

FROM THE SPORTS DESK

By Dillard Morrow Sports Editor

Here we are back with news and views from the world of sports. Many basketball games have gone through the hoop since our last edition, and many stars have been born.

The talk is that the Bulldogs own two of the shortest guards in the conference: Dean Bridges and T. L. Sain. Sain is currently leading the scoring parade with 11 points per game.

Lawn has thrilled the local fans with his outside shots and his skillful lay ups. What's this about Dean's climbing up on the roof of a dorm at Wingate to see if he could see No. Three School on the horizon? Floyd Wright, another sparkplug on the hardwood five, is second in the scoring column with 8.75 points per game. Look to you Waco, keep those guns popping.

Reid Armstrong, a talented forward from Stanley, had been doing all right for himself from his forward position as he is averaging 7.9 points per game.

Buzz Biggersstaff and Bill Beason, the tall boys on the club, round out the starting five with 6.6 and 6.5 points per game.

Before leaving you sports minded people, let me get in a word about supporting our teams. Let's be interested in the Bulldogs; I know it would help the guys to know you are behind them.

Let's make it a point to be at our home games.

In Journalism we have been taught to quit writing when we have said what we wanted to say, so I quit.

Some of those who squawk loud-est about having to wait in line in the doctor's office are the same people who ignore sick call hours. If we would pay more attention to the specified hours for going to the clinic we might get more rapid treatment once we get there.

Mrs. Pollock's French students are getting that heavy-eyed look again. It seems they're tackling another book in the foreign tongue entitled "Vingt et Un Contes", and it seems like Vingt et Un headaches.

Gardner-Webb 56 Wingate 85

The Wingate Bulldogs swamped the special team Gardner-Webb January 10, by the score of 85-56. In their first appearance after the Holidays, the "Baptist" boys were off to their usual and play-making.

Buzz Biggersstaff racked up 16 points for the Bulldogs, while Winfree hit for 16 for Wingate.

GARDNER-WEBB 83 MARSHALL 76

Coach Norman Harris' charges ran away from Mars Hill in the closing minutes of the second half Saturday night, January 12, to gain their second conference win.

The Bulldogs showing excellent teamwork, spread the scoring throughout the lineup. Dean Bridges led the Bulldogs with 21 points while John Wright had 21 for the losers.

G.W. Mars Hill
Wright 17 White 18
Beane 14 Hancock 14
Biggersstaff 4 Wright 21
Beason 6 Earp 23
Bridges 21 Sherman 5

Subs: (G.W.) Armstrong 12; Beason 14 (M. H.) Glenn 6.

With the new swimming pool almost finished and construction beginning on the new physical education building, it looks like the freshmen will have a new gym to use next year after all. Pity us poor sophomores, for it looks like we will be alumni by the time the gym is finished; at least we hope to be.

We understand "Puffy" Moseley, our chemistry professor's canine friend, had now enrolled for his sixteenth course in chemistry. This should be proof beyond doubt that anybody taking chemistry leads a dog's life.

G-W GIRLS WIN 9 STRAIGHT

In this issue of the Pilot we have made a special effort to give recognition to a much overlooked girls basketball team. Coached by Mrs. Hester Haynes, the Gardner-Webb Lassies have chalked up ten straight victories without a defeat.

The lassies are sparked by Stacy Greene, a hook shooting forward, who has rung up 25 points in nine games for an average of 28.3 points per game. Also, leading the Lassies at forward are Betty Bridges, Shelley Reid, Maxine Gardner, the starting guards are Janice Cabiness, Catherine Miller, Frances Cauby, and Pat Tranter.

The Bulldogs Lassies downed Wingate Monday night, January 21, by the score of 44 to 40. This game was by far the stiffest competition yet for the team.

The Bulldog Lassies traveled to Lees McRae Saturday night, January 20, with the boys varsity team. No information is available on the Lees McRae girls, but this game should prove to be a supreme test for the high flying Lassies.

PLATTER CHATTER

ROBERT DICKEY

Here we are again kate with a review of some of the hits of '56. Last winter the tonists were dropping their nickles to "Memories are Made of This" by Dean Martin and "Rock and Roll Waltz" by Kay Starr. Les Baxter put out a few discs of "Poor People of Paris" about the same time. The always great Platters sure made the coolest flip with the great "My Prayer," "moon-glow" really sold when the pic "Picnic" came to town. Some of the slower kate are still solmning "Heart-break Hotel" and "Don't be Cruel" by Elvis. Gogt Grant really came through with "The Wayward Wind." Tex Ritter also had it out for the "Blue Boys."

We get reports from Moscow on a few of their top platters: "Friendly Persecution", "Push Mama Under The Train", and "Red Moon".

By now everyone has noticed that the juke box at the Shop has made a swap, and it isn't the better. There will be no more nickles in it, now there will be only dimes and quarters if it plays. It was brought to my attention that if no one plays the juke box the music company would have to change back to five cents per record.

"Bum-Bum Song" by the Terrors is among the coolest with the "G. W." chicks. To those who didn't get those quality points we would like to dedicate "Gonna Get Along Without You" and that one isn't by Patience and Prudence.

Better cut a trail for now, Cool it.

CAMPUS SPORTS

By DUANE McDUGALD

Intramural sports have witnessed the passing of one sport and the entrance of another.

Volleyball's reign as king of intramural was short lived, but quite exciting. A double elimination tournament was played with eight teams participating.

The tournament narrowed down until on the last day Decker Hall Second West and Higgins Curtis North met in three exciting games. Higgins Curtis proved to take two out of the three from the chitchos of Second West. Each player on the winning team received medals for his efforts.

Basketball got under way with a bang. From the start it was evident that it would be the best liked intramural sport thus far. The interest has been great and the turnout very good.

Next issue of the PILOT will carry the complete standings of the games.
