VACATION SIDELINES

Question? What do the professors do for sport during their vacation time?

Answer: We have some who are professed fishermen.

Question? Who are these professors, where do they fish, what do they catch, who's caught the biggest fish?

In an interview with Mr. S. L. Lamm, Bible teacher, we gained the following data:

"Where do you fish, Mr. Lamm?"

"Mostly in the Green River area near Lake Lure, some at Lake Lure, Lake James, and in the Fontana Dam area. Don't do much local fishing though."

"What is your specialty?"

"Mostly bass and catfishing, although I have done some trout fishing. When I was pastoring in Georgia I did plenty of bass fishing. I caught about 12-15 bass last year. One of those was about a three pounder. Caught a couple of 10 pound cats several years ago up around Bryson City. The odd thing is I caught one on a No. 6 hook (about as small as they make them, Ed.) Once caught a 2 1/2 inch small mouth bass."

"Mr. Lamm, most people will give out their fishing secrets. What do you catch them all on?"

"Well for cats mostly mullet, and I think I caught about all the bass on a crippled minnow lure."

"Did you have any amusing incidents during your fishing career?"

"Yes, last summer 'zing' a carp took my fly rod and pulled it into the lake where we were fishing! Luckily, though, 'ome friends and I were able to cast for it and found it."

"Does your wife enjoy the sport also?"

"No, she's not much of a fisherman, though we do enjoy a fish fry together."

We also have it on good authority that there are several other fishermen on the campus. Prof. W. F. Troutman limits his fishing mostly to the local area, near the mouth of Sandy Run creek, where he fishes for catfish. Last summer he tried wading the Broad River but had little luck. On a vacation trip to the coast in June he caught some shovel-nose sharks and croakers, the largest was about two feet. Mr. Troutman readily admits that he is not a fisherman of Mr. Lamm's stature. "Just for relaxation," he says. Another of the fishing for relaxation men is Mr. Lawson Allen. He enjoys the trout streams up in the Smokies.

LONGSHOTS AND FLEM-FLAMS

INTERPRETING THE FACTS

PROGNOSTICATIONS DEPARTMENT

Basketball rules the sports kingdom around Gardner-Webb these days, especially are the girls playing some fine basketball for their new coach Mrs. Haynes.

They have won their first two starts, taking Howards Business College of Shelby 59-27, and outscoring an all star team of nurses from Charlotte by 51-34. In both these games there was some brilliant floor play by the guards as they fed the ball down the court to high scorers Patsy Greene and Sheila Mayberry. Patsy now has an average of 30 points per game followed by Sheila with 19. Kitty Logan is the versatile member of the squad playing either guard or forward at the discretion of Coach Haynes. Altogether the girls have come up with a well-balanced offensive-defensive team which should keep them in the win column.

Future games include a game on January 30 with Shelby High School, coached by Miss Saranan Morgan, last year's G-W coach.

The boys have not fared so well, lacking in the one ingredient which will make a basketball cake "rise." To get the points you've got to get the rebounds. When you lack height in these days of break-neck high scoring basketball, you do the next best thing; work on fundamentals. This has been the case with the Coach Harris boys this season although they seem to be knocking off the rough edges now and getting down to some smooth floor play—both offensively and defensively.

With three conference games gone, we are sitting on the little end, the only victory coming by a win over Asheville-Biltmore. Most of the conference schedule still remains, however, and we are still expecting our boys to come home with their share of the victories.

There is not anything lacking in the way of sporting thrills. All the games have been close with Gardner-Webb coming up on the short-end of some real heart-breakers.

Bobby Crews "bummed" up a foot which should keep him on the bench for the rest of the season. Bobby was one of the consistent point getters and will be a big loss.

The ten point lead for Field Day events held by the sophomores will be extended to 20 points come the freshman-sophomore soccer game. This has proved to be one of the most rugged of the field day events in the past and this year anything could happen. "The girls won't be left out of Field Day competition either. They have on schedule a volley ball battle and later a freshman-sophomore basketball duel. Much attention should be given to this opportunity for the sophomores to clean the plaster with several victories. We predict that George Barclay will now move to Maryland since his team only lost to Oklahoma by 7 points. The Maryland team, coached by Titum, lost to the same crew by 14 points.

LONG SHOTS AND FLAMS DEPARTMENT

Who said sports writers didn't get ulcers. Maybe it all started from those point margin losses the Bulldog basketball team has suffered but the better half of this column is laid up. Rumbblings from the baseball giant. Every warm day there are a few stout-hearted individuals who can be found out on the field tuning up the arm and catching a few. The new jackets and sweaters sure add color to the campus.

IT'S YOU

It is not money He wants, but men; Not coin but character; Not titles but the filters; Not gifts but the givers; Not yours but you.

One's sense of active partnership with Christ is heightened as one places first in his list of obligations the one he owes to the Master through His church.

The Christian prospers as he gives regularly. The church prospers, as the Christian is faithful. The Kingdom of God prospers, as all Christians bring their tithes and offerings each Lord's Day to His Church.
