headache of a brainstorm" so the little box is back under the bulletin board.

The last paper gotten out by the college was "The Piedmont Piper"--we didn't want to use that again because, confidentially, we didn't get the point. Before that the paper was known as the "Kalarathea" which was a combination of the two literary societies. However, the A. R.'s say that there is more of the K. L. name to it than the Athenian. In other words we've got to have a completely new name. It would be nice to tie it up some way with the school song if you can figure how. At any rate we need some help.

After all this paper belongs to every one in the college. Maybe you haven't written an article but that isn't important. The purpose of the paper is to let our interested friends on the outside know what we're doing as well as inform you. They consider you a part of Gardner-Webb so if the paper isn't good it's a reflection on you as well as the staff.

THE AUDITORIUM

Our E. B. Hamrick building is rapidly nearing completion, and the students are becoming very interested in the large, white, well-lighted auditorium, with its rows of double windows and ceiling lights. Especially do they note the projection booth and the gold eagle above the stage, and this week the object of their admiration has been the new opera seats. Five hundred and four leather cushioned, very spacious seats were installed the week-end of October 31 by C. B. Darnell, of the Irving Seating Company, Grand Rapids, Michigan. Incidentally, these were the last leather-cushioned seats available in the United States. The seats cost $6.85 apiece, which made the total $3452.45, $10,000 of which was donated by the Dover Mills. The windows will soon be washed and the radiators installed, so it won't be long before we will be able to use our beautiful auditorium.

***** COOKERY

"The way to a Man's heart is through his stomach" and the Home Ec girls have been very busy learning the way to his stomach lately. They have cooked two complete breakfasts so far--one with a hot bread, and the girls all say that the best part is in eating what they've cooked. Miss Hill gave demonstrations last week on making hot breads and cooked muffins, drop biscuits with variations, and rolled biscuits. Next, the girls plan to cook and serve luncheons.
