

G-W Comes Closer To Goal

By TERRY KNIGHT
Winning is a necessity for every coach in today's sports world, and Coach Eddie Holbrook is getting his share. The Gardner-Webb Bulldogs have proven themselves to be one of the best junior college teams in the land.

On December 7, just before the Christmas break, the Bulldogs played host to one of the best freshman teams in the nation from the Chapel Hill, North Carolina at Shapel Hill. The Dogs, working with inside help of George Adams, Artis Gilmore and Ernie Fleming along with the outside shooting and ball handling of Steve Kebeck and Kevin Cantwell) handed the "Hills" their first loss with an impressive 93-80 victory. Tony Spagnola, Jack McGill, Alan Land and Willie Rogers added punch to the Bulldog attack.

While most students went out for the Christmas holidays, the Bulldogs were busy defending their high ranking against some tough teams in the Holiday Tournament held in Bost Gym. The four teams participating were McCook (Nebraska), Brandywine (Delaware), DeKalb College (Atlanta, Ga.) and the Bulldogs.

Coach Holbrook and the Bulldogs got a nice Christmas win, but it was not a gift. The Bulldogs disposed of DeKalb College the first night and advanced into the finals behind the gunning of Artis Gilmore. In the championship game against Brandywine, Gilmore poured in 21 points followed by 20 from Ernie Fleming, 17 from Steve Kebeck, and 11 from George Adams. The Bulldogs became the Holiday Tournament Champions with a 45-79 triumph.

Playing in Fort Pierce, Fla. with Indian River College the Bulldogs dropped the first game of the season, Indian River, the highest scoring team in the tournament, handed G-W a 136-109 setback despite a 28 point effort by Ernie Fleming and 19 by Artis Gilmore.

G-W's Empire Building ...Kings' 'Konked'

The Bulldogs "warmed up" for conference foe, North Greenville, as they completely bested the Kings College 131-62 at Bost Gym Feb. 13.

It was anything but a love affair for Kings as the Bulldogs leaped off to a lengthy lead in opening minutes and then proceeded to have seven players in double figures as the scoring passed the century mark.

The Bulldogs will clinch their fourth straight Western Carolina Junior College Conference title should they defeat the Mountaineers of North Greenville Feb. 15. A conference title ensures the team of semifinal play in the Region 10 tournament at Lenoir where the winner goes to Hutchinson, Kan., and the national playoffs.

Should G-W capture the Region 10 title it would be the second straight and would send them into the nationals March 17-22.

The dates for the national

Another thriller was the game between G-W and Miami Dade. The Bulldogs, still on the road, went into overtime with the score deadlocked at 66-66. A three-point play by Ernie Fleming with six seconds remaining in overtime was the margin for victory. High scoring honors were shared by Ernie Fleming and George Adams with 22 apiece.

Later, the Dogs more easily defeated Abraham Baldwin College (Gilton, Ga.) On January 11, the Bulldogs returned home to battle Clemson's fresh, Gilmore, scoring 32 points, led G-W to a 98-59 romp.

G-W also disposed of North Greenville in preparation for the double-header to be held at Bost Gym with Mercer. In both games the Dogs came through compiling up 127 points the first night and 114 the next night to win their second tournament crown.

The Dogs, after the winnings over Spartanburg and Wiggins suffered a close defeat in Harvard. However, the sq used blame revenge on February 20, when novacristis Bost Gym.

Kings College offered little resistance as the Bulldogs scored 122-75 and Lees-McRae, an archrival, tried its best to stop the powerful Bulldogs with cheer such as "Whomp upside the head." Lees-McRae was the dog get "whomped" as the Dogs acquired the 18-79 game.

Gaston College offered stiff competition to the Bulldogs but with Tony Spagnola substituting for injured George Adams and Alan Land filling in some for Jack McGill and Steve Kebeck it was an exciting 125-105 win for the Dogs.

Remain on the Bulldog slate at home. Gainesville College of Ga., Feb. 17; Brevard, Feb. 20 and then away game against Wake Forest in University's Frosh.

Brevard is the only conference team to have defeated the Bulldogs this year and a large crowd is expected for this game. The Wake Frosh have had an excellent season since losing to the Bulldogs early in the year and that game is expected to be a real struggle. Advance ticket sales are heavy, it is reported.

