Bulldog Cagers Fourth In State

Wingate Wins Tournament In Shelby; Campbell Runs Close Second

Gardner-Webb's Bulldog cagers, seeded sixth in the annual junior college tourney after ending the season with a 10-10 record, walked off with the fourth place award in the event this year held in Shelby's modern community center, February 28, 29, March 1.

ed a route into the second round with a stirring 64-61 triumph over Coach Tee Frye's Oak Ridge Cadets, the third seeded outfit. This win automatically put the Bulldogs in contention for the championship

Oak Ridge had licked the Bull-Oak Roge had neked the Bulldogs twice in seasonal play, G-W's third and fourth spots, sudden punch initiated an upset.
It was forty minutes of hirraisin the contest, the scoring totals ing base/eball, but the Louisburg were evened up. Center Bobby suffit, paced by center Glendel
Backburn threw in 16 markers in Stephenson and forward Buck Pfemthe Oak Ridge contest; Henry Smith bucketed 15; Don Elliott 12; d Don Bailey 11.

It was a see-saw battle from be-ginning to end. Forward Jack Powell plasted the nets for 28 points, pacleading O. R. scorer in loop games; in the following match, the Bull-dogs took on second-seeded Camp-bell, the team which surprised bell, the team which surprised champion Wingate with a blistering tattle in the finals. Wingate won, Bulldogs in short order, 100-65. Guard Smith Langdon, voted the most valuable player in the tourney, paced the Camels with 23 points, while forward Sam Frazier dropped

CAMELS GO

The Bulldows were unable to mas the boys from Buies Creek after the first quarter. However, at the end of the first period, Campbell and established a 26-14 lead. By halftline it was 50-34; 77-54 after three periods, and when the final horn sounded, the locals were behind by 35 markers, 100-65

Wingate's high-riding cagers, en tering the tourney with 16 wins and no losses in the conference, dropped Louisburg in a run-away affair the came night; therefore, the finals

By the skin of their teeth, the boys of Wayne Bradburn

EDGED BY LOUISBURG One of the most thrilling tilts of the Jaycees sponsored tourney was the Gardner-Webb-Louisburg tiff played Saturday, March 1. This was consolation match deciding ing, who clipped in 27 and 24 points, respectively, eked out the locals 71-

Louisburg managed to hold a three-five point lead over the Bullthroughout the first three quarters, but a steamed up crew of pradburnmen made things hot in the final ten minutes, but were never able to overcome the small deficit

Center Bob Blackburn threw in 17 markers for the Bulldogs' cause, while Don Bailey notched 15. Black-burn was high man for the locals in the tourney, with 52 tallies. How-ever, Henry Smith, Bulldog guard, was selected best sport in the event by a secret committee. Wingate edged Campbell 70-67 in the final match, a thriller, taking their second championship in a row. Darrell Floyd, Wingate All-America forward, garnered 75 points in the three-game set to take high scoring honors for his team. The Wingate ace was also selected to the Alltourney team, along with Langdon and Frazier of Campbell; Granger of Wingate; and Stephenson of

The tourney terminated the cage season for the Gardner-Webb five. Only two men will be lost to the '52-53 squad, Bob Blackburn and Banks

Shown above is the Gardner-Webb College Basketball team that

Shown above is the Gardner-weep Conge basketoan team that began the '52 season. They are left to right:

First row: Ray Lyles of Spindale; Banks Miller, Fallston; Bill Stout, Ramseur; Henry Smith, Stanley; Bobby Nix, Summerville, Ga.; Jerry McKeithan, Spindale.

Ga.; Jerry McKetthan, Spindale.
Second row: Coach Bradburn; Alex Bromir, Miami, Fla.; Bob Bush, Summerville, Ga.; Don Elliott, Fallston; Don Baily, Spindale; Bob Blackburn, Mooresboro; Ernie Beheler, Gastonia; Clinton Spencer, Ramseur; Howard Gamble, Miami, Fla.; Coach Harris.

Volume V SEC. 562 P. L. & R. U. S. POSTAGE

MARCH, 1952 Number 6 BOILING SPRINGS, N. C. PERMIT NO. 2

'52 ANCHOR Goes To Press

Saturday, Feb. 16, the 1952 Anchor was put together in the Reading Room of the O. Max Gardner Building. From 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., with time out for lunch and an afternoon snack, two girls from Gastonia (especially one of them), a girl from Lenoir, a boy from Summerville, Ga., and Mr. Mitchell from the Dowd Press in Charlotte, worked both controversially and concordantly-with a happy

The beginning was a happy one too. Back in the summer of '51 Doris Adair, the Editor-in-Chief, filled with sparking enthusiasm and ideas of originality tripped off to Charlotte to see the publisher and was then able to begin formulating her dream. Then school was resumed in September: business affairs to attend to, staff to be organized, ads to be sold, pictures to take, plans to make, difficulties, new inspiration, all brought her to the glorious day in February

Bobby Pettyjohn, the capable and successful business manager continually brought news of large sales throughout the fall. When you see the large number of advertisements in this year's Anchor, you will get an idea of how and where Bobby's an idea of how and where Bodby's afternoons were spent. He deserves credit for much of the financial success which has been the annual's thus far.

The photography, thanks to Jim \/eaver and Hord's Studio, is supurb. Some of the best annual pictures ever. All aspects of the photography are quite original.

I won't disclose any further in-formation concerning the book; when it is in your hands it will speak for itself. That day will be sooner than you may think. The proof is expected in April and the books are expected to be in your hands around May 1.

The editorial, and business staffs, typists and photographers are proud of the 1952 Anchor and when you see it you will be too. Miss Morgan, faculty advisor, agrees that it one of the best annuals Gardner-Webb will ever have

I.R.C. News

At the last February meeting of the International Relations Club, the club had as its speaker, Mr. Grigg, Superintendent of the Cleveland County Schools.

Mr. Grigg, who is well known by the students of Gardner-Webb talked on the origin of names. He has had history of names for his hobby for ten years. His list of names goes into the thousands, with a special origin for each one.

The club was overjoyed because many of the members found out how their names originated. Mr. Grigg pointed out that before the 12th century there were very few last names. As the years rolled by all the people were ordered to take last names. Many of them just looked out the window and saw an animal or a tree and used this for a last

Many of the people were given last names by physical features or emo-tional traits. There were also many people named after their occupa-

The club truly enjoyed the dif-ferent but yet interesting talk. Mr. Grigg was swarmed under by a group of students after the meeting trying to find out the origin of many of their names.

C. D. Hendrix was elected Chairman of the Program Committee at the third meeting of the new se-mester, Along with Mr. Hendrix on the Programs Committee will serve Catherine Prince and Ray Snyder They have planned a very interesting group of programs for the next six weeks. We invite anyone interested in the club to visit us and join if they wish.