

Johnson Homecoming Queen

GLORIA AND DR. POSTON

BETSY, JANET, CAROLYN, LINDA, and GLORIA

WE WANT YOU

Do you play a musical instrument—brass, wood wind, or percussion? If you do, you should be utilizing your talents in the recently organized Pep Band. This band is functioning for the basic purpose of promoting school spirit. Most of the present members, like many of you, had not played an instrument in several months, but it is surprising how quickly you can "get back into shape." If you are interested in this organization contact Mr. Jerry Hill at your earliest convenience. Remember, the success of the band depends upon each of you. Practice is held at 4:00 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays and at 10:00 a.m. on Fridays.

Lovely Gloria Johnson of Sumter, South Carolina, just couldn't believe they called her name. "They kept saying, 'Go on, Gloria, but I just didn't believe it was really me.'" Gloria is a graduate of Edmunds High School, in Sumter, where she played basketball and tennis, and was a member of the Block S club. At Gardner-Webb, she has participated in cheerleading, basketball, Christian Volunteer Band, and Y.W.A.'s. Gloria is majoring in P.E. and she is minoring in psychology. Like most queens, Gloria has a Prince Charming who will one day carry her away to "never-never land." She is engaged to marry Butch Williams next June. All of the second year students remember Butch from last year's football team. He is now at Furman College where he is majoring in psychology. Both of them plan to attend Furman next year. Everyone at G-W congratulates you, Gloria, and wishes you a very happy reign.

Gloria was chosen by the student body from five beautiful girls. The girls are, Betsy Thompson, Stanley, North Carolina; Janet Cooper, Valdeese, North Carolina; Carolyn Pruette, Vaie, North Carolina; Linda Query, Concord, North Carolina; and Gloria Johnson, Sumter, South Carolina.

students who had come to college just out of high school. I thought anything the teachers asked they would have the answers but I soon found out differently. In an all I'm beginning to like college more and more every day.

Tommy Melton — It was hard for me at first to adjust to new people and a new school because in high school I knew everyone and it felt just like home. It was always very hard for me not to go out for football in college because it has been so much a part of my life and had so much to do with just everything I did. Not playing football is the hardest adjustment I am having to make to be able to stay in college.

Tommy Fetree — In order to avoid the rush to give five hundred dollars to someone I didn't know, I came to Gardner-Webb one day early. I felt out of place until I met Nancy Brown, and did she really lay it on. At times I thought the sophomores were trying to discourage us. That first Friday of classes really shook me up. I didn't think I'd ever get through studying all of the lessons that the teachers threw at us. However, later I found out that this was only the beginning.

Bryan Gruver — Among the things that I found hard to understand was why they had only one photographer here during our first days of college. Some of the people, mainly me, had to stand in line for four hours and when I got right up to the door the girl who was in charge of calling on the people, politely said that the rest of us would have to come back tomorrow. When I finally got my subjects worked out I started for English class and had no idea where it met. After waiting in line to see Mrs. Hamrick to find out where my class met, I arrived when it was almost over.

Jannine Bell — Orientation week was the most hectic ones I have ever spent. Many things were done to help Freshmen. For example, the welcome on the first day helped everyone feel at home and really among friends. The choice of courses was my greatest worry. Standing in line every time you turned around also was nerve wracking, but, of course, this was to be expected. The many programs of instruction gave me a better understanding of what was going on. On the whole it was a good program, but I surely am glad it's over.

Brenda L. Dula — I would really have been "lost" if it had not been for the splendid efforts of the B.S.U., and faculty, and just everyone here at Gardner-Webb during orientation week. Leaving home to come to a new "world" is frightening for most anyone and I appreciate the congeniality shown toward me. Registration wasn't too rushed—I'm glad I had time to get adjusted to campus before having to go through that. I'm sure that orientation week can be improved—everything, but I don't know, I can't suggest one improvement. It was wonderful.