The Kings win featured top scoring by Artis Gilmore, 22 Ernie Fleming, 21 Steve Kebeck and George Adams, 18 each; Jack McGill, 12 and Tony Cantwell and Gerry Walton court, 10 each. Others scoring were Alan Land, seven; Meredith Scruggs, six; Willie Rogers five and Joe Brooks, two.

Coffee House Future Viewed

Dean Holland and a troop of college representatives attended the National Entertainment Conference Annual Convention Saturday through Wednesday last week. At the convention, the group lined up entertainment engagements for Gardner-Webb such as the Classics Trio and Jerry Rogers, both to appear this fall.

Some of the other members of the troop were Assistant Professor Jerry Hill, Gloria Poston, Kay Anthony and Steve Phillips. Special recognition was cited for Kay Anthony who was the best campaigner for the group.

Gardner-Webb is a charter member of the N. E. C., and Dean Holland presided over meetings of the colleges of North Carolina to gain talent for the state's coffee house circuit. The Coffee House, which entertains talent by which entertainment can be gained for member college campuses much more cheaply than a college could alone. When a college makes a bid for particular talent arrangements and agreements are made with other colleges so that these colleges shall also feature the same talent. The colleges then set up schedules for dates which form a circuit that the entertainers must travel. The colleges pay the entertainers a 'lump' salary, and hence save on finances.

Sports Shorts

Excellent scoring shots have highlighted all the Bulldog games. Here are the top four "point-getters" of the G-W team (as compiled through the Lees-McRae game).

Evening Advance

Last Tuesday night, Gardner-Webb Campus became the scene of a minor attempt by the male students (predominantly of Decker) to occupy the girls' dormitory. Stroup and faculty. Upon signal by female agents within the dorms, the male students were seen in strength across the campus toward Stroup Dormitory.

Highly seen ears denoting a rather large uprising taking place, bravely headed by a brilliant police officer of the advance, and the male students headed for their alternative objective, Harry Dormitory. The students occupied the front lawn area for about one minute but had to withdraw after a brilliant psychological campaign, made on the part of Dean Thurman Lewis and a Howler the Pirates (a member of the advance), had severely reduced the students numbers.

In good military fashion, Dean Lewis and his counter attack forces followed up the retreat and occupied, for a short while, the Stroup Dormitory. Finally, all had settled and the girls could relax once again knowing that Dean Lewis and Super Ruppe were on the job.

International Travel For G-W Students

By RICKY BLAKLEY

The International Relations Club met for the last time this past Wednesday. The club will be known hence forth as the Committee on International Relations and United Nations Affairs. The club members voted to change the name and the club is known affectionately by its members as Clrum.

The club in its Wednesday meeting, chose the delegates who shall attend the Middle South Model United Nations at Lake Junaluska in March. The members chosen were Rick Blakley, Perry Dover, Rick Jester, and a Bolivian student, Freddy Rodriguez. The delegates will be representing Austria, and they anticipate a tough debate over the Czechoslovak invasion by Russian dominated nations.

The club also had late arrangements on an International Banquet to be held the evening of February eighteenth in honor of Gardner-Webb's foreign students. CIRUNA hopes the banquet will become a traditional affair at Gardner-Webb.

A program on Hong Kong was presented by Miss Wilmie Kong. The program included a documentary and slides. The slides had been sent to Miss Kong by the Hong Kong Tourist Association, but somehow Dr. Allen and Dr. Lamb's pictures got in the slides just as the documentary began explaining about the government officials of Hong Kong. It was a surprise to many of the club's members that two such distinguished government officials should be members of the Gardner-Webb Faculty.

Gardner-Webb College, in anticipation of its senior college program, has become a member of the new program for foreign study being directed by the Association of Southern Baptist Colleges and Schools.

The association recently announced the inauguration of its academic year program in Vienna, Austria, for junior students of member colleges and universities. Cost of the program is $2,590 for a 10-month year which includes intensive language training, field study trips, a Christmas ski holiday, tuition, room, most meals and orientation.

Gardner-Webb students who take part will attend the University of Vienna which celebrated its 600th anniversary in 1965. Located in the easternmost of the great cities of free Europe, the University of Vienna draws students from all over the globe.

There is a primary focus on the program in Vienna but students may apply for programs during its 600th anniversary in Durham, England; Freiburg, Germany; Madrid, Spain; Nantes, France or Paris, France.
