

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Last Friday night in the social hall the freshmen entertained the Sophmores with a Halloween Party. Upon entering the room, we saw black and orange crepe paper looped around the room. Leaves, jack-o-lanterns, corn stalks, and pumpkins were scattered about the room. Spooks and goblins were lurking in every corner. Students and teachers entered into the spirit by wearing appropriate costumes. A fashion show was held and Jessie Calton was declared the winner. Numerous games were played, after which the lights were turned out and ghost stories were told. While the lights were out the rich old misers' hands, ears, eyes, tongue and heart were passed around for the students to feel. After this, refreshments were served consisting of apples, peanuts, candy, cookies and witch's brew. After refreshments, the group joined in singing several songs ending the party with the school song.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT

Our new sidewalks--President and Mrs. Cantrell giving the Faculty a formal dinner--Fluorescent lights in the library--Our new auditorium--Why is a certain boy always late for meals?--Our Halloween party--So many students going to the Halloween Carnival at the high school--Peace and quiet at the Boy's Dormitory at night-----Girls cooking "grits" in Home Ec.--Wonder why a certain group of girls like to sit under the trees? --Volley ball tournaments being held--Our large scrap iron pile for national defense--Why do some girls like to wald by the Boy's Dormitory? ---Our Glee Club director saying she could make more time with the boys at an "all boy" practice--Too much competition, I presume.

ATHENIAN SOCIETY NEWS

Haven't you heard the latest news? The Athenian Society is really "going places"!! Yes, with fifty members and such a capable group of officers, the Athenian Society has started off a bright new year. If you were present at the last meeting you saw what type of programs they have--something interesting, entertaining, and yet worthwhile. Drop in on our next meeting and see for yourself what a great society we have. The officers are: President, Syb Pruitte; Vice President, Gene Washburn; Secretary, Kat Elam; Assissant Sec Libby Alexander; Treasurer, Mattie Sue Beam; and Publicity Chairmen, Beverly Manous and Sara Nell Dill.

K. L. SOCIETY

For years and years, almost since the beginning of this college the Kal--K. L. S. has been one of its many features. From the very beginning it has fulfilled its purpose of giving entertainment, practice in speaking and in wholesome and helpful computation well. It has embraced every student and has given them a place within its friendly walls.

This year more than ever, the K. K. L. S. has accomplished its purpose. We feel that we have never had finer members nor a seemingly more promising future. We have over in the new E. B. Hamrick building two new society halls which we can hardly wait to move into.

A settin in a flivver;
A settin at the stern,
Her hand is held in his'n,
And his'n held in her'n,
He takes her little hand,
His heart is all a fizzin'
And when she never draws it out
He knows that she is his'n
