HAL BRYANT

Bryant, a senior from Greenville, S. C., displays two of his paintings recently on exhibit in the OMG.

Artist On Campus

Between October 25 and November 3, a one-man art show by a Gardner-Webb student, Hal Bryant, could have been viewed in the O. Max Gardner Lounge. Hal Bryant is a senior from Greenville, S. C., majoring in social science, since Gardner-Webb does not offer a degree in art. As a senior at Greenville Senior High School, Bryant became interested in art; therefore, he enrolled in an art course. This particular course resulted in Bryant's decision to make painting his hobby. Bryant's first painting, a clock, introduced him to watercolors, which has remained one of his favorite materials. He enjoyed doing several watercolors this past summer. Bryant uses mostly polymeracrylic, which is like oil but is water based. Bryant stated that he paints directly onto a gessoed Masonite board. As one views Bryant's paintings, one may conclude that Bryant probably is partial to landscapes and farm scenes, which the majority of his paintings reflect these subjects. Bryant contends that he is a conversationalist artist. Bryant feels that any form of painting is based on his ability to present the artist's intentions; therefore, an abstract painting can be of excellent quality even though Bryant usually paints realistic pictures. Bryant feels that the American public will gradually see the art styles returning to realism and religious art forms. Bryant has sold many of his paintings, and remarks that it helps out by providing spending money. "I don't want my education to be completely oriented in one field as it would have been had I gone to an art school," said Bryant. "I think I have done better work by developing my own style and through the help given me by my professor, Mr. James Rash."

Gardner-Webb Faces Accreditation

DECEMBER 1, 1971 will be an important date in the history of Gardner-Webb College. On this date the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, holding convention in Miami Beach, will announce whether Gardner-Webb will be accredited. This decision will be the culmination of four years of work by the college. A meeting recently held in Atlanta with a committee of the Association was attended by Dr. Poston, Mr. McGraw, and Mr. Mack.

According to Mr. McGraw, "The meeting in Atlanta was more favorable than the one a year ago. They complimented us on our report and work done in the past year."

Pilot Potpourri

The Gardner-Webb Rotaract Club, a service club sponsored by the Boiling Springs Rotary Club, has received the Charles M. Greer Club of the Year Award for 1970-71. A trophy and check for $25.00 was awarded to President Kemp Savage, on Monday, October 25, by the Rotary District Governor, David Lefar.

The Psychology Majors met Wednesday, October 27, with the psychology professors for the purpose of discussing the possibility of a Psychology Club, currently under construction. The club will meet periodically to hear speakers, do service work, and to increase their knowledge of the various fields of psychology.

Many of the recommendations made by the committee have already been realized. For example, with the addition of eight doctors to the faculty this fall, the quota is raised to 38%, which is more than the required one-third. An animal house for the Science Department is in use and a greenhouse under consideration.

A recommendation that the Student Personnel area be reorganized with one person given responsibility for the entire area was fulfilled in the coming of Mr. William J. Briggs, now Coordinator of Student Personnel Services.

The award was made on the basis of the projects done last year: work days, money made from selling hose, a Rotaract Sweetheart, increase in membership and third place award in the Homecoming parade last year. Officers this year in addition to Kemp are Vice President, Richard Granger and Secretary-Treasurer, Steve Wilson. Any male student with a 2.0 average interested in joining the club is encouraged to see Kemp Savage. Meetings are held on the first and third Mondays of each month.

The Outing Club, headed by President Farrell Campbell, is planning a November weekend trip to Linville, North Carolina, to explore and learn more about the mountains of North Carolina. The purpose of the club is to help the members better cope with undereating man's changing environment. The advisors are Dr. Leslie Brown and Dr. Mike Harrellson. Other officers are vice president, Jerry Jones, secretary, Dan Spillman, Treasurer, Mike Parker, and field marshal Tim Boverder.

The list of recommendations of the association and corresponding report of the college is too long to reproduce. But no committee recommendation has been pushed more vigorously than the one stating that the new library be constructed as soon as possible. Plans for the new library are being drawn now and hopes are for it to be completed by September, 1973. Tentative plans are for the new library to be located in the unpaired parking lot behind Decker, since the circle of buildings is full. The present library will be converted into classroom space.

