"GARDNER-WEBB ON THE UPSWING"

Second semester has found some new changes in the social rules at G. W. First of all, the dancing parties for girls have been changed Friday night curfew has been changed from 10:30 to 11:00; Saturday night curfew from 11 to 11:30. Also, the social hours are now open all day until 1 p.m. Continuing on the Sunday afternoon curfew has been lifted and the girls will have Sunday afternoons out until 6 o'clock. To top it off, the girls will have one hour for shopping in addition to Saturday afternoon shopping. If the standard I might mention the girls are planning on weekly recreation. However, as new privileges arise, does the dependence on the students in the making of these new privileges, O. W. addresses new privileges and they are counting on our honor to uphold these new rules. It will take 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the students to make sure that we deserve this privilege. By accepting these we must, soon that we are old enough to take full responsibility in upholding them.

While talking about G. W. on the upswing I would like to hit a few other points for a better college. First of all, we need a better system of communications between the students and the faculty. It seems as if neither knows about the other until the news is old or the news has changed by going from mouth to mouth. There might even be an advantage for a representative body from the students and the faculty to meet at certain intervals to discuss problems that might arise.

Another weakness on the Gardner-Webb campus is that the student government has little function. Too many times it is little more than a figure-head for the executives. I would like to see the student body because of this the executive committee is not too popular with a large number of students. Gardner-Webb must realize that we are a young woman's college. In the year or two years we will be racking heads and making decisions on the campus. We need to be able to vote on our own. Never before as today have young people had to make so many important decisions on their own.

The third and last point is that of social activities. Gardner-Webb has top academic standards as far as the classrooms go, but that is not enough. Most of the students on campus do not have access to a car and therefore must find their own transportation. The main thing Gardner-Webb offers is sports, and could do many more to find them on the road on weekends. Of academic activities, the main thing Gardner-Webb offers is sports, and could do many more to find them on the road on weekends. Of academic activities, the main thing Gardner-Webb offers is sports, and could do many more to find them on the road on weekends.

2. Students should get together and plan off-campus activities which would be better school.

3. When social activities are held on campus the entertainment should get away from the "drop the hat" type of games and stress more talent shows and things of this nature.

4. Clubs should have more function and sponsor more activities.

5. Chapel programs should vary more with such things as talent shows to go along with the sermons and speeches. This would make each type more interesting. One other thing is that the students feel that chapel is occasionally used as "Cul-Corner" so more or less left the students off.

6. In closing I would like to state that G. W. must keep its so-called "book discipline." However, I must realize that students need to get a good social background as well as a classroom background. Students must learn how to make up their own minds when to study and when not to.

the Gardner-Webb Bulldog. Also we find dancing and swimming high on the list of interests. In the summer David enjoys making trips to the beach, and lying on the beach David finds time to listen to his favorite singer, Sam Cook.

When David finishes his two years at Gardner-Webb, he plans to continue his engineering studies in either the Marines or the Air Force, and possibly later at State College.

Cutest Couple, Joan Cline and Fred Heaver

CUTEST COUPLE

By Georgia Cooke

The "Cutest Couple" of the month is Joan Cline and Fred Heaver. Joan is a graduate of Waco High School, Waco, N. C. There she was active in many sports, especially basketball. She was an All State Basketball Player in high school. Joan was also an All State Basketball Player at Gardner-Webb last year. Some of her other activities were maid of honor in May Day, chief cheerleader, co-captain of the basketball team, and member of the glee club. This year she received the superlative "prettiest" in the Sophomore Class.

Joan is majoring in business and physical education. Her hobbies are swimming, basketball and knitting.

Fred is a graduate of Lincolnton High School, Lincolnton, N. C. He was co-captain of the football team in high school. He is also co-captain of the football team at Gardner-Webb and made all conference team in football.

Fred is a member of the glee club, and he is majoring also in business and physical education.

MEET OUR STAFF

By Monty Mills

The Pilot staff members in the spotlight for this month are both day students in the Freshman Class.

Beverly Turner is known to many of the students on campus by her articles which have already appeared in the Pilot. She is a music major from Shelby, N. C., and she is usually found practicing organ in the auditorium; that is, when she isn't at the shop talking.

While in high school at Shelby, Beverly was active in extra-curricular activities. She was in the band and hand club for four years, Beverly also played the piano for the school glee club, and she was in several clubs as the F.T.A., the photography club, and the Allied Youth.

