GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

JANUARY, 1945

BOILING SPRINGS, N. C.

Evening College Being Set Up At Gardner-Webb

Courses in Homiletics And New Testament Interpretation To Get Underway January 30

Adults are eager to learn. They can learn. Therefore, Gardner-Webb College is offering to the residents of this section the second semester at least two courses, Homiletics and New Testament interpretations are to be given at the college beginning on Tuesday evening, January 30, at 7:00 o'clock. The enrollment in each of these two courses has now reached seventeen. Rev. J. L. Jenkins, pastor of the Boiling Springs Baptist Church will teach.

It is not the intention of the college that the courses be limited to any one group but that they will include all who wish to take any course for which there is a sufficient demand. The regular college courses offered in the evening college include: Business mathematics, great men in English literature, Everyday speaking and writing, current history, practical mathematics, household physics, and basic science.

MANY COURSES OPEN

Only in the evening college are offered such courses as: Practical algebra, review arithmetic, Biblical interpretation, Biblical introduction, textile chemistry, elementary Greek, Hebrew, spelling, psychology, Shakespeare, and other if they are needed.

The college realizes that this section, with farming, business and industry merged to produce an almost ideal community, will have felt need for further training in many fields, and to that end it is endeavoring to participate and meet every need. The people of this area support the college with their gifts, influence, and students. The college is here to serve this section—"Serving all who want her service." The evening college is planned to grow into more increasing usefulness so that Gardner-Webb may render full service.

Any group wishing to have a course taught, either one of the above mentioned or some other, will be welcomed to our evening college.

PAUL J. STACY

ANNUAL HONORS PAUL J. STACEY

Staff Dedicates College Yearbook to Respected Professor

In the first meeting of the annual staff it was unanimously decided that the annual, "The Anchor," would be dedicated to our loved and respected professor of Natural Science, Paul J. Stacy.

Mr. Stacy was appointed to the faculty of Gardner-Webb College in 1941. Since this time he has served faithfully and efficiently on the executive committee of the faculty. Here he has aided constantly in the making of wise decisions for the welfare of our college.

Sophomores remember his untiring efforts to make the inauguration of President Elliott a gala occasion. Yes, he was in charge of the marshalls and how proud we were of them. Then, in recalling the program of that day we would not forget the masterful manner in which Professor Stacy presented the distinguished guests who were present for that occasion. Much we owe to our Professor of Natural Science. Thus to him we dedicate "The Anchor", an artistic picture of this college year.

Repatriated Missionary Is Visitor

Gardner-Webb was favored by a visit from Miss Olive Lawton, returned missionary from China. She arrived on the campus on Thursday evening, December 14, and made a talk at a meeting of the Y. W. A. on that evening, giving a general discussion on missions in China.

Miss Lawton spoke again at 8:00 Thursday night telling more of the missionaries and their work in China.

She brought a message to chapel on Friday morning. With every speech the great need of the Chinese people became more evident.

On Friday night Miss Lawton gave a very interesting and informative talk on her trip around the world as she returned from China. She and the other missionaries were freed from the Japanese prison camp by negotiations (Continued on Page Three)

COLLEGE PLANS SUMMER SCHOOL

For the first time in the history of Gardner-Webb College a summer school will be held. Beginning the middle of June, courses will be offered as required by those students in attendance provided there is sufficient demand for the subject. Tentative enrollment indications are that more than 50 are now ready to come. Many of the students who are now in college have indicated that they are interested in a summer session here.

The dormitories will be open and meals will be served. Further announcement will be made in the Pilot in the February issue.

Any person interested in summer school may write to Dean C. H. Sullivan for particulars.

WORK ON ANNUAL IS PROGRESSING

The work on the college annual is progressing rapidly. Floyd Willis, Shelby photographer, was on the campus January 2 and 3rd to take individual and group pictures. Several views of the campus remain to be taken.