The Gardner-Webb Honor Society, Alpha Sigma Delta recently inducted five new members. Requirements are that the new members have a 3.4 g.p.a. and be either a junior or a senior. They are screened by the faculty and club. New members are Jeff Cranford, Nancy Magill, Steve Riddle Patricia Hooper, and Debbie Gaskill. This year's officers include Marion Williams as President, Mrs. Lynn Moss as Vice President, Gayle Childers as Secretary, Becky Henry as Treasurer, and Kirby Washburn as Reporter. Dr. Mike Harrellson and Dr. Furman Hewitt are advisors.

The food committee meets twice a month, the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at 5:00 in the Faculty Dining Room. There are student members appointed to this committee, but it is open to all students who have an opinion to express concerning the cafeteria. This is one means of making the suggestions or complaints known. Also, cafeteria manager Mr. Jack Greene states, "If the students have any complaints or suggestions, come directly to me or Mr. Hayes, Assistant Manager. You don't have to wait for a Committee meeting."

With the completion of the Decade of Advance and the hopeful future under December 1, the goals ahead for Gardner-Webb are still coming. The main goal is to try to build a highly respected college with a good academic situation.

SGA News

The Student Senate has elected Dr. Anthony Eastman and Dr. Joe K. Ellenburg to be the faculty advisors. Dr. Ellenburg will serve as faculty advisor to the Senate for a two year term and Dr. Ellenburg will serve for a one year term.

had a first hand look at one phase of the Student Government. For the first time at Gardner-Webb the fate of an accused student was placed in the hands of a group of his peers. In the future, the student body may find that most hearings will be closed, of course, as in the first instance, this will be the choice of the accused.

Dr. Arthur Nuhras was appointed Parliamentarian and Dr. Thomas Ballard is the Senate Chaplain. The student senate meets on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. Meetings may be called at times other than this established time, but all meetings are open to the student body.

Judicial Body Chief Justice, Dickie Sherrill, expressed his amazement at the large number of students who showed their concern by attending the trial. Although he felt the proceedings went well, he was, however, concerned over some ragedness of court procedure. This area of the Judicial Body's responsibility will demand immediate attention and clarification.

Student body President, Jeff Cranford, attended the Presidents to Presidents Conference of the Association of Student Government which met in Washington, D. C. Cranford was accompanied by Mr. Tom McGraw who represented Dr. E. Eugene Poston as the President of Gardner-Webb. The conference involved student government presidents and college presidents. The association meets twice a year and will convene again in the spring at the Washington Hill in D. C.

The North Carolina State SUGA Conference was held in Raleigh the weekend of October 29. Gardner-Webb was represented by three student senators: Bob Decker, Henry Allen, and Dick Stewart. The regional SUGA Conference was held in Atlanta, Georgia, the weekend of October 21-24. Mr. Bill Briggs and his wife, Mary Suttie Briggs, and David Mull at Gardner-Webb on behalf of Gardner-Webb.

MOTHER'S FINEST

Mother's Finest, a six piece group from Chicago, is being considered for a concert either in December or January.

Entertainment Previewed

The Entertainment Committee recently attended the Southern Universities Student Government Association Entertainment Workshop in Atlanta, Georgia. The workshop was held on October 17-18 and Gardner-Webb was represented by Susan Taylor, Julian Fowler, Steve Wilson, and Mr. Tom Poston. The showcase featured: Avalanche, Mother's Finest, Liberation, Florence Warner, Hydra, Classie's Four, Black and Blue, Bill Deal and "Grease" (a rock opera). The program also included a special feature for film buyers.

The groups which were the most impressive according to Steve Wilson were: Liberation, Mother's Finest and Black and Blue. Plans are being made to present the Mother's Finest in concert in December or the first of spring semester.

Mother's Finest, a six piece group from Chicago, was one of the crowd pleasers at the Convention. The group is composed of a driving four piece band with a dynamic male and female front team.
