SUPERLATIVES NAMED

Twelve superlative students were named recently by the sophomore class at Gardner-Webb College.

The dozen students, six girls and six boys, hail from a half-dozen Tar Heel counties including Cleveland, Mitchell, Surry, Gaston, Avery, and Buncombe. They aspire to eight vocations and professions including science, business, journalism, teaching, coaching, missions, religious education, and mortician.

The second-year students elected a boy and girl from their number for each of six honor positions. The honors in-clude most intellectual, prettiest and most handsome, most likely to succeed, most popular, best all round, and most ath-

Recently the Y. W. A. won $10 in a bloodmobile visit. The contest was sponsored by the Public Relations Department, and directed by Mr. John Roberts.

The contest rules stated that the college group donating the most the Boiling Springs Clubhouse would receive a $10 prize. The various groups were the Y. W. A., Decker Hall, Day Students, Girl's Dorm, Hapy Dorm, and the Monogram

The Y. W. A. donated more pints of blood than any other group. The total amount for the college was 35

The superlatives in each qualification will be pictured in the college yearbook, The Anchor, which will be published early in May. The year-book will carry half-page pictures of each couple, according to Betty Jo Hamrick, editor

Chosen best all round are Carolyn Sparks of Bakersville and Jerry James of Elkin. James is president of the student body. Another Bakersville girl, Carolyn Proffitt, and Hamilton Hudson of Cramerton are named most popular. Miss Proffitt is president of the Baptist Student are Grace Ollis of Cranberry and Bill Brackett of Lawndale, Dennis Ruth Hamrick of Shelby is chosen as prettiest and Reid Armstrong of Stanley most handsome.

Most intellectual citations go to Martha Mason of Lattimore and Douglas Wilson of Kings Mountain. Pat Trantham of Asheville and Gerald Freeman of Shelby are honored as most athletic. Free a member of the 1957 WCJCC all-conference football team.

Congressman Whitener Visits Campus

Gardner-Webb College was honored recently with the visit of Congressman Basil Whitener. A former attorney, Con-gressman Whitener is a member of the House of Representatives, representing the 11th district.

As a native of Gastonia, Congressman Whitener is very interested in Gardner-Webb and keeps informed of the col lege. He also keeps Gardner-Webb informed of events occurring in Washington.

During his visit to the campus of Gardner-Webb, Whitener addressed the faculty and student body with a speech in chapel on the current events in politics.

Several students sported black eyes later, but the coment, "It was worth it" expressed the general acceptance of the snow.

Jack Anthony Is Candidate For Marine Academy

WASHINGTON, D. C .- Congressman Basil L. Whitener has announc-ed the nomination of Jackie Lee Anthony, Gastonia youth, as a candidate to take the competitive men-tal examination for the United States Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York

Young Anthony is the son of Mr. ad Mrs. Clyde R. Anthony, 217 East Eighth Avenue, and a member of Marietta Street Baptist Church. He is a sophomore at Gardner-Webb College and an outstanding football player. He has also been active in the Monogram and Circle

young Anthony, Congressman Whitener stated:

"Jack Anthony has been highly recommended by many people in Gaston County as a young man to compete for one of the eight vacancies allotted to the State of North Caroline at the United States Mer. Carolina at the United States Merchant Marine Academy. He has a very good scholastic record and has actively participated in school athletic activities. He impresses me as being the type of young man who will make an outstanding success in the Merchant Marine."

Congressman Whitener stated nat graduates of the United States Merchant Marine Academy receive the degree of Bachelor of Science, a commission as an ensign in the United States Naval Reserve, and an assignment in the Merchant Marine as either a deck or engineering

GOING STEADY?

Young people who like each other lot (or even a little) often ask themselves, "How about going steady?" There are many reasons why "going steady' is an inciting Heles wanted to go steady. She thought it was a good way to be sure she'd have someone to take her to all the affairs she wanted to at-tend. 'Gwen wanted to go steady, too, but mostly because so many young couples she knew were doing it. Of course, it is posible for a couple to care so much for each othcouple to care so much for each offi-er that they honestly want to spend all of their dating time together. Sometimes a boy and girl get started going steady simply as a matter of convenience—perhaps to finish out a group. After a few happen-so-dates the crowd sems to to take the couple for granted. Ra-

HONOR ROLL IS RELEASED

The honor roll released recently at Gardner-Webb in-cluded five "All-A" students with grades averaging 95 or over, plus 16 on the general honor roll rating 92 or above on all subject

Tied for top scholastic honors are Martha Mason, sophomore; and Janice Anderson, freshman, with scores of 97.17 each.

Miss Mason, journalism major and native of Lattimore, has been publicized as the nation's only boarding college student confined to an iron lung. She has been housed in the machine since having polio in 1948.

from the colleges' share of the Co-operative Program receipts. 1958 will be a year of improved faculty qualifications. At least eight and possibly more faculty members will do graduate study during the summer months, and several of these will earn advanced degrees this

That cities another goal for the new year—increased faculty salaries.

The college makes a constant effort to get its salary scale in line with living costs, but although great progress has been made in recent years, most of the professors at the college could earn higher salaries. ge could earn higher salaries eaching in the state's public

Why then do they stay in their present jobs? There can be but one answer—dedication. But dedication itself is the best reason for added empensation, which is a major goal

If the record for the past four years holds true we can anticipate an enrollment increase of approximately 50 students next fall. From 371 students in 1954, our student body for the fall semester numbered 519, swelling to 550 in January

If 550 students enroll next September every nook and cranny, every dormitory room and every chapel seat will be filled, and we will be in dire need of additional classroom space.

With that thought in mind, perhaps it is good to know that plans are beginning to mold for a way in which we can replace the space lost when fire destroyed the Huggins-Curtis building.

The college cannot incur further indebtedness for buildings, but it can build if funds are available. Architects are now at work on preliminary plans for a proposed admits when the preliminary plans for a proposed admits when the present the proposed admits the prop ministration building with wings for classroom space and science labora-

In reality, the field will be done as yet for completing it in '58.

The college has many goals, and many needs, known best to those who are closely associated with the institution. During the year we hope to secure the necessary equipment to place our radio broadcasts on the air through a dozen or more stations rather than the three now carrying them. We hope to prepare motion pictures and color slides of the college activities. We plan to improve the institution in every pos-

Several goals have been cited for '58, all of them in one way or an-other involving material things.

For just a moment now let's emphasize the thing that is at the very heart of Gardner-Webb College!
During 1958 our greatest goal is to be of greater service to those

To excel academically-Yes!

To excel academically—rest
To prepare them for vocations and professions—Yes!

But above all to give our students a Christian education, that they may know of God's need for them to do their chosen task to the best of their ability for themselves, for their fellows, and for God.

If we do this successfully we will have met our greatest goal for '58.