Beverly's main interests, other than those at Carolina, center around music; and she is especially fond of jazz and semi-classic music. Among her other interests are sports, especially tennis; dining, eating pizza, taking pictures and playing chess.

After completing her studies at Gardner-Webb, Beverly plans to continue her music studies at Appalachian State Teachers College.

Our other Pilot staff member featured in this issue is David Moore from Forest City, N. C. David is taking an engineering course.

In his spare time at Cool Springs High School, David took part in the activities of several organizations sponsored by the school. David was a member in the Library Club, the Future Teachers Club, and the Public Speaking Club.

David's main interests are sports, and especially in football, that is, when not too.

Top Sophs, Anne Garrett and "Moose" Womack

TOP SOPH

By Paula Hughes

Top Soph honors this month go to two fine Gardner-Webb students from South Carolina.

Violet Anne Garrett was born on February 9, 1939, in Woodruff, S. C. She lived in Woodruff until time for college, when she chose Gardner-Webb because, "I felt that this was the best place to go for the country I am taking." Next year, Anne will enter Appalachian State Teachers College.

Miss Top Soph is quite active on the campus. She is president of the Women's Self-Government Association of Stroup Dormitory and she is a typist for the Pilot. Last year, she was secretary-treasurer of the choir. Recently another honor was conferred upon Anne - she was chosen the Most Popular Girl among the Superlatives.

As a New Year's resolution for the beginning of the semester, Anne proposed to attend all basketball games, to study more, and to eat less.

Some of her favorites are as follows: movie, "A Man Called Peter"; color, blue; food, hamburgers and Pepsi; class, health; book, A Man Called Peter; song, "To Know Him Is to Love Him"; vacation spot, Florida; pet expression, "I'll say"; and TV show, "Perry Mason".

The type of date Anne prefers is one who is neat, honest, sincere, trustworthy, with a good personality and who is a good conversationalist. A pretty good description of Don Brizez, with whom Anne goes steady.

When asked to name the most admiration, Anne's choice was her mother, because she is always willing to help others in anyway she can. Needless to say, like mother, like daughter!

Mr. Top Soph is the well-known Man About Womack - James William "Moose" Womack - one of the best liked students of Gardner-Webb. The campus will not be the same without "Moose," who has returned to his hometown, Honeta Path, S. C. The reason G.W. was chosen by "Moose" was because it is a small school and offers more individual help and because it is an excellent place for the immediate co-educational, the future of "Moose" is entering Erskine College near his home where he will major in history. Subsequently to enter the teaching profession. As a sideline, he plans to make a million dollars.

For the New Year, "Moose" would like to have a few more A's to go along with the A he got in English literature.

"Moose" had quite a few favorites: class, history; book, Playboy Magazine; movie cartoons, "Road Runner"; movie, any kind starring Brigitte Bardot; color, green (it matches my complexion); food, shrimp - with a slice of close second (one of the reasons I came to Gardner-Webb); vacation spot, Ocean Drive Beach, South Carolina; expression, "Here's an extra for you tonight, son"; TV show, "Gunsmoke".

To qualify as a date, "Moose" has a Cadillac, and has measurements of 36, 34, 36. He isn't too hard to please!

Mr. Moseley is the person for whom "Moose" has a great deal of admiration. As he says, "Mr. Moseley is tops in my book. I owe a lot to him. If you listen to him, he'll give you a 'doggone' good philosophy and a whole lot of chemistry."

To both of these fine sophomores - Anne and James at once - we wish the best!

MOON TALK

By Ann Holden and Dorsey Hoggart

Interl, banners were numerous and confetti was thick. Shouts of hundreds of thousands of voices rang in chorus. LONG LIVE THE TNAPMOKKII! CONVENTION!

The demonstration has been going on for about two weeks, but among the demonstrators is a close second (one of the reasons I came to Gardner-Webb); vacation spot, Ocean Drive Beach, South Carolina; expression, "Here's an extra for you tonight, son"; TV show, "Gunsmoke".

There's another man who thinks for his opinion of the convention. I've done me sir, before we ask the usual questions in the room. I've kept the streets clean with the confetti flying and people stepping on your broom? Oh! This isn't my, he exclaims as he calmly takes a drag of his filter-tip cigarette. He is president of the TNAPMOKKII.
