Girls Move Into New Dormitory

TEN NEW TEACHERS AT GARDNER-WEBB THIS YEAR

By RUTH LINEBERGER and LOUISE ALLEN

A number of changes in faculty have been made during this summer.

Joseph Godwin is head of the guidance department and teacher of psychology and Bible. He comes to Gardner-Webb from the pastorate of the First Baptist Church in Lewisville. He is a native of Ozark, Ala., and has graduated from Alabama State Teachers College and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Another graduate of Southwestern Seminary is Miss Doris Jones, the new dean of women. Miss Jones is a native of Greenville, S. C., but she comes to Gardner-Webb from Winona Junior College.

A Gardner-Webb graduate, Miss Gail Baucom, is the assistant librarian. After finishing here in 1954 she went to Appalachian State Teachers College, where she graduated this spring.

Clarie H. Britt is the new Spanish teacher. She is a graduate of Wren Forest and the University of Alabama, and has taught in Brown High School in Kannapolis. Mr. Britt has spent some time in Puerto Rico absorbing local color for his Spanish teaching.

Miss Jean McSwain, a native of Shelby and a graduate of Gardner-Webb in 1953 and Wake Forest in 1955, has joined the English department as instructor.

James Anderson comes to Gardner-Webb from the Army where he has been an instructor for the past three years. He is an assistant professor in the business department. A 1951 graduate of Western Carolina, Mr. Anderson received his M.A. from George Peabody College in 1953.

A soldier veteran of three years in service is Richard Barnett, assistant professor of history. A native of Asheville, he is a graduate of Wake Forest and the University of North Carolina.

Miss Kay McGee, instructor in fine arts, comes from Winston-Salem.

She graduated this spring from Furman with a major in music.

Mrs. M. A. Stroup is resident counselor and assistant to the dean of women. Her home is in the dormitory, but she comes from The Children's Home in Winston-Salem.

Still another graduate of Gardner-Webb and a native of Cleveland County is Seth Washburn, teach-

HOMECOMING - FOUNDER'S DAY OCTOBER 27

Dr. J. C. Canipe, president of the Baptist State Convention, will give the address at Gardner-Webb College observance Founder's Day and Homecoming October 27.

All former students are invited to attend the events as the Baptist school celebrates its Golden Anniversary. Invitations are being mailed well out in advance.

The year's festivities will be climaxed by a football game with Lees-McRae College at 8 p.m. in the Stadium. Other events include a talent show, open house in the new girls' dormitory, and a barbecue supper for all returning alumni.

On Friday before Homecoming the students will have a parade, bonfire, and pep rally on the campus. Later in the evening the music department will present a faculty recital.

Around 300 old grads are expected for the barbecue, to be held at the recently revived college spring. The football game should attract close to 3,000 spectators.

er of physics and science. He earned his B.S. degree at Wake Forest, and has taught in North Carolina public schools for nine years.

DR. HOLLAND'S INFLUENCE STILL FEEL IN GARDNER-WEBB CLASSES

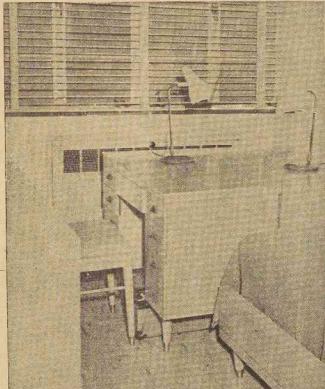

Around 20 students have enrolled for Latin classes which are now well under way.

Mrs. Robert Doggett, long a Latin teacher at Shelby High School, is meeting the classes in both afternoon and evening sessions after her teaching day in Shelby.

But to second year students the influence of another teacher is also felt in the classroom. It is the influence of Dr. T. C. Holland who taught Latin at this college for a number of years. Dr. Holland died recently of injuries received several weeks ago in an automobile accident.

The elderly professor was a member of Gardner-Webb's first graduating class back in 1910 when the institution was Boiling Springs High School. He continued his studies at Wake Forest College, Harvard University, and Southern Baptist Seminary. His varied career includes work as a teacher, preacher, minister, and Army captain. For the past eight years he has taught languages on part-time basis at Gardner-Webb.

His students remember Dr. Holland as a man of conservative habits, dignity of bearing, measured speech,

IN THE PILOT — THIS ISSUE

The Bulldogs started on a roaring season till they met Lee-McRae all on five.

Read what Edward R. Quinn of the University of Notre Dame says about students who are too smart and efficient for their own good. It's all on page six, also an article on the advantages of a small liberal arts college.

