

Coach Harris Wins 100th

Honored For 20 Years Service

From Germany to Kansas -- from mothers with addresses of sons now in Vietnam -- and from Bowling Springs and towns and cities across the South came the checks.

Checks is one word but tribute would be a superior term for these gift fund contributions meant for Coach Norman Harris, who is a 20 year tradition at Gardner-Webb College.

The color television set, tape recorder, clothing, and a chair given to Coach Harris before the beginning of the G-W - East Tennessee Frosh game Saturday were expressions of love and respect for him from former players and friends.

Bob Bush, Chase high coach, expressed it well in the presentation as he said, "This man's record speaks for itself so we give him these gifts as a token of our regard for his untiring efforts, loyalty, friendship and faithful service. Please accept these gifts in loving gratitude."

Coach Harris, joined by his wife at the presentation, had to wait several minutes before speaking as the crowd expressed its feelings through long applause.

"Words cannot express how I feel . . . this group (he motioned toward the large gathering of former athletes at his side) is a part of my life. Some of them is in me . . . I guess some of me is in them . . . words just don't come . . ."

His players put the words into something more tangible as they went out and smashed East Tennessee's Frosh 69 - 0 to give Coach Harris his 100th career victory and a shoulder ride to the center of the field. It was a great night for this still young coach who began his work at Gardner-Webb in 1948 as an assistant and who in 1959 took over the reins of head coach in all sports. Today, instead of shouldering the entire athletic program, he can look at a system which has seven men coaching intercollegiate athletics and others working in physical education. The physical plant includes the fine facilities of Spangler Memorial Stadium, the V.P. Hamrick Fieldhouse, The Boat Gymnasium and enclosed swimming pool, a baseball field fenced with dugouts and an athletic scholarship program nearing the $25,000 mark.

"IF HE KESSED YOU ONCE . . . WILL HE KISS YOU AGAIN?"

Greensboro Coed Crowned

Our Campus Is Not Going To The Dogs - But Vice Versa

By PERRY DOVER

His nickname is Champ, and you might have noticed him around campus. He is classified, by Mr. Stacy, as belonging to the class Mammalia and the scientific order of Carnivora. To Mr. Moseley, he is the third dog that has attended Gardner-Webb in the last 19 years. To students, he is just a dog. To the faculty, he is typical of the average Gardner-Webb male, because he has a slight tendency to sleep in class. The dog had no comment, but sends his regards.

"Champ" is registered under the name of Pal Arthur or maybe Arthur Pal and was born on Christmas Eve three years ago at Max's Pet Shop in Shelby. Not actually a registered pup but he was a large baby. He was soon afterward purchased by Mr. Moseley and given to his boy, Arthur. Champ has his own pad at the Moseley residence, but he prefers to stay at Gardner

-Webb much of his time and get into the swing of campus life. His favorite sports are barking and chasing automobiles. Champ is usually the winner at this game. The automobiles usually drive off and refuse to challenge him further. Several years ago, a Ford almost got the best of him. Champ received a broken leg and stayed in the hospital for two weeks. To this day, he has not admitted that the automobile was victorious. The dog assumes the Ford used trickery - when he was expecting the car to shift into high instead it geared down and Champ could not break his stride.

This dog has a regular schedule each day. He attends chemistry lectures almost every morning. Although chemistry students sometimes get confused in these lectures, the dog is very cool because he has heard it many times. About noon each day he has his lunch (a sandwich) at the Student Center. Champ is factually the only dog that is a paid member of the Bulldog Club.
