

WHAT BRINGS ME HERE?

What is that force behind the fact that I am now in college?

Is it insatiable mental thirst which lures me to this reservoir of learning?

Is it the ambition of another who, denied what is mine to have, has stinted self that through me those ambitions might be realized?

WHAT BRINGS ME HERE?

Is it disguised desire for earthly things which prompts me now to fortify my mind with knowledge that I might acquire that which "moth and rust" corrupt?

Is it a secret lust for power to control the actions of my fellowmen that I might gain through their subserviency?

WHAT BRINGS ME HERE?

Is there within my soul a motive, pristine pure, which draws me to these hallowed halls to learn more that I might serve best?

Is it a sense of mission which burns within and will not let me be content with limitations which are mine today?

Is it that Christ, my Saviour, is also Lord of all I am and hope to be, and he commands that I expand my mind and soul that I might enlarge my ministry to Humanity?

WHAT BRINGS ME HERE?

Oh, Christ, whatever forces have converged to bring me to this place, this now is my conviction: Thou hast a work for me to do and in the words of one of old "Here stand I" with God within to motivate my life.

GOD BROUGHT ME HERE

RECORD BREAKING NUMBER ENROLLED IN GARDNER-WEBB SUMMER SCHOOL

The doors for the summer session opened June 6 with a total enrollment of 117, which made it the largest summer school in Gardner-Webb's history.

Cleveland County had the largest enrollment with 38. Gaston had the second highest number of students with 13 enrolled and Rutherford came in third with 12 representatives. Of the total, 108 students were Tar Heels. South Carolina sent eight and Indiana sent one.

The boys outnumbered the girls by better than three to one. Could it have been that the fairer sex did not want to study or that the boys of Gardner-Webb were more interested in hot weather studying? Anyway, the student body was predominantly male.

English seemed to have been the most popular subject with over 100 students taking the four courses offered. History, biology and chemistry had approximately 20 students each.

Dean Terrell, himself, was away at summer school and J. Y. Hamrick, dean of men, directed the summer session. Along with Mr. Hamrick, eight faculty members taught the 18 courses offered.

Nine students completed all requirements and received diplomas at the end of the summer session. These were Dean Upton, Shelby; Lloyd Whitley, Albemarle; Steve Morrisett, Jr., Bolling Springs; Dan Abernathy, Charlotte; Mrs. Janet Jordan and Mary Philbeck, Boiling Springs; Henry Fogle, Shelby; Roland Simmons, Mount Airy; and Alfred Stepp, Gastonia.