There's a nice picture of our matronettes on page three. Recognize them?

Take a look at our ads, even if it's only a passing glance.

See what G.-W. students told Ray Rollins about their opinions on the Peasant Plan. Page two.

COMING UP NEXT MONTH

Watch for pictures of our Homecoming and Founder's Day events. Also watch for news of school obtained from the "Inter-collegiate Press."

There may be a contest coming up sponsored by the PILOT and the local merchants.

for an 8:30 class—but many of his youthful students were tardy.

To many it has become unfashionable to practice the habits characterized by Dr. Holland. Every age character gives way to compromise and dedication to duty is often a hollow phrase.

This realization should make him fellow citizens all the more appreciative of the life of Dr. Holland. He gave a major portion of his life enriching the lives of others in his native Cleveland and Rutherford counties.

READER'S DIGEST CONTEST FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

The Reader's Digest is offering $4,000 in cash and scholarships as prizes in an October contest open only to college students and faculty members in the United States.

First prize is $1,000 with another $8,000 to the scholarship fund of the winner's college. Second prize is $1,000 cash with equal amount to the school's scholarship fund. Also included are ten $500 cash awards with equivalent amount to the scholarship funds.

There will be 100 prizes of $10 each in credit at the local college book store for books. The best entry from each college will receive an additional $10 in credit.

Entries must obtain entry blanks from Earl Absher, local Reader's Digest college agent. The entrants marks the six articles he thinks will be the six best liked articles in the October Reader's Digest. These articles which are closest to a square of Digest readers will receive the prizes.

Entries must be postmarked before midnight, October 25, and be addressed to Reader's Digest Contest, Box 4, Great Neck, L. I., New York.

Eisenhower Wins In Student Poll

On Monday, October 8, Gardner-Webb students participated in the presidential poll of college students which was sponsored by the PILOT in co-operation with the DAVIDSONIAN, Davidson College.

Of a total of 407 student votes, Eisenhower got 269, and 131 majority over Stevenson's 147.

Officially, there were several write in votes by the usual Gardner-Webb comedians. Elvins Presley was third with two votes. Dean Terrell and Anderson each received one vote as did Mickey Mantle, Guy Washington, Gene Autry, Roy Rogers, and Columbus.

Occupy Two Top Floors—Others Soon

On September 25, in the midst of Hurricane Flossy's rage, 75 sophomore and freshman girls moved into their new dormitory.

The new dormitory is the second floor of the dormitory building occupied by Gardner-Webb co-eds. Faculty members will occupy the first floor. The Dean of Women's office, two reading rooms, and guest rooms are also located on the first floor.

In spite of Hurricane Flossy's capers the co-eds chose to transfer from their old quarters to their new home of leather covered chairs and solid wood desks. True, far from all, there is an air-conditioning by which Miss Co-ed can cool off after a warm shower or hot tub.

The new girls' dorm is something that not only the girls may be proud of but something the entire student body may look upon with pride.

Girls Eye View Of Their New Dorm

By PATSY WRIGHT

"I think our furniture is prettiest."

"Well, I like our white best."

"That beautiful beige furniture is simply out of this world!"

"Actually," chimed in a fourth voice, "the whole thing is positively gorgeous!"

The above dialogue is what might have been heard Tuesday afternoon, September 24, at Gardner-Webb College. All of Hurricane Flossy didn't prevent the moving of clothes, trunks, and girls into the brand new dormitory. The dormitory is built in three different colors is throughout the dormitory. There are roomy slide—panel closets, two chests of drawers, two very modern desks and chairs, two Hollywood beds, and a night table to every room.

Streamlined built-in radiators keep the rooms comfortable in winter, and picture windows afford plenty of light. The dormitory has all the modern facilities such as central air conditioning, and fashion wash cans for an electric clothes line.

Rooms for luggage storage, utility closets and kitchens are on each floor.

Showers rooms have an air conditioner installed whereby mild air flows a switch and is cooled by fresh air after a hot shower—the tub bath if she prefers.

Large furniture (also on each of the three floors) is of foam rubber cushioning. Couches are covered with a beautiful green leather, and chairs matching them in the modern look are covered with orange leather. The first floor lobby is spacious, well-furnished, and the rest rooms are free of the "spacious look" of the old dormitory, as will be called into the parlor by a buzzer system. The Dean's office is located in the main parlor.

All in all, we girls are mighty proud of our new home at Gardner-Webb. Aren't you?
