

OUR GLEE CLUB

We have all heard the saying "a bird in the hand is worth two in a bush," but we have gone modern and changed it to, "a singer in glee club is worth two singers curside." It seems that most of our students are aware of this fact, and are giving their all toward the making of the best glee club ever to be at Gardner-Webb Junior College.

Our glee club, consisting of fifty (50) members, has begun some earnest work under the direction of Miss Kartha Jessup. Her untiring and ceaseless efforts have made it possible for our school to be represented at both the Kings Mountain and Sandy Run Associations.

We have been handicapped somewhat due to the lack of music, but work is being organized very fast, and marked improvement is now evidenced.

With the work already begun on the "Messiah," our glee club should be able to turn out one of the best musical christmas programs in the state of North Carolina.

The greatest interest ever in the history of our college is being shown in the glee club this year, and we know we have nothing to keep us from making a success of it. It takes regular attendance, hard work, and determination, to make a glee club we can be proud of, but we have what it takes. With this in mind, nothing can stop us from accomplishing our task.

We are aware of the fact that the glee club gives us a greater appreciation of music, and arouses an eagerness to learn more about it. All this is true to say, nothing of the training it gives our voices.

Not only does our glee club mean much to us, but we hope it will mean much to our college. In

B. S. U. News

Some of the B. S. U. members on the campus were very excited on Thursday, October 22. You probably would have been too if you had known that you were to leave the next morning about six-thirty for the state B. S. U. Convention at Raleigh. This convention was a "highlight" that they had looked forward to for such a long time. It was held from October 23 through October 25. Those attending were Jenny Lou Self, Sara Frances Walker, Evelyn Roberts, Kat Elam, Libby Alexander, Rachel Brown, and Hazel Matheson. The theme for the convention was "Keeping Christ Pre-eminent."

When they returned, the group gave interesting discussions in chapel on the thoughts they gathered from the various forums.

CHAPEL SPEAKER

We were very pleasantly surprised at chapel the other day when Rev. L. L. Jessup, pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Shelby introduced to us a distinguished looking speaker. He was Rev. H. L. Bryant of Hampton, Va., who is conducting a series of revival meetings in Shelby. Rev. Bryant's home is in the area where so much work is being done in defense plants and shipyards, so we were expecting a talk on this, but, instead he spoke on the four H's of Christianity. The Christian life is: (1) a happier life, (2) a hollier life, (3) a harder life, and (4) the most hopeful life. It was a very inspiring message to us college students, and we enjoyed it very much.

order to do this, we must keep up our interest, our diligent work, and never give up to anything.
