GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1970

BOILING SPRINGS, N. C.

Proposed New Library

Perhaps the greatest need of Gardner-Webb College for Accreditation purposes by the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges is a new library. Approximately 20,000 additional feet of floor space is needed which makes building a new structure necessary. An amount of $750,000 has been made for the new library in the $1,500,000 capital gifts campaign. Over $900,000 has been received in the campaign thus far. The above sketch is an artist's concept of one proposed building plan for the new library.

Queen Will Be Named From 3 Finalists Saturday

CLAUDIA HOUSER

Three seniors - Claudia Houser, secretary of the Honor Society and a business administration major from Jacksonville, Fla.; Jadne Sellars, a member of the Student Education Association and an English major from Cherryville; and Linda Tolbert, vice president of Nannay Hall and a major in elementary education from Lenoir, are competing for 1970-71 Homecoming Queen.

The winner will be crowned at half-time during the Gardner-Webb vs Mars Hill game by Miss South Carolina, Claudia Turner. The first and second runners-up will serve as coroners.

Rotaract Picks Its Sweetheart

VICKY JENKINS

Vicky Jenkins was recently selected as the 1970-71 Rotaract Sweetheart.

Vicky, a junior from Dallas, is an elementary education major. She will represent the Rotaract Club in various activities including the homecoming parade.

Honor Society Makes Changes

The Gardner-Webb Honor Society, a chapter of Alpha Sigma Delta, met Monday night, October 19, after a business session, led by David Webb, president, Mr. James B. Spears of the Cleveland County Air Pollution Control Program spoke to the members on air pollution and its causes and effects.

Dr. Michael Harrelson is the advisor for the group this year. A new constitution has recently been ratified, instituting many new changes in the society and its membership requirements. Officers for the society are:

David Webb, president; Teddy Monroe, vice - president; Claudia Houser, secretary; Judy Lecroy, treasurer; and Kathy Davis, reporter.

Opera House May Go - Chapel Next

The Opera House Theatre faces an uncertain future. In an interview with Dr. Poston the Pilot obtained the following details.

The biggest handicap of the Theatre is its age. Currently labeled a fire trap, the old building suffers from a lack of plumbing as well as inadequate heating. "We could make endless repairs and it would still be an old building... costing more to renovate and make safe than to build another," commented Dr. Poston.

"Of course, this isn't the only old building around here," the President admitted. As a result of its condition the majority of the Board of Trustees suggested that the safest thing would be to remove the building. "They realize the hard work involved and are proud of it... but they also believe that the students deserve a more adequate and safer area."

In addition to this concern there is the fact that the church property was purchased with the understanding that the remaining buildings would be destroyed as soon as possible. As stated in a news release dated January 31, 1967, "The old structures, the church built in 1920 and the 1951 educational building, are destined to be torn down when the college entrance is constructed."

With these facts in mind the agreement was made that the drama department could use the old sanctuary with the understanding that the building might be destroyed in one to five years. Allowance for the transformation of materials to a new area was agreed upon.

The theatre now stands on the probable site of the new chapel building. The college has employed architect - designer Harold Wagoner of Philadelphia as a representative of one of the largest architectural firms in the nation. After months of studying the area, the designer designated the spot of the Opera House as the one place that would best fit the over all functional design of the campus.

When asked to comment about the recent student petitions to save the Theatre, Dr. Poston stated that he had nothing against petitions or any orderly presentation of student opinion. The trustees would indeed consider student ideas and suggestions... they are always open to a change of mind or modification of ideas."

Ridgecrest Is Chosen For State BSU Meet

For all B S U members interested in attending the convention at Ridgecrest the following information is vital. Details: Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly, Ridgecrest, N.C., is the place -- $15.00 is the cost-- for everything. The weekend of November 6 is the date.

Registration Murts: Names for $2.00 registration fee per person must be received by the Student Department no later than October 30. The remaining $13.00 is payable at Ridgecrest.

Encounter Groups: The bulk of the program will center around Encounter Groups. Each student will select one group and remain in this group the entire weekend. Each of the 19 groups will be limited to 20 participants. These participants will be assigned on a first - come - first - served basis -- according to pre-registration choices. Group assignments will be made as registrations come in. Each person who registers should indicate his first, second, and third group choice.

It is suggested that students from the same campus try to be represented in various groups. The purpose of these groups is not only to deal with content but also to provide for personal encounter and dialogue.

Information on encounter group subjects and the daily schedule can be obtained from Miss Kiser.

Parade Route Set

The Homecoming Parade is to be held on October 31 in Shelby and Boiling Springs. Floats made by the dorms and various clubs and organizations will assemble at 9:30 a.m. on Sumter Street near the Junior High school.

From the school the parade will move down Sumter to Lafayette, south to Graham, east to Washington, north to Marion, then west back to the Junior High school where it will disassemble for the trip to Boiling Springs where the parade will begin at approximately 10:30.

The theme for the Homecoming Festivities will be "A Dream Fulfilled", in keeping with the dream for a four year senior college. Floats are being designed with this theme in mind. Parade participants will be informed as to their lineup position.