Bob Beason and the business staff had much success in selling advertisements before Christmas and the literary staff is putting the finishing touches on the articles. Every effort is being made to get the annual to the publishers and to the students as soon as possible.

NO HURRY

Meek Voice: "Doctor, this is Mr. Henpeck. My wife has just dislocated her jaw. If you're out this way within the next week or two, you might drop in."

Churches Supporting College Regularly

Increasing Contributions Show Growing Appreciation Of School Among Two Associations

The churches of the Kings Mountain and Sandy Run Associations along with other churches in this section are increasing their support to Gardner-Webb College from year to year. The college is engaged in a movement to provide money for the expansion of the physical plant of the college as a memorial to the men and women of this section who are in the armed services of our country. Not one cent of the money collected for the Memorial Campaign is used to pay the regular expenses of the college.

Each year the current expenses of the college for administration, instruction, maintenance, fuel, light, and incidentals are far beyond the amount which students pay for board, room, and tuition. It is, therefore, necessary to secure additional funds from some source or sources.

CHURCH ENDOWED Gardner-Webb has a very small endowment and a very dismal outlook for any great increase that would meet the needs. The churches are our endowment! They have stood with the college through the years, they are increasing their gifts to the college as they see the work, and they will continue to make it possible for the college to train leaders and followers for this section and for the world. We constantly thank God for the churches, and for their noble pastors, and for their consecrated, loyal members.

The following churches contributed to the current expenses of the college during the month of November. We are sorry that the December report is not complete as this paper goes to press. Kings Mountain Association Beaver Dam $25.00 (Continued on Page Three)

EXPANSION FUND NEARS $300,000

The memorial campaign for the expansion fund of Gardner-Webb College is now approaching the goal of $300,000 set for February 1, 1945. If a thorough effort is maintained the goal set for that date will be reached. There has not been one goal that had not been reached and loom before us no exception. When that point is reached, the final goal of $350,000 set for September 1 will begin to loom before us.

Mr. Horace Eason and Mr. Mal Spangler as co-chairmen of the memorial campaign are expending much time and (Continued on Page Three)

ENROLLMENT AT CAPACITY NOW

College Unable To Accommodate Still Others Seeking Admission

Before the college opened last fall many students were turned away because there was no room for them. Space was prepared in Hugins-Curtis Hall for several young men but the space was not nearly enough and many could not be accommodated.

There are forty-two ministerial students now enrolled. Ten other men are asking to come at the beginning of the second semester, but there is no room for them and no housing facilities for their families. Married men with families now occupy every available space in the community. The need is great. These men and women are eager to prepare themselves for greater service, but we have no place for them. Some great-hearted men or women, some church or churches ought to see this need and prepare to build small houses or apartments on the campus for use by these students.

WILL BUILD LATER

As soon as building restrictions are lifted the college will build to take care of the young men and women who want to come to college here. Many of our people who are able owe it to make an investment here in the (Continued on Page Three)

RECIPE FOR A HAPPY NEW YEAR

Take twelve fine, full-grown months; see that these are thoroughly free from all old memories of bitterness, rancor, hate, and jealousy; cleanse them completely from every clinging spite; pick off all specks of pettiness and littleness—in short, see that these months are free from all the nastiness that is so fresh and clean as when they first came from the great storehouse of Time.

Cut these months into thirty or thirty-one equal parts. This batch will keep for just one year. Do not attempt to make up the whole batch at one time (so many persons spoil the entire lot in this way), but prepare one day at a time, as follows:

Into each day put twelve parts of faith, eleven of patience, ten of courage, nine (Continued on Page Three)

FLASH!!!

THE LOG, catalogue of Gardner-Webb College, will soon go to press. The Log is to be a new name for this college publication and will be something new in junior college catalogues in that many of the activities will be portrayed by pictures. The Log will come from the press around March 1st.

"I wonder why we never manage to save anything." "It's the neighbors, dear. They're always doing something we can't afford."
